

POLITICAL DOINGS

CANDIDATES LINING FOR LAST STRUGGLE

The Women Will Have Big Hand in Tuesday's Primary Contest.

NATIONAL TICKET BIGGEST ISSUE

Police Judgeship, Public Defender and Justice of Peace in Great Demand—County Board Places Not Much Heard From—Hitchcock Hot After Bryan

Everything in the political arena is at the post and will be off early next Tuesday morning. It promises to be about as exciting as any election that has been held for a long time and the ticket is the longest in history. On the ticket next Tuesday will be found everything from a presidential candidate to an ordinary party delegate.

The women will be on the job good and plenty when the polls open and they are going to have a strong hand in the voting. The result of this popular contest will be worth watching because the fair sex as a general proposition has been taking a big hand in the campaign.

The presidential preference continues to be the biggest thing in the campaign but there are a lot of smaller places that are much more in demand. Intense interest has especially centered around the offices of public defender, police judge and justice of the peace, with two score of candidates out after the job. Although the two places on the county board are considered of great importance, comparatively little has been heard about the race for these places.

For police judge, Henry W. Dunn and Julius S. Cooley are giving Judge Foster the run of his life with three or four others getting very much into the limelight. It is predicted that Judge Foster will be among the also rans after the primary election next Tuesday. On the democratic ticket, Frank Keegan, Fred Anheuser, former city prosecutor and Hugh Robertson are making a strong race for the nomination. Each party will nominate two candidates to make the final race.

Public defender still appeals to a lot of candidates. John N. Baldwin is out in front for the republicans, with thirteen other candidates seeking a place on the ticket. Amos Scruggs, colored, well known attorney, is among the candidates for republican preference on the ticket. Dick Horton, present democratic incumbent, continues to have the inside track for preference of that party and predicts a run away for himself.

For justice of the peace there is a good scramble. George S. Collins, present incumbent, is admittedly out in front for renomination by the democrats while the republican race is an unknown quantity. Zack Ellis is one of the strong contenders. He has been a constable for several years and has had much experience in justice courts.

The scrap for preferential votes for president is good, especially the republican end of it. With Generals Pershing and Wood and Hiram Johnson seeking Nebraska's endorsement and with both army men having plenty of financial backing, the contest has taken on some personal aspects. Johnson visited the state this week and also made a big impression. One of the funny things about the Wood and Pershing campaigns is

SOUTH SIDE SOCIETY SHOCKED BY YOUNG MAN'S AFFAIR LAST WEEK

Caught in Auto With Another Man's Wife and Shooting Affair Follows—No Arrests Are Made—Story About "Negro Assassin" Does Not Make Hit

South Side society received another shock Sunday morning when it was related in our Sunday morning papers that one of our popular youngsters from that section of the city had been "shot in his automobile by a negro." It made a mighty good story and about everybody fell for it.

Despite the seriousness of this shooting affray no negroes have been arrested and from last reports the young man in the case will recover from his wounds. The woman in the story has not been heard from since the "accident" occurred, and reports from the hotel where she was registered are to the effect that she "checked out" shortly after the shooting occurred.

Another and interesting version of the affair is being noised about these days which makes the story interesting. "Miss" Dolores Kelly was registered at one of our good Sixteenth street hotels last Saturday night. No accounting was taken of her baggage but wise bell boys say she had none. Later she was seen jostling with one of our well known South Side youngsters in a Buick car.

The next heard of her was a call to the police who found Miss Kelly and her companion on Deer Park boulevard. The young man had a bullet in his leg, a tire and handkerchief were found six blocks from the place and the back seat of the Buick was covered with blood and was in other ways disfigured. The police were told a story of a "negro" jumping on the running board and trying to hold them up, and how the shooting followed.

Later reports indicate that a wrathful husband was interested in the big business. "Miss" Kelly's personality could not be confirmed from Spalding, Neb., from which place she registered at the hotel. So far as known she was not seen at the hotel after the shooting. The police have not unearthed any negro who did the shooting, so far as official reports indicate.

The story, however, has brought out much talk in South Side society and some of the wise ones are telling how they know all about who this "Miss" Kelly of Spalding, Neb., really is. Owing to the prominence of two well known Omaha families, however, the story has not been spread upon by our daily papers.

One of the exhibits in the case is a badly soiled handkerchief which is held by the police as evidence, in the event of further inquiry being made into the matter. It is stated, on reliable authority that the matter will probably be permitted to drop.

Huntley Bids for Votes

Edwin L. Huntley, editor of The Mediator, is one of the democratic candidates for the lower house of the legislature. He makes this a personal solicitation for the votes of his friends next Tuesday.

JIM DAHLMAN A CANDIDATE.

Not much has been said about candidate for places on the Omaha water board but Omaha will nominate them next Tuesday. James C. Dahlman, former mayor, is one of the men who seeks a place on the board and his candidacy is of considerable significance.

The water board is an important city body and one which demands the attention of Omaha people. Nobody is better qualified for one of the vacancies than former Mayor Dahlman, who has been endorsed by his democratic friends for the nomination. To the democrats, we say nominate Dahlman and give him your support for election in November.

There are many things in the operation of our water system which are not known to the general public and if elected Dahlman may be expected to enlighten the people in many ways. It is an important place to fill and the former mayor may be depended upon to give Omaha people a run for their money if he is nominated and elected.

OMAHANS TRIMMED ON TEXAS OIL PROPERTY

Watch Oil Being Pumped Out and Lay Down Their Money for Empty Holes.

Some of our Omaha boys have been having remarkable experiences with Texas oil properties, and some of them are wiser for their experience but short considerable sums of money.

It appears that some fine "promoters" went down in Texas and spent a little money boring oil wells. After they got down a few hundred feet they "shot" the wells and were ready for business. When a well is "shot" it leaves an excavation at the bottom the size of a house. The "shooting" process usually follows the finding of a vein of oil. This vein fills the cavity and the oil is pumped out as desired.

The Omaha promoters had a well, all right, but no vein. In order to make good they "shot" it anyhow and filled the cavity with oil from the top. When prospective customers came along they started the pump. It was a cinch and the customer laid down his coin. Several of our Omaha boys took a chance and left their money. One of them is said to have invested $3,500 with the oil promoters.

JIM BLISS PLAYS REAL GREEK GAME

Jim Bliss, who is a big political boss of the Omaha Greeks, has a busy time these political days. He divides his time between his big business place on South Thirteenth street and other big things that interests his countrymen. Bidders for votes are looking Jim up these days and making their bids for what he has to deliver.

Incidentally, Bliss is a pretty good business man and he usually takes care of his friends and lets his enemies take care of themselves. Most of the Greeks in Omaha vote the way he tells them to vote. That makes him popular with a lot of politicians. If the politicians do not deliver Jim keeps a record of the fact. Outside of that Bliss is all right.

VOORHEES AND WIFE START WESTERN TRIP

C. E. Voorhees and his wife will start within a week or so for an overland trip to California, in a brand new Dodge car. Voorhees has long been a member of the Empress stage staff and his wife is one of the best known painters of china-ware in the city.

The overland trip will combine business and pleasure, mostly pleasure. They expect to be gone until the theatrical season opens in the fall and will take their time making the trip, which is to be by slow stages.

ANHEUSER GETS INTO POLICE JUDGE RACE

Fred Anheuser, Omaha attorney, is one of the democratic candidates for police judge who is getting into the race strong during the windup of the campaign. Anheuser is on the ticket with several other good democrats and all are out for the nomination.

Fred Anheuser is experienced in police court affairs, having been city prosecutor for a long time. He is quite well in touch with what is required of a police judge. He recently returned to the city from a long trial of a client's case out in the state and is now out meeting his friends with the famous Anheuser smile.

JOHNSON ON JOB AGAIN.

E. L. Johnson is again seen on the streets after a lengthy siege in the hospital. His appearance is far from that of a healthy man and it will probably be several weeks before his condition is anywhere near normal. He lost a great amount of blood as he was forced to endure intense suffering as a result.

Doings In Omaha Fifty Years Ago

Jim Bliss, superintendent and general manager of Omaha's Greek colony, received many requests from politicians for his services. Jim prepared quotations on political service before the campaign ended.

Business was reported at a standstill by Davenport street tire dealers. Scarcity of product and other things were mentioned as the cause.

One of our great sportsmen, Henry Gehring, said George Lamson, Indian prize fighter, was a world beater. Gehring was some sports critic.

Jack Broomfield, great Washington county farmer, experienced considerable difficulty with roads in his vicinity. He was acting as his own chauffeur.

Some of the boys were caught peddling kosher wine which had come to the city under bond for the Jewish passover. Mike Fish said he was in the hay business.

A large number of local politicians, among them Bob Smith, were explaining why they should be perpetuated in office. Bob said a lot of people were lying about him.

George Green, founder of Green's famous band, now residing in Kenosha, Wis., promised to write his friends but some of them think he forgot his promise.

Tommy Curran, young Omaha attorney, was investigating an automobile accident for his friends, but decided to forget it. Tommy was taking no chances.

SINFUL PASSION IS HENRY'S DOWNFALL

Former Omaha Physician in Los Angeles Divorce Court.

PRETTY NURSE CAUSES MUCH GRIEF

After 38 Years Married Life Henry Falls for Graduate From Local Hospital and Grieved Wife Lays Bare the Truth —Was Great Church Woman

All the thrills that go with "sinful passion" has come to our former townsman, Dr. W. O. Henry, who is being sued in Los Angeles by his wife for divorce. Dr. Henry spent most of his life in Omaha and was a leader in Y. M. C. A. and Christian Endeavor work. He it was who taught many of our young people what it meant to be a real Christian and to avoid the pitfalls that are found in the path of young boys and girls.

He is now explaining to a California court why, at the age of 61 years, he fell for a pretty young nurse, Miss Hazel Henderson, and abandoned an excellent wife who had stuck to him for thirty-eight years. In Omaha the affair was started when Henry became enamored of one of his pretty nurses. Miss Henderson is described as a beautiful young woman. Her physical construction is said to be along Venus lines and her disposition one of the extraordinary sort that attracts even our physicians who are supposed to be old enough to know better.

Dr. Henry was long honored as a leading member of his profession in this city. He wore a flowing beard and had a dignified appearance that made him striking under all conditions. He made a specialty of addressing Christian Endeavor societies and giving sage advice to the young people. He usually made a hit with the girls but nothing was thought of the matter, because he was one of the leaders in church work.

In the First Presbyterian church, where he tutored a class of boys in the ways of the Christian faith, Henry was also popular. He believed in the old adage, "Do what I tell you to do, and not what I do myself," although that was not part of his sermons to the boys.

But after he had passed what is known as the "dangerous age" he himself fell for the charms of a pretty face and good shape. Miss Henderson wanted to be a nurse and went to Dr. Henry's hospital for a training. From all reports she got the training all right. She learned much about nursing and more about other things. She formed an unholy alliance with Henry himself, despite his age, and the game has been going on ever since.

It got too strong for Dr. Henry in Omaha. He left an immense practice in this city and went to Los Angeles, hoping to escape not only the talk of the town, but also to find a way in which he might dispose of the wife with whom he had lived for nearly forty years. Considerable was said at the time about Henry's domestic affairs but it had nearly been forgotten by Omaha people.

With the divorce suit the whole story came out, and the faithful wife did not hesitate to let the cat out of the bag. She produced the copy of a letter she wrote to her husband's sweetheart in which she told the girl it was a sin against God to steal another woman's husband simply to satisfy fiendish worldly desires and other things like that.

Desperation finally sent Mrs. Henry to the divorce court. She sought to shield her husband as much as possible but the judge took advantage of the whole business to give Dr. W. O. Henry a scathing lecture from the bench.

Miss Henderson had been taken into the Henry home just like a daughter. While accepting everything that was being provided in the Henry household she secretly made love to the doctor and stole his heart away, despite his age. Now she wants to stick it out and keep up the game. Mrs. Henry has given her the opportunity by securing a divorce.

Some correspondence passed between the girl and the wronged wife. The wife's letter was based on strong Christian principles and was full of sound and sensible advice. But Hazel has gone too far and insisted on continuing her liaison with the old but ambitious physician.

Friends of the family in Omaha are having plenty to talk about and up at Presbyterian church headquarters the Henry affair is the sole topic of conversation, especially among the women.

Robertson After Police Judgeship

Hugh Robertson, who seeks the democratic nomination for police judge, is one of the veterans of our recent differences with the German kaiser. He was one of the early birds in the game and did not wait for the draft. Although Robertson has a very thorough education, with a master's degree, he did not make a bid for a place at one of the officers' training camps. Instead, he volunteered early and served sixteen months as a private.

Robertson has been practicing law for several years and is considered well qualified for the place he seeks. During his school period he earned his own way, taking employment in the packing houses and in factories to meet his expenses.

During his sixteen months in the army he served every day as a private and did his share of the menial work along with the rest of the enlisted men. As a soldier, however, he received a high rating and returned to civil life in perfectly physical condition.

Robertson has an office with his father at 724 First National bank building.

NORMAN C. GAULT HAS EYES ON COLLINS' JOB

Norman C. Gault, young Omaha attorney, is one of the many who have filed for the republican nomination for justice of the peace, the office now held by George S. Collins, who is also a candidate for re-election. Young Gault is considered perfectly capable if nominated and elected.

CONVERTING IGNATIUS DUNN.

Ignatius Dunn has been converted to the Christian faith, a fact which should be worth the notice of every honest Christian person. According to his own admission he has come out squarely against Gilbert M. Hitchcock, who has had the temerity to admit that he favors beers and light wines for our thirsty people.

Dunn is an Omaha attorney, the foundation of whose fortune, at least in part, was made as an attorney for a brewery and for saloon interests. Now that the brewery and saloon is gone, Ignatius graciously admits that he did a mighty bad thing when he took the money of these fellows.

Dunn was the attorney for the rottenest brewery that ever existed in Nebraska, and one which caused more grief than all the rest of the Omaha breweries combined. That was the Walter Moise institution. Dunn laid the foundation for his fortune at this place of iniquity and now he has just discovered that beer is a bad thing and that Senator Hitchcock is little better than the common villain because he believes the ordinary citizen should have a little beer and light wine.

For downright cussedness and double-crossing, Ignatius Dunn is really the limit. If the taking away from him of his income from breweries and saloons has made of him a real Christian, that much, of course, will be gained, but the real issue right now is whether or not Jesus Christ himself will trust Dunn, after what he has done.

Most of the people who have had much to do with public affairs have had opportunity to take stock of the Ignatius Dunn system. For ourselves we may say that heretofore we have felt that Dunn was even honest, although he might be wrong. Our disappointment is beyond comprehension. The dollar is a mighty big thing, but with the honest person there are things that even the almighty dollar will not buy.

The TRUTH About Gary

Here is the truth regarding the Gary Strike.

It is not an account from the pen of a paid investigator but a report made by a union labor man, who, in an effort to secure information first hand, personally investigated the conditions that existed in the Indiana steel center last October.

It will be recalled how in the fall of last year, the press dispatches carried the word that the steel industry of the country had been tied up as a result of the unions calling out their men, one hundred per cent strong.

Gary was the storm center. The eyes of the nation were focused upon it, for here were gathered anarchists, emissaries of Russian Bolshevism and the radicals from the four corners of the country. They were plotting against the flag that protected them and union labor was being indicted as responsible.

Long-haired agitators in foreign accents, breathed anarchy, waved the red flag and advocated the overthrow of the government. Civil authorities declared themselves unable to cope with the situation. Troops were ordered to Gary.

Leonard Wood, as Commander of the Central Department of the United States Army, was sent to Gary to preserve order.

What occurred after Wood's arrival in the steel center can best be told in the words of Tiffin Gilmore of Columbus, Ohio, a member of the United Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way Employees and Railway Shop Laborers Local No. 972. Mr. Gilmore has visited Gary, gleaned his information first hand from labor leaders and civil authorities and holds original copies of statements printed below.

Gary is a corporation-owned city. Even the fairest trade unionists in the thriving city acknowledges that fact.

Built on the city plan with the unlimited wealth of the UNITED STATES STEEL CORPORATION, and named in honor of the corporation's president, Judge E. H. Gary, as a home city for the sixteen thousand wage earners who daily "check in" at the vast plant of the steel corporation. Gary has attracted retail merchants, professional men, theaters, and places of entertainment, until a modern and substantial city has grown, with paved streets, splendid police, fire, and public utilities apparent on all sides. The one single exception being the dinky street railway cars.

Of the sixteen thousand wage earners who toil daily within the enclosures of the great steel plant, from sixty-five to seventy per cent are foreigners. Such, at least, is the estimate of Judge Laube, godfather, and legal counselor to thousands of Gary's foreign-born.

Early in October of last year, the United States awoke to find that the long-expected strike in the steel industries of the United States had finally been called.

Speculation and the company's figures that only a small part of the Gary plant was organized, got a rude shock—the men "were pulled" one hundred per cent. And the steel industry so far as Gary was concerned had ceased to function.

Radicals there are, both inside and outside of organized labor, but violence and disorder would probably have been at a minimum, had not some over-officious "tin star" volunteer officers attempted to assume unwarranted authority over the strikers, and the populace; then came the friction—and "Hell was loose for noon."

State militia under Adjutant General Smith, called from nearby cities, barely arrived in Gary when they were ordered on to Indiana Harbor, Crown Point, and other adjacent points, where lesser plants were also idle.

But the city of Gary was a man-sized job. And then entered the "Man of the Hour"—General Leonard Wood.

As to how well he performed his duties while Gary was under martial law, and how fair he was to organized labor, and the citizens in general, read the following signed statements, which speak most eloquently of such service in such a crisis, and the Master Mind who averted serious trouble at Gary:

"Gary, Indiana, March 20, 1920.
"On October 6, 1919, Leonard Wood arrived with the federal troops from Fort Sheridan, Illinois, in our city.

"On his arrival General Wood dictated a proclamation declaring our city under martial law.

"He then called in the heads of the labor organizations and told them that his object here was purely the maintenance of law and order, and that his instructions to Colonel Manes were that these instructions should be carried out to the letter. AND TO SEE TO IT THAT ALL CITIZENS, WHITE OR BLACK, WERE PROTECTED UNDER THE LAW.

"He also said, THAT THE TROOPS DID NOT COME THERE TO HELP MAKE STEEL. OR TO BREAK A STRIKE. BUT THAT THE LAW MUST BE RESPECTED EVEN IF IT TOOK FORCE TO ACCOMPLISH THE SAME.

"The city continued under martial law during the entire strike, AND NOT A SHOT WAS FIRED.

"The troops were withdrawn gradually, AND LABOR LEADERS AND CITIZENS ALIKE WERE SATISFIED THAT ALL HAD BEEN GIVEN A SQUARE DEAL.

"There is nothing but good words for Leonard Wood, and he has many staunch admirers and supporters in his race for the Republican nomination for the Presidency.

W. K. FOBIS,
Supt. of the Gary Police Dept."

F. H. Detrick, President of the Central Labor Body, Gary, Indiana, and residing at 1352 Ellsworth Street, says that Leonard Wood in his proclamation placing Gary, Indiana, under martial law during the steel strike, and in the presence of Mr. Detrick and other labor leaders, said that he believed in unions, collective bargaining, and the right to strike and to picket, when peaceably done.

F. H. DETRICK,
President the Central Labor Body, Gary, Indiana.

"Gary, Indiana, March 30, 1920.

"I am an employee of the B. & O. and N. Y. Central Railways, and am a member of Gary Local No. 1094, Brotherhood of Railway Clerks.

"I was ticket agent in the joint depot of the B. & O. and N. Y. Central Railways when the steel strike was on at Gary, Indiana.

"I was in close touch with the federal soldiers from Fort Sheridan and from Fort Dodge, and touched elbows with them every hour of the day as I sold hundreds of tickets on leave of absence to Fort Dodge at Des Moines, Iowa, and Fort Sheridan, Illinois.

"General Wood handled the soldiers, and the situation, ably and rightly. I'D STICK UP FOR HIM ANYWHERE AND EVERYWHERE. EVERYTHING HERE WAS ALL RIGHT FROM THE MOMENT OF HIS ARRIVAL.

"F. A. READING,
Gary Local No. 1094 Brotherhood of Railway Clerks."

"Gary, Indiana, March 30, 1920.

"I believe THAT GENERAL LEONARD WOOD WAS SENT TO GARY, INDIANA, BY POLITICAL INFLUENCE TO JEOPARDIZE HIS CHANCES WITH ORGANIZED LABOR FROM BEING NOMINATED FOR THE PRESIDENCY.

"I kept close touch on the steel strike and INSTEAD OF HURTING HIS CHANCES IT MADE HIM STRONG WITH LABOR.

"FROM CLOSE OBSERVATION OF GENERAL WOOD, WHILE UNDER HIS COMMAND AT SANTIAGO, CUBA, FOR THIRTEEN MONTHS, AND DAILY CONTACT, I BELIEVE HIM TO BE THE ONE MAN WHOM FINANCIAL INTERESTS CANNOT CONTROL, AND IN WHOM ALL ORGANIZED MEN CAN PUT THEIR TRUST."

"Gary, Indiana, March 30, 1920.

"I wish to add this postscript of my military service and observation of General Wood for the information of all the men who have ever worn a uniform in Uncle Sam's service.

"I was a member of the Fifth United State Infantry at Santiago in 1898 and 1899, in the army of occupation. I was on detail at General Wood's Headquarters and saw many acts of justice toward men on the part of General Wood. For instance, many men were extended justice after drumhead court-martials.

"General Wood visited the prison every Saturday afternoon and heard in person all complaints of the prisoners.

"One instance was that of Sergeant Frank Smith of the Fifth Infantry, who was, as we believe, unjustly convicted, by such a court.

"Sergeant Smith told his story and was promptly free, restored to duty, and all back pay, and the officers who served on the court-martial were severely reprimanded by General Wood, who told them in Adjutant General Brook's office that further similar sentences would bring them before court-martial themselves.

EDWARD BURKETT,
Member Local No. 113, International Brotherhood Blacksmiths and Helpers."

STATEMENT BY GEO. THOMPSON

General Wood called the strike leaders, the mayor and leading business and the heads of the Steel Mills in a conference. After the hearing he restored free speech and the right to picket and to hold public meetings. He cautioned all to observe the law.

Gary today is an open shop but gains have been made by the steel workers. Both sides claim a victory and all are combined to elect General Wood as the Great American who understands labor needs.

DISTRICT CLERK JOB IS IN GREAT DEMAND

There is a strong contest on for the republican nomination for clerk of the district court. Bob Smith has held this job for sixteen years and those who have been keeping in touch with things general feel that it is time for a change.

Frank Bandle, former baseball promoter and for two terms register of deeds, and Dan Westergaard, are Smith's opponents for the republican nomination. Smith is very much a dry man and is said to be backed by the "Committee of 500," and will be on their slate. Generally speaking, Smith is not on the side of the big majority of Omaha people, but has a combination that has kept him in office for a long time.

It is felt that Smith should not be perpetuated in this office and even if he is nominated it is expected he will have a hard time getting any further in the race.

BEN WELCH AT GAYETY.

The coming of Ben Welch and his "Revue" next week at the popular Gayety gives promise of illustrating the vast improvement of what is termed, refined burlesque, as this banner organization has the distinction of presenting the very highest class performance of its kind in America. Ben Welch is to all the master creator of laughs; he is a Broadway star and in his supporting company can be seen many names familiar to theater-goers.

Dimple Dolly Morrissey will be seen in a part that fits her many talents to a nicety. Miss Morrissey is the highest salaried prima donna in burlesque today.

Frankie Martin, who will be a future great star, will have a part that fits her like a glove. Possessing a sweet voice and a graceful dancer, she is at home in musical comedy as well as dramatic work.

The week's engagement opens Saturday matinee, April 17. Ladies' dime matinee at 2:15 daily, all week, beginning Monday. The Sunday matinee begins at 3.

POLITICAL DOINGS.

That two sons of R. L. Metcalfe, long a democratic idol in this state, are taking leading parts. One of them is handing Wood's publicity in Omaha and the other is promoting Pershing from Lincoln.

The democratic fight is really the good one. Senator Hitchcock and his followers are turning things up side down to keep William J. Bryan from securing endorsement as a delegate to the San Francisco national convention. If signs do not mistake Bryan will be shelved as a delegate but he may be expected to be on the ground when that big convention opens just the same.

As a general proposition the prohibition question has entered largely into the campaign and the wets are doing mighty well. In Douglas county wet candidates, including legislative office seekers, are not hesitating to make themselves known and are expecting a large vote.

The ticket next Tuesday will be a long one, with a separate ballot for the women. With registration lasting up to last Saturday, the job of checking up lists and getting them ready for judges has been a big one for the election commissioner but he says everything will be in ship-shape when the polls open next Tuesday morning.

JOHN J. PERSHING
For President

The Biggest Vote You Ever Cast! Why?

The one candidate who is a business man, but not a rich man; a diplomat, but not an "internationalist"; a statesman, but not a dreamer; a fighter, but not a militarist; a leader, not a politician.

Because, if you cast it right, that vote will name the next President of the United States.

The statement is a big one, but it is not a whit bigger than the facts justify.

Of all the many candidates in the field, John J. Pershing of Nebraska is the only one who has refused the nomination from politicians—who has declined to announce himself as a contestant—who has left his hopes and aspirations in the hands of his fellow citizens.

In spite of this, the Pershing-for-President sentiment has spread throughout the United States with unparalleled rapidity.

Today, despite the fact that no organized campaign whatever has been made for him outside of this state, Pershing looms in the eye of every astute political observer as the nominee of the national convention in Chicago.

The reasons are simple. Pershing is:

The one candidate on whom all factions can unite.

The one candidate who has DEMON-STRATED his ability to handle a Presidential-size job.

The one candidate who is fitted to solve the international problems which remain as this country's heritage of the World War.

The one candidate who, throughout the confusion of war, kept his head level and did his work quietly and quickly—yet so well that his enemies have found no loophole for criticism.

The one candidate who is a business man, but not a rich man; a diplomat, but not an "internationalist"; a statesman, but not a dreamer; a fighter, but not a militarist; a leader, but not a politician.

The Nation wants Pershing. Let Nebraska nominate Pershing, and the rest of this country will name him at the national convention and elect him next November by the biggest majority ever given a Presidential candidate.

You will hear many words from the other candidates; you will hear none from Pershing. He has performed the task which you and the rest of the nation set him; he leaves it to you to say whether he performed it well.

THAT FACT MAKES EVERY NEBRASKAN
THE CUSTODIAN OF THE GREATEST TRUST WHICH WAS EVER PLACED IN THE HANDS OF A STATE CITIZENRY.

IT IS A TRUST THAT NEBRASKA MUST NOT—THAT NEBRASKA CAN NOT—BETRAY.

No other state—no other body of voters—can discharge that trust for you. On Nebraska—AND NEBRASKA ALONE—rests the responsibility.
You and you only can place the name of Nebraska's greatest citizen in the presidential lists.

YOU AND YOU ONLY can give to the nation the one man, who, above all others is fitted to carry out the great tasks which will confront the next president—John J. Pershing—your fellow Nebraska—your presidential candidate.

NEBRASKA MUST NOT FAIL. Do your part. Go to the polls Tuesday, April 20, and vote for

Pershing of Nebraska for President

ORPHEUM OFFERINGS.

One of the headline attractions at the Orpheum next week is to be a travesty on the old time melodrama called "For Pitt's Sake." Thomas Duray will have the role of the rube manager of Cy Slivins' "opera house." Slivins is not only manager, but bill poster and property man. Much fun is occasioned by seeing him work the storm effects and other effects during the lurid progress of the stage story. There are twelve people in the cast.

Another headline offering will be contributed by the famous American bass-baritone, Henri Scott. He comes to vaudeville after having made a famous operatic organizations. It was with the Manhattan company in 1909 that he made his debut as the high priest in "Aida." Afterward Mr. Scott went to Europe. He sang in Rome, in the most renowned opera there, and later was a star with the Chicago Grand Opera company.

Hubert H. Kinney and Corinne will appear in a new dance production as one of the featured acts. They are to offer a group of five widely different dances. Their repertory will display their unusual versatility. The grace and ease of their work give them their special distinction.

"Freshy's Initiation," as presented by Kenney and Hollis, is to be another featured act. In this act a lot of humorous college pranks are related in song and story. The skit comes recommended as highly entertaining.

Harry Jolson, known as the "operatic blackface comedian," is a funmaker of clever attributes, but is even more gifted as a vocalist. His method is much on the order of the late George Evans.

"Art Studies" is the title of the act to be presented by the famous poseuse, Maria Lo. The fact that she herself is an artist has been of manifest advantage to her in reproducing with her plastic body the art forms of well known masterpieces.

Kennedy and Nelson, known as "the speed boys," perform an original gymnastic routine. Grace as well as remarkable celerity characterize their performance. This is a team of unusual acrobats.

Once again clever sayings from the newspapers will be a film feature in "Topics of the Day." News events are to be pictured by Kinograms.

AT THE BRANDEIS.

One of the most interesting diversions in theatrical entertainments of the Omaha season will be the appearance of Boris Thomoshefsky, the eminent Jewish actor and producer who will present one of his big musical comedies of the season, "Uptown and Downtown," Thursday, April 22, at the Brandeis theater.

Miss Regina Tzuckerberg, prima donna of the Jewish stage, will share honors with Miss Thomoshefsky, and will be supported by an all-star cast from the Thomoshefsky theater in New York.

"Uptown and Downtown" had a twenty-five weeks' season in New York and was heard by over 250,000 people.

That corns and bodily ease are incompatible is the most trite of truisms. That of the two bodily ease is the most to be desired, likewise needs no proving. Therefore, eliminate the corn. That you can do it by using needs only a single trial to demonstrate the fact to the most skeptical. Try it and you will be convinced, because the corn will be gone.

Don't think that because various "Corn Cures" have not succeeded, CORNEASE will fail you also. If it does you get your money back.

TO VOTERS IN THE Democratic Primaries
ON APRIL 20:

The Four Candidates for delegate-at-large to the Democratic national convention, pledged to support Senator Gilbert M. Hitchcock for president, are:

SOPHUS NEBLE, Omaha
BERNARD McNENY, Red Cloud
KEITH NEVILLE, North Platte
ASHTON C. SHALLENBERGER, Alma

Friends of Senator Hitchcock throughout the state should vote for all four.

The Hitchcock candidates for delegate from the Second Congressional District are:

LOUIS J. PIATTI, Omaha
J. H. MITHEN, Omaha

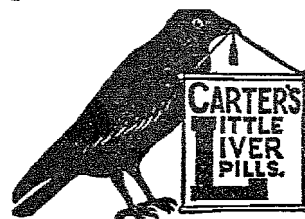

Friends of Senator Hitchcock in the Second District should vote for both these candidates.

The campaign to nominate Senator Hitchcock for president will be greatly assisted by the re-election of Arthur F. Mullen for national committeeman.

If you favor Hitchcock for president place a cross [X] before the names of all persons mentioned above.

Women voters as well as men are entitled to vote for all these candidates.

JOHN H. MITHEN, President
Hitchcock for President Club.
