CANADIAN WOMEN MAY BE A CANDIDATE FOR MAYOR

"Distinguished" Local Feminine Doctor Expected To Be A Candidate

HAS TRIED NEARLY EVERYTHING ELSE

Dr. Calfas, School Board Member, Said to Have Only Fifth Grade Education Expected to Make the Race—Is Self Appointed Leader of the Fair Sex—Has Signed to Give Thousands to Charity But Given Little.

A brand new candidate for mayor has appeared and that candidate is a woman. A lot of Omahans have heard of her and she has been dipping in politics for a little spell.

This woman is no other than "Doctor" Jennie Calfas, about whom this paper has had a few things to say in the past. Her plans have apparently not all materialized yet, although Emil Larson, who with Herman Metz, has been grooming a slate all his own, is said to be looking her over. Emil has a great eye for business. He is the acknowledged leader of the gamblers and pimp part of Omaha, and it would not surprise anybody should he decide to lend his support to the "doctor" in her candidacy.

The "doctor" is a member of Omaha's school board already and a lot of people are wondering how she got there. Well Jennie got there on her nerve pure and simple. The voters did not know who they were voting for, and to appease the ladies, it was to name Jennie as a candidate. The voters did the rest. At any rate, it is interesting to know how well she was qualified for the place.

The supposition is that a member of the Omaha school board shall be possessed of a little more than a fifth grade education. In Canada, where the "doctor" was raised they have pretty good schools. Jennie, however, was denied the advantages of getting through them. According to some of her relatives who were raised with her, she received only a fifth grade education. This all happened at Walsingham Center, Canada, a city composed of a grocery store and a school house. This groceryman sells his goods to all the countryside and, incidentally has the history of every person who has resided in the county for fifty years.

Jennie was unfortunate enough to have a step-father, who did not amount to much.

Unlike his industrious relatives, he idled away most of his time and his step-children were neglected. Jennie, according to the story, went to school until she got through the fifth reader, which was the end of it. She was married to a young fellow named George Mantle, who by the way was a very fine fellow. He died early, however, which left his widow upon her own resources.

It was at that time that an operative hero, named Fax, came into the game. She joined him and during her trip met Calfas to whom she at once became attached. Incidentally, our report last week that she had joined up with a circus, was an error. It was Fax with whom she made her trip. That was about the last that Walsingham Center ever saw of the "doctor." Where she completed, or how she accomplished any education except her fifth grade work at the old Walsingham Center school her friends are now unable to testify. Nobody ever heard of her attending a medical school of any sort, so far as can be learned. Investigation of her degree is now said to be under way. She first became known as "doctor" about the time her distinguished little husband, the curly headed blond, who is also given that cognomen, joined her. It was through his

PROMINENT BUSINESS MAN'S NAME NOW LINKED WITH THAT OF LILLIAN HOLMAN

Claim Made That Girl Was Very Familiar With Merchant While She Worked In Jewelry Department—Further Details Forthcoming—Affair Calls Attention To Similar Cases—County Attorney Still Busy.

A new sensation is about to be sprung in connection with the recent death of Lillian Holman who, according to her statement was the victim of an illegal operation from which she died.

On her death bed she charged Eddie Hazen a ball player with being the immediate cause of her trouble and the father of her never-to-be-born child.

Now comes a story with all the earmarks of truth, that while it was possible that she pointed out the man that wronged her, it is probable that she could have been mistaken. Certain parties have stated that the unfortunate girl was employed in the jewelry department of a large store where she met and dated up with one of the men formerly prominently connected with the store.

This man is married to a charming little wife who is prominent in church and social circles and a true christian woman. It is said that this man went out with the dead girl on parties a half dozen times for each time she accepted the attention of the young ball player. Parties claiming to know, say they will furnish us with definite dates and other information some time this week. If they have all the facts and we believe they have the story, is sure to create great excitement in high social circles. The lovers of sensational truths will have a treat in this story when we have knitted all the winding threads into a composite whole and give them the facts as they are expected to be presented to us.

This same man has had several "affairs" with women of rather loose morals according to report, one or two of which came near being exposed through word of mouth as well as through the newspapers, but his prominence has undoubtedly saved him the embarrassment.

The bringing in at this time of a "mysterious outsider" calls attention to the fact that quite a few prominent young men about town are on the anxious seat in connection with the investigations being held by the County Attorney and others interested.

One case in which it is alleged a prominent Omaha jew is concerned has to do with a young woman who is considered at once rather brilliant and at the same time a sort of "schlemmele". It is said that he squared up things by paying most of the bills but made himself so cheap that he is liable to find that the end is not yet. Is not liable to be.

The day after the Holman girl abortion case came out publicly this paper received an anonymous communication, placed under the door, which told of how the editors, if they so desired, could find a real story concerning a "hospital" conducted in the west end of town, devoted largely to such cases. The note added that when business was dull in the abortion line, the nurse or landlady would call up a few friends and put on a booze party with "red light" trimmings. At such times the proprietress would call in two or

FILM MANAGER'S NAME LINKED WITH GLADYS McDOUGALL

Some few months ago Gladys McDougall attempted suicide it will be remembered. She survived and is as good, as ever. Just at press time we were informed that the man in the case is an official at one of the local film exchanges. He lived in another city until recently. It is claimed he had been keeping the girl at the time of her attempt to put an end to it all.

Gladys who is supposed to be at Exeter, Nebraska a most of the time finds time to come to town and dine out with the film magnate so it is said. To her girl friends she recently pointed to her gentleman friend, saying "There goes my daddy now". We will probably get further information on the subject at an early date. Gladys is back in Omaha just now and it is said the film man is paying the bill.

SHERMAN BROUGHT TO OMAHA BURIED BY OLD FRIENDS

Myron H. Sherman, who, with his wife, was found dead in bed in a Kansas City rooming house, the rein Omaha. Roscoe Rowley, South Side, was one of the men who took it upon himself to raise a fund for Sherman's funeral. Sherman was at one time associated with Rowley in Council Bluffs.

Tom Dennison, who also knew Sherman well, was a big contributor to the fund raised for Sherman's funeral. "I've buried a lot of these old time gamblers," said Tom. "About forty, I should judge. And still all these youngsters want to be gamblers."

Tom has been out of the business for a long time, and he don't want to get back. His advice is worth listening to.

Sherman was unfortunate in recent years. He was always a good spender and did not know what it meant to save a dollar.

He was a victim of a disease which was coupled with rheumatism and

INGUILLIS GETS INTO POLITICS, WHO IS HE?

Isaac Inguillis, once an Omaha saloon keeper, then a grocery man and now a retired capitalist, has announced he will get into political game, within a short time. However, old timers in Omaha who have known Inguillis will be anxious to know just what he will undertake. In order to do this matter justice, this paper will take a week or so to get thoroughly into the matter, at which time, in the event of his bobbing up again he will be better known.

Inguillis is said among other things to be crazy about the women, although one would presume he ought, at his age—he is 64—to really know better. One woman, about whom he is very particular is the wife of an Omaha attorney.

He used to employ a woman, who is said, to be one of his best bets at this time. His particular friend lives in the vicinity of Thirty-first and Ames Avenue. The whole story will be made public pretty quick, with the names and reports of his doings, which he has all along presumed he has been keeping under his hat.

Inguillis was recently elected an officer of the Douglas County Pioneers. He is reputed to be a great churchman. Once he was a Dakota farmer.

POLICE BRAVE BULLETS TO EFFECT IMPORTANT CAPTURE

Members of the police force, especially the plain clothes men again proved their ability and showed their undaunted bravery early this week when they brought the Hrabik outfit, father and son, into tow after a tough battle. Paul Haze, who was seriously wounded during the battle, is improving and may not lose the

GROOK REFEREE PLUGGED IN CHICAGO GANG WAR

Dave Miller, the alleged referee, who was nearly mobbed some months ago when he handed down the rottenest decision ever given in an Omaha ring was shot and nearly killed early this week in Chicago. His brother was also slightly injured.

Few if any local fight followers will extend any sympathy, unless it should come from some gamblers who cashed in on the raw deal. It was during a certain local bout that

KNOCKS AND BOOSTS BY THE OBSERVER

ROHRER IS GOING to move, Bob Samardick is to be fired, Sheriff Endres is going to call off his morals squad, so is Henry Dunn. The Eighth Amendment is to be void legally, saloons are to be re-opened while the wholesale houses on Ninth street are to be replaced with another Red Light district. That's all, the shot in the arm was not strong enough to hold out.

JOE STECHER and Zbyesco finally pulled their long arranged frame up wrestling match. St. Louis citizens were the fall guys. When these two had announced their phoney match, Colliers Eye, warned the public and told them again of the 10 thousand dollar deal, but many Missouri fans paid their way just the same. Not in Omaha.

HARRY SINCLAIR, the alleged oil lease thief, tells the Senate to go take a jump in the lake. But pshaw, they won't do it. The American people can expect no such luck in getting rid of their self sacrificing servants. Harry may wish he had taken his own advice when he gets back to God's country.

CHIC SALE is bringing us back to the little red school house and its Friday afternoon exercises this week. Over at the Orpheum this character actor takes you back to the days when you used to tie the legs of the little girl in front of you to the seat, creating a sensation when she started down the aisle to do her stuff.

NEARLY ALL GONE, are the bootleg joints from the down town district. Time was a couple of years ago when it was a crime for a thirsty pedestrian to walk more than a block for a bracer in the main drag. Like the painted fairies from the old red light district they have now scattered and are to be found in hundreds of apartments and small residential business places.

HUGH McCAFFREY has passed on. His had more or less notable career. Hugh and his brother Owen were known throughout the middle west for their clean cut methods of conducting a popular saloon at a time when such institutions for the most part were operated in wild western style. Their place on Sixteenth street between Douglas and Dodge was a rendezvous for many of Omaha's leading citizens.

COUNCIL BLUFFS youth gets it in the neck from a jury for getting unduly gay with a young girl. He, Bob Wollert, said there was nothing to it but the jury thought otherwise. The ways of some transgressors are hard in Council Bluffs. For others over there not so hard but may get harder as the winter wanes.

BOSSIE MARRIED at Lawrence, Kansas, reads a headline. Just so. He was also married some years ago to his Omaha wife. Perhaps the formality of a divorce never entered his head. No doubt he thinks, one more wife should make no difference between friends.

WHAT SORT OF PEOPLE WOULD HE FIND IN THE METROPOLIS?

Killers, Thieves, Crooked Doctors, Lawyers, Bankers And Unscrupulous Merchants

WOULD HE REBUKE OR PITY WOMEN?

Grave Questions to be Answered Only by Conscience—By Comparison May Say City is God's Chosen Footstool—Would Find Children Hungry and Dogs Petted in Lap of Luxury—God's Laws Shattered.

If Christ came to Omaha, unheralded and unsung, if he came to pass judgement, what would the answer be? What would he find and what would be his judgement? No one can say, none should prophesy, but it is within the right of every one to think and express their thoughts on the subject.

He would find a wicked city where men and women kill. He would find human beings drunk with power, with lust and avarice. The Great Engineer would come face to face with human wretches made in the image of God who would perjure themselves for a pot of gold, would meet women who have bartered their very souls, gave up their birthright and their virginity, their chance for a future beyond the grave for a piece of metal or paper we call money.

This man of men would meet on the highways, doctors who for a miserable consideration would hold the death of an over trusting girl lightly, doctors who would and do break man made and god-made laws and delighting in the infraction of the laws. He would find highwaymen, pick-pockets, petty thieves, prostitutes, swindlers, crooked politicians, men and women everywhere about the city who have lost their very soul in the wild scramble to find contentment in ill gotten gains.

And when the great Jehovah would have found all this, in his goodness he would probably say it was but a surface condition. A condition less defeat the ends of justice.

WILL JIMMIE JONES PUT AN END TO MORRIE SCHLAIFER'S BOXING CAREER?

That is the Question Fight Fans of City Are Arguing as Match Draws Near—Acids Test for Both Boxers—Loser Will have to be Content with Prelims—Athletic Clubs' First Show Promising.

"Too much Schlaifer" seems to be the cry of a certain portion of the Omaha's fistic colony. A careful survey of fistic affairs from a local standpoint do not seem to bear out the charge.

Every promoter knows that fight fans take such matters in their own hands and have their own way. They may not say a word but their actions speak louder than a Bell telephone loud speaker. When people do not want to see a fighter in action they simply stay away. Just one such dose is all that any organization promoting boxing needs to keep them from sending a no-drawing-card attraction back into the ring.

The fact of the case so far as it concerns Morrie is that time and again he has proven that he is one of the very best drawing cards to be matched in these parts. Just occasionally he falls down on the job of giving the crowd more than their money's worth. Nine times out of ten it is the Fighting fool that puts all the pep and interest in the bout in which he appears.

Realizing this fact the Athletic club in their first venture into the realm of professional boxing has secured the welterweight as the main event for their show at the Auditorium next Saturday night, February 2. At the same time Denny Ryan, matchmaker and athletic director of the club knew full well that he would have to sign up a top notcher if he expected to see his organization pull down a gob of pure velvet on the venture.

But if he found such conditions among these two professions, what would be his judgement? No one can say, none should prophesy, but it is within the right of every one to think and express their thoughts on the subject.

Should the Son of Man come to Omaha, he would find bankers whose sole capital was other men's money, growing fat on the exorbitant interest he claims as his pound of flesh. The publicans would point out to him some bankers who have all but unlimited millions at their command and shew him unto the hovels of the poor where men and women and little children go to their cot, cold and hungry, unkept, unclean.

The Prince of Peace would find Shylock merchants who have gouged their patrons at every turn and angle, merchants who have gagged their male help and torn to tatters every shred of decency God gave their feminine workers.

He would find newspaper men rot-breaking man made and god-made laws and delighting in the infraction of the laws. He would find highwaymen, pick-pockets, petty thieves, prostitutes, swindlers, crooked politicians, men and women everywhere about the city who have lost their very soul in the wild scramble to find contentment in ill gotten gains.

And when the great Jehovah would have found all this, in his goodness he would probably say it was but a surface condition. A condition less defeat the ends of justice.

There was but one man to consider and that was little Jimmie Jones who knocked the tar out of the cleverest welter that ever donned a stuffed mit. California's pride, Dave Shade, Jimmie turned the trick, not while Dave was in the making, but last year when the west coast phenom was in top form, a finished artist with his dukes.

We do not believe it would have been possible for Ryan to have selected an opponent for Schlaifer who would have been able to put on a fight that would equal the one expected of Jones. He has everything a boxer is supposed to possess, science, a clever left and a wicked right, splendid foot work, a clear eye and above all a bean that is working overtime in and out of the ring.

What should interest fight followers most however is the fact that both fighters are in the best condition of their lives. Neither has lost a decision for several months. Both have had enough but not to many fights to keep them in trim. Neither can afford to lose the fight as it means a great deal to the winner and a set back for the loser. A draw dare not be given unless nothing else is possible.

Jones fights Billy in St. Paul tonight from which place he will immediately come to Omaha and train for the coming bout. It is assured that Carl Augustine will be one of the battlers in the semi-windup. Homer Sheridan may be the one to oppose him. At this stage of the game it looks like a big night for the Athletic Club.

WHAT IS POLITICS WITHOUT A LEADER

Some leading Omaha politicians are beginning to wonder what they can do without the leader who has been caring for their interests for a score or more years. Tom Dennison, it is stated on good authority, has decided to go to California for several months, and indications are that he will not be a factor in the Omaha city campaign.

In years gone by the people who have been successful, have been taken care of by this man Dennison. Somebody has always had to gather the campaign funds, and take care of the money after it was gathered into the bank. Dennison has had the confidence of every man who contributed and every man who benefitted. He has never been asked by a single contributor to explain anything. His word has been as good as gold all the time. A man who manages a big business in Omaha has to have somebody to look after his political business. A lot of these men, all of them big business men, have depended on Tom to do this. Always accommodating, Dennison has cared for it without remuneration. He has had much work to do.

For his trouble, it is said that all his enemies are on the city pay roll. Dennison can hardly be blamed for wanting to quit. He has enough of the world's wealth to take care of him. He has a few sports he loves to see. He will doubtless see some of them now. He will maintain his officers for a while, for a gathering place for his friends. But those men who have existed in politics and out, for so long by means of Tom Dennison, will now have an opportunity to try it without a leader and do their own work. It's a long road to run, and a lot of fellows will ask: "What is politics without Tom Dennison?"

WHY CHANGE THE CONDITION

The Omaha Bee, in an editorial last week, expressed itself in favor of leniency for minors, convicted under the prohibitory law, and is asking for a law which a federal judge may extend leniency, in the way of putting them on probation. The Mediator does not agree with The Bee at all.

It is stated by responsible people, who have carefully gathered statistics, that 100,000 minors, or children came under this prohibition law last year. That means that the penitentiaries of the country are being rapidly filled with children, purely as a result of the prohibition amendment. This is a serious condition which will set the thinking man to wondering where it will stop. The average man, who has raised his family well, wonders how soon his son or daughter will be caught in the prohibition net. They must go to the penitentiary if convicted. Of course we will admit that our laws must be observed, but they can not use discrimination in the use of them. What is good for one is good for all.

Recently a wealthy Omahan who stands well in the community, had this condition to meet. His daughter went out on a party and one of our gallant youth got her intoxicated, because there was nothing to regulate him. She died in the hospital a few days later, the victim of prohibition and lust. This might have been anybody's daughter. Everybody is in danger. This prohibition stuff will be the cause of our country's downfall sooner or later.

The federal judge has not and should not have any discriminatory rights in this business. The place to hit is the regulation. If the prohibitory law cannot be regulated, just like the liquor business was regulated we might as well give up or do away with it entirely.

TEAPOT DOME

Harry Sinclair, head of the Sinclair Oil Company, is furnishing plenty of scandal for the country these days. The politicians, especially the democrats, are making very much political capital out of it all. Sinclair is in Paris, where he has unboomed himself of some very concrete remarks.

The trouble is all over a lease made to the Sinclair interests of certain naval reserve oil lands. Just at this time the United States senate is considering the advisability of cancelling the lease forthwith. The instrument was made by Albert B. Fall, who was secretary of the interior under President Harding. Archie Roosevelt, son of the ex-president of that name, who was employed by the Sinclair interests, has testified before the senate's investigating committee, that Mr. Fall received a "loan" of $68,000 from the Sinclair people, all of which has proven to the satisfaction of the democrats, that Sinclair and Fall were in cahoots to turn a fine trick, by which the government lost valuable naval reserve oil land and Mr. Fall got his pocket full of money.

However this may all be, there is some hell a popping. Sinclair gave an interview to The Associated Press in Paris the other day, denying any part in bribing Fall. He refused, however, point blank, to appear before the senate committee. It may even become an international affair if Mr. Sinclair insists on staying in Europe. We venture the guess, however, that no European country will take a chance of incurring the displeasure of the United States by refusing to give up Mr. Sinclair upon the slightest request.

Meanwhile the truth is out. And "the half has never been told," if our estimate be correct. We say let the battle go on, in order that all the oil rotteness may be uncovered.

Mr. Sinclair intimates he thinks he did his country a great favor by making the lease, but he apparently was paid well for it all.

Small Sacred Horse Japan's Oddest Thing

In the famed park in Nara, Japan, there is a sacred horse. This shaggy, under-sized animal is said by the Japan Advertiser to be the funniest thing in Japan.

He is pure white and has one blue eye and one pink one. He is kept in a small stable with a square hole for him to poke out his head to eat the oats which tourists bring him.

The third largest bell in Japan hangs in Nara park, which contains 1,250 acres, and throughout which more than 3,000 stone and metal lanterns are scattered. Six hundred tame deer roam at will in the park.

Also in Nara park there is one of the three gigantic bronze Buddhas, and the largest. The others are at Osaka and Kamakura.

One of the most venerated of Shinto shrines—Kasuga no Miya—is the goal of thousands of pilgrims every year.

Kingsbury Got Even

K. R. Kingsbury, president of the Standard Oil company, on a recent trip to New York, was presented with a bag of onions at every important stop—the thoughtful gift of Herbert Fleischacker, the millionaire banker.

Kingsbury took the onions, and kept quiet until Fleischacker had a birthday.

On arriving at his office, Fleischacker found several large cages of birds awaiting him, gifts from Kingsbury. In the morning messengers arrived with cages of white rats, mice and parrots, while at luncheon the waiter brought another cage of birds. In the afternoon rabbits arrived by the dozen.

The climax came at night when a truck drove up to his home and left two water buffalo, brought from India. All gifts bore Kingsbury's card.—Los Angeles Times.

Goose Had Viking Gold

According to a Reuter dispatch from Bergen, a small boy, living at Rogaland, Norway, was recently the hero of an adventure which reads like a fairy story.

The youngster had driven a flock of geese to the village pond and was on the point of herding them back to his father's farm when he noticed a glint of gold in the beak of one of the birds. He caught the goose and removed from its claw a beautiful brooch of very curious design. This he took to the conservator of the Stavanger museum who pronounced it an unusually rare and beautiful specimen of the goldsmith's art, dating, he declared, from the era of the Vikings.

SHOULD CHRIST COME TO OMAHA WHAT SORT OF PEOPLE WOULD HE FIND IN THE METROPOLIS?

prevalent here than in any other city in the whole world of equal size. The Saviour would not stand blinded to the surface facts but in humility would point to the brighter side of the picture. Well could he point to the hundreds of clean christian doctors, lawyers, merchants, bankers and men and women in all walks of life and say these are the children of the Lord, these are the great majority that make up the life of the community, these are the children of man who really live and do.

When he had finished his work here who but can truthfully say that when his labors were ended in America he would not say, "Omaha is God's chosen footstool."

CROOK REFEREE PLUGGED IN CHICAGO GANG WAR

Miller got in bad here. He gave the home boy the decision, while even a school boy knew that the out town lad had all the best of it.

Nebraska boxing enthusiasts believe in a square deal even if their home boys are on the losing end. For this reason Miller was not allowed to return, even though a few tin horns used their influence to bring him here again as the third man in the ring.

While personally a booster for Omaha's local fighters, we could not conscientiously go to press after that fight without giving our views on the subject which were anything but favorable to the referee or to the fight itself. For this we were applauded by our readers and roundly scored by a dozen gamblers and three or four others financially interested. Now that local folks know what sort of a ruffian this Miller was, the gang he associated with in Chicago and the crooked deals he has been guilty of as referee in other rings they can the more fully appreciate our stand in the matter at that time. This Miller person is the man they hired in place of such a man as Leo Shea. This is ancient history and has learned the boxing commission a lesson. This is a patent fact, easily noted by looking over the high class of referees that are now handing out decisions at the Auditorium. Fair play referees are now the rule here in Omaha.

made existence a living hell for him. He formed a dope habit, which became confirmed. He was working for a small hotel as clerk when the end came. He owed two weeks room rent, which he could not pay. His earnings were too small to allow him to buy the narcotics he sought and which had been a means of relieving his rheumatic pains. He had threatened to take his life several times recently.

CANADIAN WOMAN MAY BE A CANDIDATE FOR MAYOR

efforts, says common report that she became supreme physician of the Woodmen Circle, a position she held only long enough for the Circle to get next to her.

With all this education, this woman secured a place on the Omaha school board, and goes it a little better by becoming a receptive candidate for mayor of our city. Emil Larson can not do better than take her on, remarked a man who is pretty well acquainted with both Jennie and Emil. I'll say she has the nerve to pass for anything, and now she even wants to be mayor. I'll not vote for her but am willing to offer my advice to any person who is thinking seriously of doing so.

The people of Walsingham Center no longer interest the "doctor". In fact she has denied that she ever knew anybody there. When confronted by one of her own relatives now residing in Dundee, Jennie declared "Why I never heard of you." She finally admitted, however the identity of herself, as well as the relationship. As an excuse for her action she said she had so many people call her up that it been her habit to deny her relationship with anybody in Canada. She said she was pestered so much by these calls.

Twin Camera Makes "Movies" and "Stills"

Frank S. Walton of Huntington Park, Cal., is the inventor of a twin motion-picture camera by means of which it is possible to take moving pictures and individual stills at the same time.

The camera is really not a single device but two separate machines, working independently of each other. Any desired still may be made during the course of the action by throwing the single-picture camera into operation without stopping the movement of the subject.

The motion picture part of the camera is fitted with four lenses after the manner of a microscope, by a device enabling any desired set of lenses to be used. One of these is a telephoto lens, used in getting close-ups of wild game.

The Wilton camera was used in making a recent film of big game hunting in Africa.

Waters Devoid of Life

Deserts are usually considered as waterless, but there is a large area of the sea itself which some scientists believe to be relatively devoid of life. This is the equatorial region of the Pacific ocean for a distance of from a few hundred to more than 2,000 miles west from South America. Evidence points toward a great dearth of marine life over this vast area. But Dr. W. E. Ritter, director of the Scripps Institution for Biological Research, on a recent voyage to Australia and while crossing the western edge of this so-called marine desert observed several species of sea birds which evidently fed on some sort of sea life as the nearest land was 1,000 miles away. Ship officers also reported having seen porpoises which must also get their food from waters about them, so that there cannot be an entire lack of marine organisms.

Of Course

The youthful bugler wore a proud smile as he turned out on parade for the first time. He was accosted by an officer and asked if he knew all the bugle calls.

"Not all, perhaps, sir," he admitted, modestly, "but I know most of them."

"Well, now," continued the officer, "what would you do in case of fire?"

"Blow the call for lights out, sir,"—Los Angeles Times.

Cattle Raising Lags on American Farms

While the number of cattle raised in the United States has been maintained at a comparatively high level, says the National Bank of Commerce of Chicago, in a recent survey of the live stock industry, it has by no means kept pace with the increase in population. However, it is said, after a few years of continuous cultivation even virgin soil loses its power to produce abundant crops. As a means of maintaining soil fertility, the live stock industry is of fundamental importance to permanent agriculture, and as the bank points out, is widely practiced in the corn belt, where grain, especially corn, is marketed in the form of live stock. "Maintenance of soil productivity is so important to the farmer," continues the bank, "that it is an item to include in determining net profit derived from raising and fattening cattle."

"It is estimated that 85 per cent of the corn produced in the United States is fed to live stock and 15 per cent is fed to cattle. Approximately 85 per cent of the native beef steers marketed in Chicago are fattened after having been purchased as stockers and feeders. Possibilities of further developing the beef cattle industry in this country are indicated by a recent survey by the Department of Agriculture, which indicates that beef cattle are kept only on 29 per cent of all farms in the United States."

The survey mentions the increased activity by American consumers of leather as being partly offset by decreased consumption in Europe, and says: "However, it has not been sufficient to cause prices of cattle hides and calf skins to advance permanently in proportion to the rise in the general price level of commodities."

Making the Best of It

After trying unsuccessfully to open the door of the pantry, where the cakes were, the small boy turned to his brother and said:

"It's no use, Tommy. Not one of those keys will fit."

"All right, then," said Tommy, resignedly. "We'll wait until mother comes home and ask for something for being good boys."

Modern Child Is Wise

And what, asked the Sunday school teacher, "is the lesson taught us in the parable of the five wise virgins?"

Nine-year-old Ruth held up her hand.

"That we should always be on the lookout for a bridegroom," she answered.

PREMIER AND KING ENACT PHOTOPLAY

Victor Emmanuel and Mussolini of Italy Appear in "The Eternal City"

The royal "actor" is King Victor Emmanuel of Italy; the statesman is Premier Mussolini. They appear before the camera in person; no actors enact their parts.

Here is how it came about:

Following the purchase of Sir Hall Caine's famous novel of the same name, Producer Fitzmaurice determined that the story would be greatly strengthened if it were modernized. He visited the noted novelist in his home in England, and obtained his consent to the proposed change—and his active assistance.

Ouida Bergere, who wrote the continuity, found it impossible, in adapting the story, to exclude the Fascisti, now playing such an important part in world politics, if the story were brought up to date. The plot revolves about the creation of the Fascisti and their victory over their enemies, and naturally Mussolini could not be ignored. He was prevailed upon to allow himself to be photographed for the picture, which thus gained unusual realism. The king is shown reviewing the "Black Shirts" following their triumph.

The brilliant cast which enacts the story includes Barbara La Marr, Lionel Barrymore, Bert Lytel, Richard Bennett and Montagu Love.

EXCEPTIONALLY GOOD BILL AT THE ORPHEUM

A featured act and a headliner in most cities is the vibrating, gyrating, perpetual motion dancer, Frank Farnum, and his youthful revue of 15 dancing and playing stars, with the Stuart Sisters, who offer a delectable pot-pourri.

It is customary to placard unusual exhibit to denote their origin and their species, so Zuhn and Dreis, believing they are an amusement exhibit, have adopted the same method and their billing reads "Dementus Americanos, Habitat North America." They offer a skit which is a heated family argument.

Jack Joyce, a British Tommy, lost a leg in the battle of the Marne, but he didn't lose his smile, so he is called "the boy with the smile." On his one leg he offers a pleasing dance program and augments his versatility display with singing and a rich brand of wheezes.

One of the most recent novelties from foreign shores are the Remos, humorous acrobatic midgets. Another act from across the pond presents the Australian woodchoppers, the champion axmen of the world, in a unique exhibition of tree felling and other Australian bush novelties.

Marion Harris, the petite, peppy, popular artist who vamps them all with her alluring, syncopating "blue" songs on phonograph records will be heard in person this week at the Orpheum theatre.

Alan Brooks, author and actor, presents his world-wide success of "Dollars and Sense", as a joint headline attraction with Miss Harris. The plot of the play has an appeal for everyone.

Alan Brooks is the author and the leading man. Favored with the enviable gifts of acting intelligence, literary skill and general like ability, Mr. Brooks is one of the foremost younger men of the stage today.

LENINE IS DEAD BOLSHEVISM STILL LIVES

Nikolai Lenine is dead and is mourned by a bunch of reds in this country as well as those of Russia. His passing will cause no tears among the millions of plain American citizens who do not believe in murder, arson and lust as a means to an end in any enterprise. Perhaps his death will give some other element in Russia an opportunity to start another political revolution with its accompaniment of riot, murder and starvation after which the American "snooks" will be given the privilege of feeding them for a year or so.

LUCKY FOR NEBRASKA THAT REGENTS RETAINED DAWSON

Tens of thousands of loyal Nebraskans literally threw their hats in the air and shouted their praises last Wednesday when they learned that the State University regents voted to retain Fred Dawson as head coach of football and director of all athletics at Nebraska for another year. With renewed confidence the "miracle man" will now go ahead preparing to once more take the scalp of Notre Dame and other teams that may play the Cornhuskers the coming fall.

A FAUX PAS

A little girl in a short dress, a round straw hat perched high on her head and carrying a heavy basket, trudged wearily up Orange Grove Avenue, whereon Pasadena's millionaires gaze with mingled emotions.

A limousine drew up at the curb.

"Aw, go on, pick up the little kid," argued a gentleman who looked uncomfortable in a collar.

"I will not," snapped his lovely lady, "it would knock us for a loop socially to be carting around a brat like that."

"Listen, dumbbell," replied her husband, "you weren't such a riot when I got you out of the laundry, yourself."

"Yeh, and if you didn't get no oil outta them wells you'd be a hum."

"Does Madame wish to pick up the urchin?" inquired the chauffeur in a voice of the temperature that makes beer delightful.

"Okeh if the ole man wants to so bad," said the charming dowager.

The chauffeur rolled ahead half a block and overtook the little girl. He opened the door and took off his cap with the air of a man unveiling a monument.

But the little girl's own limousine was waiting and she declined the ride.

It was Colleen Moore, dressed for her starring role in "Painted People" and working before the camera on location for that First National picture of "the cabbage-patch" which is to be shown at the Rialto Theatre for one week commencing Sunday, Jan. 27.

"ALL IN FUN"

Here's a Show That's properly Named—Some "Special" Stunts. Gayety, Next Week.

A multitude of enjoyable features will make a worthwhile visit by local theatregoers to Barney Gerard's "All in Fun" at the popular Gayety theatre starting Saturday matinees. This offering which is just as fun-laden as its title suggests, will offer splendid amusement to all who see it at either the night performance or the daily matinees now so popular with the ladies.

The show is in two acts and ten scenes of more than usual magnitude. Particularly true is this of one in which the interior of a jail is transformed into an Oriental palace of regal splendor before the very eyes of the astonished audience. The book of "All in Fun", written by Producer Gerard, has been designed chiefly for laughs.

The array of talent is headed by Will Fox and Harry Koler, who are adequately supported by such stage satellites as Anna Propp, the tiniest and peppiest soubrette in Columbia Burlesque; Matty White, the "Singing Humoresque", who comes to Columbia Burlesque direct from the Keith Vaudeville field; Ada Lum, Chinese American prima donna; Momi Kalama, a dancer of South Sea evolutions on the Gilda Grey order; Murray and Irwin. Jack McSorley and others.

There are 16 jingly musical numbers that are all delightfully tuneful and are put over with graceful energy and "pep".

The smartly gowned and youthful chorus will show in its personnel the vast experience of Mr. Gerard, the producer of "All in Fun".

These favorable conclusions have been drawn from the past performances of Barney Gerard in producing Columbia Burlesque. It was "Follies of the Day" that first established his reputation and still does credit to his genius; and this season there is a third offering, "Vanities", to do him honor as a producer. Thursday night will be Clown Nite (a novel, special feature) and on Friday night there will be a bonifide wedding ceremony on the stage immediately after the performance, local parties contracting.

BIG STUNTS EXPECTED AT LEGISLATIVE LEAGUE MEET

A program along gridiron lines, with plenty of fun for all members of the three houses, senators, representatives, and lobbyists, will be given at the banquet of the Nebraska Legislative League at the Hotel Fontenelle, Tuesday night, February 5th.

Governor Bryan and all the state officers of Nebraska also will be guests at the banquet.

Special effort is being made by the committee in charge of the arrangements to get every one of the former legislators of Nebraska to attend the meeting.

HARRY KOLER

One of the reasons next week's big musical show at the popular Gayety is called by Barney Gerard, "All in Fun". See it and you'll say he speaks the truth.

RETAIL CLOTHIERS TO MEET

One of the biggest programs in the history of the Nebraska Retail Clothiers' Association is anticipated by officers of the club who have completed the program for the three days joint session of that association with the Men's Apparel Club in Omaha, February 12 to 14 inclusive. Ralph K. Towl, Omaha, secretary of the clothiers, has announced.

Thirty-five years of service with the same company in the same city is the distinctive record of President W. B. T. Belt of the Northwestern Bell Telephone Company. Mr. Belt started his telephone career on January 9, 1899, as a collector for the Midland Electric Company at Omaha at a salary of $45 a month. That same year he took on the additional work of collecting for the telephone company. In 1899 Mr. Belt became manager at Omaha.

He was promoted to superintendent of the Nebraska Telephone Company in 1904 and general manager in 1907. When the Northwestern group of companies was formed, he was again promoted, and a few years later became vice-president and general manager. He became president in 1919.

CALLS BRITISH PHONES EXASPERATING LUXURY

That the post office department of England, which operates the British government-owned telephone system, is not trying to make telephone service popular or to encourage new subscribers, is one of the main objections of the Irish Times of Dublin against the British telephone system.

The editorial goes on to say: "It is obvious that, if the telephone ever is to be made one-quarter as cheap and good in England or Ireland as it is in the United States, the number of subscribers must be increased. In other words the telephone must be made a pleasant necessity instead of an expensive and exasperating luxury."

PHONE USER IN 1877 COULDN'T FIND EAR

"People did not know where their ears were in 1877 and 1878, it seemed," says one of the telephone pioneers who introduced the telephone in Delaware. "Very few people had seen a telephone and fewer still had used it, so that after a man had subscribed for a telephone, it required considerable effort to impress upon him the best way to use it."

An editor talking about a certain subscriber, one day, told the pioneer: "You should have someone instruct him how to use the telephone. He has rubbed the hair off the side of his head trying to find his ear."

Politeness Only Gilding. It is because gold is rare, that gilding has been invented, which without having its solidity, has all its brilliancy. Thus, to replace the kindness we lack, we have devised politeness which has all its appearance.—De Levis.
