ABORTIONIST CHARGED WITH MURDER

Bad Job Results in Death of Girl and All Parties to Crime Admit
Their Part in Killing of Ruth Ayer.

Omaha, like other great cities, has its periodical problems of settling great moral questions. During the present week one of these problems has come to the fore in the death of Miss Ruth Ayer, victim of a criminal operation, who died in the home of Mrs. Minnie Deyo, a practical nurse, last Sunday evening. Unlike most of these cases, the death of Miss Ayer and the circumstances surrounding it, are what might be termed an open book. Not a single party to the death of Miss Ayer has even attempted to hide his or her part in the affair, unless it is Dr. Leslie Fields, physician charged with being the man who performed the operation, from the result of which Miss Ayer is alleged to have met her death.

It will be interesting to watch the proceedings and the result of prosecution in this case, because the facts are very clear and there is little apparent effort being made to sidestep responsibility.

The final adjudication of the case will show just how the great religious people of Douglas county feel about a question that has been before the world ever since Adam and Eve started the work of populating the universe. God Almighty created the condition by which the millions of millions of people that have made the world better or worse for several thousand years might come into existence, and also the manner in which humanity was to be disposed of.

Douglas county, like every other community in this wide universe, has been plodding along under man-made laws, so far as they concerned the entrance and exit of human beings, and the decision in the case of the death of Ruth Ayer is not going to change conditions very much, irrespective of what it may be.

There is not a doubt in the world that several persons have been parties to a crime that is little less than murder, in this case, as the crime is measured by man-made laws, and it is going to be interesting to watch the result of the case.

It is a remarkable fact that it is almost impossible to find a family in the whole universe that has not had a skeleton of this sort in the closest some time during its existence, and it is also true that the number of cases of this sort that has never got into the courts will number millions.

Right here, within our fair city, may be found thousands of families who have sought services of physicians to act in the same capacity that Dr. Leslie Fields is alleged to have acted in this case. These families come from high and low degree. The remarkable part of the whole affair is that one of these so-called criminal operations should have been unsuccessful. There will be no outward attempt to shield this doctor for his action in this case, but it will be pretty hard to find a jury that will convict him.

Ruth Ayer, the dead girl who gave up her life because she did not wish to become a mother for reasons she told of in her letter, doubtless had her own ideas of life. The young man, who was her companion in the wickedness which both of them admitted to the whole world, has given every evidence of being willing to let the whole world know he was father of a child conceived out of wedlock.

The destruction of unborn humanity is a very common thing. About every normal man and woman knows that statement to be a fact. This destruction is not confined to what might be called degenerates. As stated before, it may be found almost daily in what are considered "the best regulated families." This question will have an airing if the case of

CRUCIAL CONDITION IN OUR SCHOOL FINANCES THREATENS SYSTEM

Board of Education Must Mortgage Next Year's Taxes or Schools
Cannot Open This Fall—Deficit of Million Dollars
Faces Omaha People.

The crucial condition in which Omaha people find their educational system placed is making everybody set up and take notice. Starting the school year, our board of education finds itself a cold million dollars in the red, with nothing but a bond issue or some other desperate action to keep the schools open the coming year.

Three years ago the city's school fund was depleted to the extent of $350,000 annually when Nebraska went dry. That amount for three years represents the amount of the shortage in the school fund at this time. The Board of Education is composed of men of business ability, but they are not paid for their services. One of the natural consequences is that they are not willing to give a great amount of their time to working out the requirements of the city's educational system. At any rate, they have permitted this condition to come upon us and have brought about a condition that almost promises to wreck our educational system, of which we once so proudly boasted.

It is practically impossible to sell municipal bonds at this time for any purpose. For that reason it is proposed to "borrow" $500,000 on notes of the Board of Education, the notes to be paid out of next year's receipts from taxes, or, in other words, mortgage our school receipts a year in advance.

Whether or not this "loan" can be legally made remains to be seen. One thing is very sure, however, and that is that our educational system is in dire distress, with decay confronting it unless it is soon relieved. When the prohibitionists voted away the $350,000 saloon fund, they did nothing to meet the new condition. Prohibition may be a good thing, but somebody must pay the taxes that were formerly paid by that institution and the sooner the property owners and our school board realizes that fact the sooner will we be able to get our school system back on a normal basis.

5,000 COMMITTEE HAS AN EXECUTIVE MEETING

Thomas-Callfas Aggregation Speeds
Up in Order to Renew Their Money Demands.

Elmer Thomas, former anti-saloon league collector, and his assistant, Jennie Calufas, have undertaken to again get into the limelight, this time as the organizers of a "5,000 committee," whose business it will be to boost the Ringer "reforms." They met the other night, eighty-six of them, and Elmer told them what he wanted them to do.

This is the crowd that has been active in the "purifying" of our police force and other departments of the city administration. From inside sources, it is stated that the crowd that has been furnishing anti-saloon money have decided that the necessity for financial contributions is past, with the result that Elmer Thomas and other "great reformers" have found it necessary to find a new excuse for making a living.

It is stated that the first thing to be done by this great body will be to take up a collection in the usual manner, and that the propaganda is to be continued as long as the money lasts. Elmer has been a pretty good collector, it is said, and those who have kept in touch with things in the past prophesy that he will be able to make good at his old game.

PANNING JOHNNY MOORE POPULAR PASTIME NOW

Some of our newspapers are panning Johnny Moore, colored proprietor of an east end resort, and charge him with attempting to re-establish the old red light district in that end of town. John has had his troubles and is still having them. He only recently returned from a year's confinement at Leavenworth. John told his friends he had reformed and he got into the cafe business. He could not make Ringer believe his story, however, and he is now waiting to see what will happen next.

Ole Jackson, Johnny's side kick, says Moore is being persecuted.

ROURKES ATHLETES NOW BIDDING FOR FIRST PLACE

The Rourkes continue to bid for first place in the Western League percentage column. During the last week they have had another winning streak and with Thursday's game reached third place, with only 57 points between them and the leaders.

The Omaha club has about fifteen games yet to play on home grounds, when it will leave for the last swing around the circuit, which will close the season. Incidentally, the crowds are good and that is one thing that is encouraging to the big boss, who has to foot the base ball bills.

ELECTRIC LIGHT PEOPLE MAY SURPRISE OMAHANS

The people of Omaha may soon be given a surprise by the Nebraska Power company in the way of increased prices. The company, with its current bills, is sending out to customers a little reprint which is meant to give reasons why electric and power prices are too low. The Nebraska Power company has voted itself an inexhaustible franchise in Omaha and, now that the company has settled that matter definitely, will probably take steps to increase its receipts by increasing prices.

Having just settled the gas lemon proposition, the time appears ripe for the electric people to get in their work on the present city commission before it is thrown out of office next spring.

Doings In Omaha Fifty Years Ago

J. Cullen, well known north end Billy Sunday and Pussyfoot Johnson promoter, decided it was cheaper to move than to pay rent.

John Q. Holmes, one of George Koster's protectors of bullheads and bass minnows, left Orleans long enough to look over some of the boys who were working without a license.

Charlie Hill, wealthy North Omaha farmer, was negotiating with some of the village elevator proprietors for storage facilities for his big crop of corn and other things.

Lawrence Dwyer was taking a vacation, in company with his old friend, Mr. Inflammatory Rheumatism, with whom he had spent three long weeks.

Charlie Pipkin was considering the necessity for taking on another section of the Arlington block. He was great for big window signs.

Elmwood park, made famous by Walter Slangerup, accordion expert and chicken raiser, became popular during the long summer evenings. Walt was everybody's friend.

Grova Shipley, wealthy and popular diamond lover, refused to be bothered with an automobile until the landlord would build her a garage in the alley.

Bert Perigue was again putting out his old line about roast beef and pig's feet. He knew the alibi business by heart.

Bob Encell wanted to create a roughhouse up at Mike Gibson's summer resort because he lost 25 cents in a pinchole game. Bob was always a hard loser.

Emil Larson continued to hand out that bunk about Bill Little being sober for a month. Most of the boys said it was not Bill's fault.

Grand Jury to Probe Police

Some time ago one of our daily newspapers had a story in which one of our district court judges was quoted as saying a grand jury might be called to investigate police graft conditions. A few days later another newspaper quoted Judge Troup and County Attorney Shotwell as saying there was nothing to such talk and in no unmistakable manner making it plain that they had no intention of calling for such a grand jury.

Any sane person who has taken notice of the makeup of our judiciary and its personnel and of other departments of local judiciary will not believe such a grand jury is to be called. During the last three weeks some of the most sensational and remarkable conditions have been discovered within the police department that have ever come to the notice of our people. At this moment two men are awaiting trial for penitentiary crimes. A score of others have been named as being parties to a $50,000 theft from merchants.

It is the wonder of the entire country how such conditions are permitted to continue without official notice being taken of them. We are the laughing stock of every city in America where conditions have been learned. A grand jury investigated the riot and burning of our court house. There was no time during that affair that fifty policemen properly handled could not have prevented just what occurred. But so far as the records show that grand jury gave not a moment's attention to that feature of the affair.

HARD WORKING MAN IS THURSTON CO. GUEST

Makes Good With Still And Brewery
Owners In That Vicinity

IDENTITY REVEALED AFTER RAIDS

Prosperous Manufacturers of Booze Fall Victims to "Hard Working Man" Who Secured Employment in Vicinity—
Score Are Arrested.

Thurston county is enjoying the sensation of what has resulted from a moonshiners' fight, the result principally of our great prohibition laws, and a touch of which is also being felt in the vicinity of Omaha.

Out in Thurston county, the county seat of which is West Point, reside a large number of thrifty people who have always had their beer and wines without stint. When prohibition struck that vicinity there was a general scramble for stocks that were left over. Once these were depleted other expediences were resorted to, with the result that about every other farmer, one met had either a brewery or distillery, or both.

Aside from home consumption, these thrifty farmers found a big outside demand for their goods and they all got into the peddling business for fair. This new line of endeavor got so popular that competition became keen and often resulted in neighborhood squalls. Every other fellow one met carried his hip pocket supply and in his flivver was some for sale. The business has been going on for a long time.

Recently a "hard working man" appeared out in that neck of the woods and secured employment on one of the farms. He was a good worker, but he also enjoyed a little nip of high wines. The result was that he got acquainted with a lot of the fellows who were putting out the stuff and took a guiding hand in organizing the business so that competition would be of a nature that would "not endanger the safety of the manufacturers."

This worked fine for a long time. The "hard working man" got a line on everybody who had a brewery or distillery and just where he kept it. Booze was being put out in big quantities and everybody in Thurston county seemed to be satisfied.

About that time a bunch of land promoters and salesmen opened an office in one of the country villages. They prepared to do a big business, and the "hard working man" negotiated with them often regarding different parcels of Thurston county land in which they might be interested. Business sure was good, and "poontang" flowed freely.

One morning about ten days ago half a dozen men dropped in to visit the proprietor of the land office. The land men shook hands with them cordially. The "hard working man" had taken a day off and happened to be in the office when the new arrivals appeared. This quiet fellow joined them for an automobile ride around the country.

COAL DEALER'S PARTY BROKEN UP WHEN NEIGHBORS CALL THE COPS

Jazz Music and Red "Licker" Spoil Peace of Quiet Neighborhood
While Wife Is Away on Vacation—Police Arrive Too Late For Drink.

Calls for the police sent in by neighbors of one of our enterprising coal men, living near Thirty-first and Howard streets, a week ago, is the talk of the neighborhood. The policemen, who were plain clothes men, found nothing upon their arrival, it is stated, except two colored waiters, still dressed in their "immaculate" trimmings and a big assortment of bottles. The bottles were all empty, but the colored gents were glad to furnish the remains of what had been some classy cigars.

It appears that the coal man's wife was out of town for a vacation and he decided a little party was the very proper thing. This fine big home, adjoining that of the owner, who is a well known Omaha photographer, was put in ship-shape for the big doings. Incidentally, the coal man, whose father for many years operated a saloon on Sixteenth street, in the heart of the city, was well stocked with some of the old red "licker" that had been on tap before the angry prohibition law went into effect.

To make things worth while, several ladies had been invited to join the party and an orchestra which was not at all bad, furnished music for the occasion. The party was genteel until the red "licker" began to get in its work. The orchestra then changed from classic to jazz music and the dancers gradually threw aside their formal poses and took to the hootch kootch and other more up-to-date manners of putting on their selections. Skirts became shorter with each dance and everybody appeared to have recovered the voice he had lost before coming to the place.

When the midnight hour struck the banquet was spread, and it was some banquet. The two colored gents did their duty all the way, according to neighbors, who were able to follow the program by the different sorts of noise that came from the place.

The party was a success until the wee hours of the morning, when some of the boys and girls got so loud that they insisted on letting out some unearthly screams and screeches that almost woke up the neighborhood. The girls insisted they were being pinched too hard and yelled for mercy. The boys yelled for fun. The result of which was the calling of the police station by a neighbor, just as daylight was breaking.

The emergency car hot-footed it out to the coal men's palace, only to find the two colored waiters alone on the front porch, watching the guests making their hurried disappearance. Asked what the fuss was all about, one of the badly scared colored waiters replied:

"I suah dunno, boss, hain't nothin' de mattah heah. All de folks dun come away. There's some of 'em hot footin' it up de boulevard now."

They were hot footin' it, all right, and managed to make their get-away. A regiment of cleaners were on hand the next morning to put the house in order.

One of the women, who insisted she not be introduced by her right name, is still wondering whether her husband has learned she was in the party.

DENVER STREET CAR MEN WANT JOBS BACK.

Striking street railway employees in Denver have asked that they be taken back to work without condition. "We are glad to notify you that the men are ready to return to work" is the message the leaders of the striking employees sent the company. It was an unconditional surrender, following a week of wickedness that has been seen in few strikes of recent years. Half a dozen persons lost their lives, fifty were sent to hospitals and an immense amount of financial damage was done.

Apparently the Denver street car men were under poor leaders. They brought about a condition which made it necessary for Uncle Sam to send soldiers to the city. Such a fight is always a losing one for union labor because when Uncle Sam sends his army to protect life and property it means something. The killing and injuring of half a hundred persons takes away most of the sympathy the public may have for the strikers' cause, and the result is that they lose out with everybody.

This paper knows nothing of the fairness or unfairness of the demands of the Denver strikers and does not attempt to discuss that part of the affair. The fact remains, however, that somebody did a bunglesome job in handling the strike and now the men are compelled to beg their way back to work.

Nothing of this kind has occurred in Omaha thus far, and it is to be hoped that we may continue to steer clear of these murderous jobs. Omaha street car men are doing pretty well and are apparently willing to let well enough alone. At any rate the Denver affair should serve as a warning to unprincipled cusses who are ready to put a bunch of cutthroats on the job whenever they scent trouble, and who are ready to call men out on a moment's notice without the least regard in the world for either the public or the men who seek to better their working conditions. In this case both sides have lost, but the strikers receive the worst of it, simply because of the wicked advice of leaders who "simply wanted to start something."

Union labor, as a general proposition is too clean to let these things creep into their efforts for better working conditions, and it is just such affairs as the one pulled off in Denver that prejudices many good people against the cause of union labor.

AUTOMOBILE INDUSTRY BLOWS UP.

From all reports the automobile industry of the country is pretty badly blown up and from all indications those interested in the purchase of cars will be able to buy one at any old price before another thirty days rolls around.

The big trouble with the automobile business is lack of ready money, to say nothing about the lack of demand. Like other industries of which the output mostly goes to purchasers of luxuries, the automobile business was the first to feel the pinch in the money market. Banks put the ban on loans they have been making, by which automobile manufacturers were able to carry hundreds of thousands of purchasers who bought cars with a small payment down. The natural result was that the manufacturer was the first to feel the jam.

For six weeks manufacturers have been crowding dealers for payments and in many cases moving heaven and earth to collect enough money to meet obligations at the bank that could not be renewed. The result has been that thousands of dealers have been working pell mell to get in money. Thousands of cars have been returned, partially paid for, and thousands more will be turned back within the next sixty days.

For all of which reasons the manufacturer of pleasure cars is at a standstill. Already thousands of workmen have been thrown out of employment and more factories are reducing or closing down every day. In Omaha one large plant has cut wages and the force has been materially reduced. It is now predicted that purchasers may soon buy automobiles at their own figures.

All of which gives further indication of the big readjustment of conditions in a manner intended to again bring about normal conditions in all lines. This is also a tip to labor of all sorts to beware of the times and let well enough alone.

Many other lines of business are showing a decided let up and many large employers of labor are materially reducing their forces to meet the new conditions.

TURNING DOWN RUSSIAN "REDS."

President Wilson has made it very plain that he will not give countenance to the "Russian Reds" but expresses the well defined American principle of great consideration for the Russian people as a whole. This expression, which is considered as official, so far as this country is concerned, came as the result of an official inquiry made by Italy as to just where we stood on the Russian-Polish question.

Both Russia and Poland are now passing through their darkest ages. The Poles were free until the czar of Russia delivered an ukase about a score of years ago annexing Poland to the Russian empire. With the great European war, Poland joined Russia in the fight against France. When the settlement came Poland declared its freedom of Russian control.

The present bolshevist government, nominally in control in Russia, is attempting to subjugate the Poles. The daily dispatches indicate that the "reds" are about to accomplish their purpose.

The bolshevist propaganda is generally credited to German influence, brought with a view to embroiling other nations in the squabble. The president's vision is a commendable one. He takes the stand that the Russian people, outside of the small clique now in control, will sooner or later come into control of affairs, at which time the Polish question will be equitably settled. Meantime he very properly refuses to permit this country to become embroiled in an affair in which it has no rightful interest.

While our sympathies may be for a free Poland, this country cannot afford to become a party to an internal struggle in which European boundaries alone are concerned and which would upset all of our covenants to countries that have declared themselves free from the domination of czars and monarchical conditions. It will take a long time to disentangle the Russian affair, but in the meantime America must keep her hands off. When this Russo-Poland scrap is over the settlement will doubtless be in keeping with what this country has always hoped for—freedom for both those great countries.

VILLA QUITS WAR GAME.

Francisco Villa, for years bandit-revolutionist in Mexico, has surrendered and says he now wishes to retire from politics and go back to the ranch to spend the rest of his days. Villa has for six years headed the strongest band of revolutionists the government of Mexico has ever had to deal with. His depredations even extended into the United States and General Pershing won his spurs chasing the bandit chief into Mexico.

It is said that Villa at one time joined hands with the German kaiser and that much of Villa's resources came from German leaders, who spent immense sums in Mexico. He has been a powerful factor in Mexican affairs, and his surrender is said to have come as the result of a compromise by which Villa receives an immense amount of money and all his soldier followers are to be paid off at a stipulated salary.

Whatever may be the truth, Americans will be glad to know that our Mexican neighbor is to enjoy peace once more. It will result in the immensely rich resources of that country being developed and will make life worth living for some of our people who have had big financial interests in Mexico.

Mexico should develop very rapidly, once peace is firmly established, and it is predicted that a single decade of peace will result in making of that southern empire one of the richest in the world.

MYSTERY GIRL STORY NOT POPULAR WITH SEARCHERS

The latest developments regarding the identity of the "mystery girl," whose body was given the last rites by some of our newspaper boys, do not appear to interest those who have attempted to learn the identity of the murderer and of the girl herself.

The "mystery girl" had some good press agents, and it is too bad that she could not have lived to hear and read the many things said about her. Poor Carl Lody has come in for some more panning but, like the "mysterious girl," Carl is where he does not find it necessary to bother about newspaper publicity.

There May Be Delay in Moving Your Telephone

If you order your telephone moved next week you may be told to expect a delay in getting it done.

Nearly half a million other telephone users in the United States will move their telephones this month, too. And for all of them many carloads of wire and other materials will be needed.

A general shortage of materials, as well as a lack of sufficient transportation facilities is holding back factory output and the telephone companies can't get enough supplies.

In this emergency it will be greatly appreciated if you will order the least possible changes in your telephone equipment. And when you need to have something done please let us know as far in advance as possible.

NEBRASKA FARMERS RAISE RECORD CORN AND WHEAT

Nebraska farmers this year have raised record crops of corn and wheat and are breaking their necks to get the wheat to market before the price breaks. The corn will be the biggest crop in history. The ears are so big that new machinery is being invented to separate them from the stocks and distribute the cracked product among the 4,286 distillers of corn liquor that has become so popular since the country went dry.

Out in Thurston county some of the ambitious farmers have been hindered in their production work by some of Uncle Sam's booze hounds, but the delay in production is considered only temporary.

They spent the day "calling" on some of the farmers, and when they returned to the "land office" they had accumulated a score of prosperous farmers and about the same number of distilleries.

Then it was that the identity of the "hard working man," who had been sent to the community to get a line on the fellows who had been so prosperous in the moonshine business was learned. Most of them will appear in the local United States courts in the near future to explain why they were murder charged against these defendants ever comes to trial.

In Omaha there are a very considerable number of licensed physicians who commit abortions, for pay, and most of them are experts at the business. From all indications, Dr. Fields was not an expert. That is about the only reason he is now in the hands of the law. The medical profession will denounce him, as a body, but every wise person knows there is not one doctor in a hundred who has not caused premature death to from one to a hundred persons during his life, simply because he did not know what he was doing.

Thousands of women who have been in the same condition of Ruth Ayer have suffered the same or even worse deaths because of the attendance of incapable physicians, or because of the carelessness of wise ones.

If every person responsible for the murder of still-born children was convicted the world would soon come to an end.

EMPRESS ATTRACTIONS

Topping the variety bill at the Empress for the first half of the week are Clifford and Bothwell, presenting an entirely different novelty act. This duo of young people entitle their act "Bits of Art." One is an artist at the piano and offers musical entertainment, and the other is an artist with the brush, and paints many beautiful pictures, which are ever a source of delight to the audience.

Bender and Meehan, comedy gymnasts, offer an acrobatic act which is full of humor as well as thrills. These two young men are very strong, and do many stunts which have never before been attempted on the stage. Jack Phillips, the clever little clown, will offer a comedy talking, singing and dancing act which is very amusing. Four Stuart Sisters, talented musicians and dancers, will offer a variety act which is sure to please. These dainty misses are toe dancers, as well as musicians, and their act is arranged in a charming fashion.

The photoplay attraction for the first half of the week is "Rose of Nome," featuring Gladys Brockwell, the girl of a thousand expressions. Miss Brockwell is at her best in this story of gypsy life, and is supported by a powerful cast.

NO ACTION TAKEN ON CHARGES OF GRAFTING

No action has thus far been taken against police officers who are charged with grafting and robbery in connection with recent robberies of big Omaha stores. The matter has been brought to the attention of the courts and Commissioner Ringer but neither has seen fit to undertake to fathom the truth or falsity of the charges.

Attorney O'Sullivan sprang a sensation last week in police court when he called the attention of the judge and county attorney to the charges, but the matter was ruled out of the record and nothing came of it.

SUNDAY POST MAKES ITS INITIAL APPEARANCE HERE

The Omaha Sunday Post, new weekly newspaper, made its first appearance last Sunday. The Post takes up the work of Public Sentiment, another weekly that had a life of eleven long weeks. It is stated that the Post will carry the Public Sentiment subscription list, and that later the new paper will ask for a postoffice permit. The Post is edited and operated by Taylor Kennerly, former managing editor of The Bee, and J. Harry Moore, who was associated with Kennerly on that newspaper.

The Sunday Post's first issue was full of breeze and its editor says it will continue to appear and will go after the profiteer.

IF YOU WANT to be on time, have your watch regulated and adjusted by Brodegaard Bros. Co. A trial will convince you. Strictly union shop.—Adv.

LATE REPORTS SAY MR. EBERSTEIN TO STICK

Latest reports from the rural districts, where Chief of Police Eberstein is hibernating until political conditions in Omaha become more nearly normal, say the chief has no intention of resigning. In fact it is also stated that he will not be asked to resign for the present, at least until the inner ring of the city commission can get on its feet and find out where it is really at.

The same information says that Commissioner Zimmin will not be named superintendent of police for the present, much as he has coveted the place. In fact, at least six commissioners appear to have decided to remain in office until they are thrown out by the people next spring.

VETERAN WEATHER MAN RETIRES ON $60 PENSION

The decision of Colonel L. A. Welsh, for forty years Omaha's "weather man," to quit his job and retire on a pension of $60 per month, which Uncle Sam will furnish, takes away another of Omaha's real veterans. Welsh has been a much talked of man for a long time. His genial personality has had much to do with him being permitted to remain so long, because nearly everybody has cursed his weather from time to time.

Colonel Welsh, outside of his weather, has been a pretty good citizen. His absence from his office during the summer afternoons, when he found it necessary to attend Bill Rourke's ball games, has nothing to do with undesirable weather, it is stated. As a general proposition, he is not to be blamed for wanting to see the Rourkes in action as often as possible.

Better Babies

We are absolutely certain that Young America, in all its glory, will be well represented at the 1920 "Prosperity" State Fair Better Babies' Contest.

We limit the number to two hundred, as that is all we can handle during the week. The entries in this department close Aug. 25th, so if you desire to enter your baby, be sure to do so in time.

The object of this department—which should be considered one of vital importance not only to this generation but to those following—is to give to the world and humanity just what the title indicates—"Better Babies". We want to help every mother make her child more perfect in every way, and to teach her the most approved methods of rearing a baby in such a way as to equip it in the best possible manner to go into the world unhandicapped.

Only children between the ages of eighteen and thirty-six months are eligible to enter this contest. For further information, address the Secretary, Lincoln, Nebr.

Defective Children

On Thursday of State Fair week, we have a department in which mothers of ailing children should be vitally interested. On that date we receive and examine all children who may be termed "defective" in any respect, up to the age of twelve years. We secure the services of the best specialists to be obtained, and the advice and assistance tendered to the mother is free. We feel this is an important part of the work in promoting better health among children and trust this offer will be taken advantage of by all mothers who feel their children are in need of special treatment. For entry blanks and further information, address the Secretary, Lincoln, Nebr.

Boys' Camp

The 1920 State Fair Boys' Camp promises to be one of the biggest and best ever held. We cannot over-estimate the good accomplished through the attendance of the boys at this Camp. No effort is spared to make their stay with us not only a pleasure to them, but of value in an educational way also. It is not only the duty of the county superintendent to see that two boys attend from the county, but it should be a pleasure also to give to them such an opportunity. We accept two boys from each county in the state, with the exception of Douglas county—which may send six—and Lancaster county—which may send four. If interested, you should write to the county superintendent for further information.

Attention, Swine Breeders

All entries for the State Fair in the swine department, with the fee for the pens and ticket, must be in the office of the secretary not later than Saturday, Aug. 21st, at six o'clock p. m.
