SPECIAL REPORT OF DEMOCRATIC DOINGS

Mediator Representative Tells What He Thinks of Nominations.

MRS. MAHONEY WAS BUSY REPORTER

Bryan Suggested as New Acquisition to Republican Payroll—San Francisco Was Royal Entertainer—Mediator Man Says Cox Will Stand for Many Popular Demands.

(Written by a special representative of The Mediator, at the democratic national convention, in San Francisco.)

The democrats certainly pulled off a big blowout in San Francisco and they did a pretty good job of nominating candidates, too. It was my good fortune to have a seat in the press box beside Mrs. Mahoney, daughter of Governor Cox of Ohio, who was representing her father's Dayton newspaper at the convention. Mrs. Mahoney is some reporter, too, and she was not too busy watching her father's fight for the nomination to prepare her stories and get them on the wire for her father's newspaper just like the rest of us were doing.

Despite all the dickering and bickering, all the blackjack work and things of that sort indulged in by supporters of Mr. McAdoo, the Cox men stuck to their job every minute and to their persistence and air-tight combination the Ohio governor owes his nomination for the presidency. The McAdoo forces were there by proxy—that is, McAdoo didn't want the nomination, but those posing as his friends wanted him to have it in order that they might have a chance of clinching their salaries for another four years. From all appearances out here Governor Cox's opposition was not all within the ranks of his own party by any means. There was every opportunity to note that the republicans were using the republican press of the country to defeat Cox—every story written for a republican paper had the tone of "anybody but Cox; then we will have a chance to beat the democrats."

Bill Bryan got the licking of his life. The democratic organization slipped it to him something like this: "You've been a good old boss, but you're no good on a mile track any more." All of which was probably the truth. Bryan offered his valedictory address to the democrats, winding it up by shedding a few crocodile tears and things of that sort, which have been his greatest asset in politics. He attempted to amalgamate the democratic and prohibition parties, just like the republicans did, but soon found the most of the democrats were still democrats and that they would have none of it this time.

The platform did not mention the liquor question in any shape nor manner, as your readers all know, but the

GEORGE REIM, FORMER OMAHAN, IN TOILS IN CALIFORNIA WOMAN CASE

Automobile Dealer Arrested in Los Angeles Charged With Statutory Offense Against Pretty Blond Office Woman of That City—George Says Blackmail.

George Reim, former Omahan, who was distributor of Cadillac cars in this territory for a number of years, has been asked by the courts of California to explain some of the things he has been doing out there. When Omaha got too slow for him he moved to Los Angeles, where he went into business. Just why the Cadillac people took the local agency from Reim has never been very satisfactorily explained, but the fact remains that that big automobile concern handed over their business to a man named Hansen and Reim "went west." To the California papers he gave for an excuse the illness of a daughter, who has died since he went to California.

George is charged with committing a "statutory offense," or, in plainer English, with having attempted to mistreat a married woman of Los Angeles, by name of Mrs. Coseboom. The woman declares that he tore all of her outer and under garments off in his attempts and that she was forced to appeal to a farmer in the neighborhood for assistance. The farmer says he found the woman in an appalling condition.

From all reports George was caught in the act. He was arrested and his trial is pending in the justice courts of Los Angeles. The woman in the case was an attractive blonde, with a perfectly good husband. Nothing has been brought out thus far to indicate that she was a willing party to the doings that caused all the trouble.

Mrs. Coseboom was employed in a Los Angeles office and her husband is employed in a factory in the city. They live in Long Beach, a suburb. Mrs. Coseboom declares she met Reim by accident and that he got crazy about her. When she was ready to go home recently, she says, Reim called her on the telephone and told her he had to go to Long Beach and invited her to ride with him. She had met him at luncheon with a chum and thought it was all right. She accepted the invitation. She says when they reached a boulevard point some distance out George decided he would have to detour by a lonesome road, which he did. After getting well into the country district, she says, Reim stopped the car and made indecent proposals to her. Mrs. Coseboom refused to consent to his requests, she says, and then he started in to force his attentions upon her. According to her story Reim nearly tore all her clothing off before she made her escape and was befriended by a farmer who was working with a tractor. The farmer protected her against Reim, who declared, the farmer says, that Mrs. Coseboom was his wife and that they were having a family quarrel which was none of the farmer's business.

At any rate the blonde managed to get away from George and his arrest followed on her complaint. George says it's blackmail. The woman's husband has apparently decided to take action and George is under bond to appear and answer charges that are not in keeping with what he says are the facts.

Reim was a pretty good fellow in Omaha and a lot of people will remember that he had his "little affairs" while in this city. His past forty years, but apparently has not got over all his old tricks. His dead daughter was past 20 years of age, it is stated.

OMAHA GREEKS CAUGHT IN EUROPEAN DRAGNET

A bunch of Greeks who have been making a temporary residence in Omaha, took a visit to Greece, where they were sent to the army to serve out the time they jumped before leaving their native land.

As a matter of truth this country would lose nothing if these Greeks were all sent back and kept in the Greek army. Not one in a thousand of them has ever become an asset to this country. Most of them are liabilities to the United States. The fact that they have refused to do their duty to their own country is sufficient that they will not be good citizens of this country.

Most of those that land in the United States come from the riff-raff of their own country and very few of them become worthy of the citizenship of an honest to God free country that bestows upon them the rights of citizenship.

The good citizens on the South Side had the right conception of the Greek, as a general proposition. When our country was forced to pay indemnity for that bunch of Greeks on the South Side they thought they owned free America and some of the stuff they have been pulling off ever since is reflected only in the manner in which Greece is now man-handling them when they return to that country.

ROURKES HIT ANOTHER STREAK OF HARD LUCK

Bill Rourke has had another run of hard luck which has once more thrown disorganization into the ranks of his ball players. Two of the men on whom he has been depending for action when it was most needed have jumped to outlaw baseball. They left Wednesday and the game on that date showed the result of their going, Omaha losing by the most one-sided score they have suffered this season.

Three weeks ago the Rourkes headed the Western league percentage table. Just as they were leaving on the outward trip at that time injury and sickness hit the team and the Rourkes came home in sixth place, as against first, where they were when they left. Once home again, however, with some of the injured men back in the game, there were signs of immediate recuperation. Now two of the leading fielders, Donica and Hale, have jumped, once more badly crippling the Rourke aggregation.

Bill Rourke's long experience, however, has taken him through many such streaks of hard luck and he knows how to take them gracefully. Within a short time he expects to add several new players which are expected to put Omaha again in the running before the season advances too far.

Doings In Omaha Fifty Years Ago

"Jack" Bird, one of our large north-end property owners, had several busy days during the week. "Jack" said somebody was always trying to make trouble.

Local newspapers recorded the return to the city of our park commissioner. It was said that he was so indisposed he would be unable to act until he wised up on conditions. He was reported as being neutrally against Dunn.

Some of our Greek peanut vendors were unavoidably delayed in Greece, where they were asked to carry muskets for an unexpired army term.

The Lee-Cosgrove-Compton company suspended operations a few days until they could have themselves mended. They were badly damaged in a west end wreck.

Louis Piatti returned home from San Francisco ahead of his playmates. His law partners admitted they had refused to wire him any more money.

Charlie Wooster, Silver Creek sage, threatened to have his whiskers trimmed, but nobody believed he would do it.

Charles Tyrrell had his show windows washed. It was considered a great improvement to Sixteenth street.

Peter Jolly was out jollyng some of his friends, but didn't get very far with the line he was putting out.

Several changes in management and in business systems were said to be scheduled for the Ryan Jewelry company and the Waterloo Creamery company. A lot of stockholders were looking for information.

Some more of the Greek candy shops and ice cream joints were in grief for putting out phoney ice cream. Among them was the "Crystal Candy company," a Greek joint at Sixteenth and Capitol avenue.

Gasoline dealers were being looked up and a test was being put on the output of some of them. Some of the automobile drivers said they objected to having their water adulterated with gasoline.

Mike Fish was talking of reducing the price of hay five cents per ton to meet competition. Mike was a great business man.

First Capitol "Easy Money"

Draft has been made on the state capitol fund for the first $30,000 of "easy money." It is the first slash at the big bundle of money appropriated for capitol construction and goes for meal tickets, mileage books and architects. The meal tickets and mileage books are of particular interest because they represent nothing but graft. The secretary of finance laid out $630 for 21,000 miles of railroad mileage. The capitol commission took one trip on these books, and that was all. Now our esteemed Governor McKelvie is using them on his campaign trips to the east.

Another item is $238 for meal tickets. There is nothing to show who did the feeding up on these meal tickets, but it is apparent somebody must have done a good job, even at the present high cost of eats. Despite these high costs, $238 buys a lot of good steaks with the trimmings.

But the architects are the fellows who have been getting away with the real plunder, something like $26,000 being credited to their expense account. And it may be also said that the $30,000 already peddled out is simply a small preliminary to the big graft that is expected to be distributed before the capitol building is completed.

It is not fair to the people of Nebraska that they should be made victims of such vicious conditions. The state needs a capitol building and wants a good one, but there is no reason why a large percentage of the $5,000,000 or more to be spent for this structure should go into the hands of a bunch of political buncoers. It will be remembered that some other states have gone through this sort of business and that the odor left from the rottenness discovered in building their state capitols still "stinks to heaven." Let it not be said of Nebraska that half the appropriation made for this big capitol building shall be stolen by a rotten political ring.

MISS BUCKWALTER IS READY FOR A BATTLE

"Prettiest Mile" Residents Given Ultimatum by "Merry Widow."

MUNICIPAL JUDGE LIVES OUT THERE

LaRanee Buckwalter, Former Proprietor of Omaha Sporting House, Says She Is Attending to Her Own Business and Defies Anybody to Molest Her.

Society of Omaha, polite and impolite, if that is a good way to put it, has been having its own mixups out on the fashionable Florence boulevard. From reports at hand it all came about over the good natured distribution of a few fresh eggs, a small matter of courtesies being exchanged between some of the boulevard neighbors.

LaRanee Buckwalter lives at 5016 Florence boulevard, where she owns one of the very fine homes that adorn Omaha's "Prettiest Mile." Two doors south of her resides Municipal Judge George Holmes, who rents the modest cottage where he resides. Following all the excitement that resulted from the family row, Miss Buckwalter says Mrs. Holmes has given it out cold turkey that her husband will raise a neighborhood row and force Miss Buckwalter to move out.

Miss Buckwalter does not claim anything particularly for herself, except that she owns the property where she lives, has it paid for and is not doing anything except attend to her own business. She used to have other lines of business, but since the Albert law went into effect she has invested her "hard earned" money in real estate and other properties and retired to take a little pleasure out of life. She lives out on the boulevard, where a lot of Omaha swells reside, and asks no odds of anybody.

Since establishing herself in her boulevard home, LaRanee has also established a fine chicken coop and chicken yard, where she has been raising a family of thoroughbred chickens. The female department of this chicken farm has been depositing some fine fresh eggs on the Buckwalter estate and the owner has been dividing the result with some of her neighbors, including Mrs. Judge George Holmes. According to LaRanee she recently had a basket of eggs for Mrs. Holmes, but, not finding her at home, let another neighbor have them, because LaRanee had plenty of her own.

Miss Buckwalter says that is what started the whole scrap. One word brought on two, and the two words resulted in a regular neighborhood hullabaloo, in which two other women, also living as next door neighbors, were made parties to the gossip that was distributed among the women on "Omaha's Prettiest Mile."

"I never did anything to anybody," says LaRanee. "I am not making any claims about myself. But since I gave up the sporting business I have been living out here in my own home and not butting into anybody's business. Mrs. Holmes says her husband is a municipal judge and will have me put out of my home. I don't believe he is going to try anything of the

SCHOOL BOARD BANKRUPT AND MUST STAND EMPLOYEES OFF

Million and Half Deficit in School Fund and Bond Buyers Shying at Omaha City Bonds—Reformers Are Sidestepping Serious Condition.

If there ever was a wreck, that wreck is the Omaha school district. With a large percentage of Omaha school children unhoused, and the number increasing steadily, the school district finds itself in debt a million and a half dollars on current obligations and unable to dispose of its $6,000,000 of bonds authorized for additional school house construction.

Talk about the need of managers, there is certainly one needed to run the Omaha school board. To start with, when Omaha went dry and $250,000 annually was cut out of the school fund practically no account of the new condition was taken notice of. That fact is responsible, in a great degree, for the present deficit of $1,500,000 in money to pay current obligations. It means that every employe of the school district, teachers, janitors and everybody else, can have no salaries until next May, unless they discount the amount coming to them, which they will receive in city warrants.

One of the worst features of this condition is the fact that eastern capital is beginning to set up and take notice of Omaha's financial condition. Nobody can gainsay the fact that it is no joke to be in debt a million and a half dollars on current obligations, with the prospect of the amount growing every minute. When banks begin to refuse city warrants it is time to sit up and take notice.

Incidentally, it is easy to see that Omaha has been a victim of prohibition. While the Anti-Saloon league has been gathering in the shekels to satisfy the demands of a bunch of grafters, the city of Omaha and its schools have been going to the dogs. Our Omaha schools are in a miserable condition, financially, and that cannot be denied. Of the eleven members of our school board, eight declare they will not again be candidates, for which they cannot be blamed. Most of them have had a hand in bringing about the present financial troubles that confront our school system and now they are trying to sidestep the whole business.

For two score years these schools were receiving $350,000 annually from saloon licenses. The board knew that this money would be available on the first day of January and the taxpayers congratulated themselves that they were being saved this big sum. Now that this amount and much more must come from the taxpayers we hear howls galore. If you look up the source of these kicks, they mostly come from the prohibitionists themselves who are forced to dig down in their pockets to help make up the deficit caused by losing this license money.

Heretofore, Omaha has had almost unlimited credit on the bond markets of the country. Now bond dealers are looking askance at our securities, for which they cannot be blamed. All of which may be credited to the new city management that has been active in "reforming" our city for the last three years.

If this condition keeps up, there is not going to be a very big demand for city offices in Omaha for some time to come.

COX AND ROOSEVELT.

The democrats at San Francisco took eight long days and nearly as many nights to put a ticket in the field, but from all indications they did a pretty good job of it. One thing is very apparent and that is that they disappointed a large number of republican leaders who thought they would be able to have the "crown prince," known as Secretary McAdoo, nominated and that it would be a run-away.

The nomination of Cox appears to be pretty satisfactory to everybody except Bill Bryan and the republican leaders. He has thrice defeated his opponent, Candidate Harding in Ohio, and he gives signs of being able to do it again and to carry such states as New York, Indiana and California.

There were many comical sides to the convention in San Francisco and most of them were reflected in the columns of the press. There was a very fine lobby of republicans working out there and they were backed by a very considerable number of our large newspapers. They were doing all they could to secure the nomination of anybody except Cox and were defeated.

Since the convention there is evidence that Senator Harding's supporters have decided that their race is anything but a runaway. On the other hand they see for themselves a hard battle to overcome Governor Cox's race and the things that he and his party have pledged.

Within the republican ranks are a large number of voters who refuse to stomach the absolutely prohibition stand their party has taken and will prefer to take chances on democratic legislation that will relieve the tension to some extent. The democrats will gain much more for their stand on this question than they will lose. There are a lot of other things that will aid the democrats in their race and the whole business is going to give rise to one of the most bitter campaigns we have had since McKinley was a candidate twenty-four years ago.

Senator Harding had decided on a "front porch" campaign similar to that made by McKinley, but the campaign managers have decided that it will not be any such a runaway affair as McKinley had. For that reason they have decided that Harding must "swing around the circuit," and give the people an opportunity to take a look at him. Of course, Governor Cox will do the same thing.

This is going to be about the best campaign that we have had for many a long day, because no party has a cinch on it. The republicans' campaign thunder will be mostly, "it is our turn; the democrats have been in long enough." On the other hand, prosperity for everybody has been the watch word the last eight years, despite the war and high prices. With all that may be said, the great majority of the working classes are pretty well satisfied, especially with wages. They know that any reduction in living costs of consequence means a lowering of wages, and they are not taking many chances along that line.

Secretary Roosevelt will make a good running mate for Cox and between the two of them they should be able to set off a lot of fireworks before the November election takes place.

PROHIBITIONISTS WANT CANDIDATE.

Virgil C. Hinshaw, chairman of the prohibition national committee, thinks his party will nominate a presidential candidate at its national convention which will be held in Lincoln July 21. Virgil says neither of the old parties has taken the prohibition amendment serious enough and for that reason the prohibitionists will have to keep their party in the field.

All of which is no less amusing than interesting. In fact, it was to be expected. Most of the leaders of the prohibition party have been men who existed by means of the graft they could get out of the business. They overdid the business and got an amendment to the national constitution that not only put the prohibition party of business, but also put an end to their graft.

Now comes Mr. Hinshaw with his statement, which indicates that, in their desperation to keep their hands on some source of easy money, they will keep their party organization in the field. They will ask the Rockefeller of the country to keep them in bread and butter for another four years just for old times' sake.

It is stated that the Lincoln convention will be used as a means of securing enforcement of the prohibitory amendment, which is a hint to both the big parties that they must "do business" on this prohibition amendment or the prohibition party will force them to do so.

One of the good results that may come from keeping the prohibition party in existence would be that the big parties would not find it necessary to bury these fossils periodically. Some of them might even have to go to work. One thing may be depended on, and that is that these fellows are not going to be in the reform business any longer after the source of income is cut off. A lot of them will be "vagged" by the decent people of the country and that will be one victory for prohibition at any rate.

democrats did nominate a man who is no imbecile when it comes to existing for personal liberty and has declined absolutely to join the party of lunatics who insist that small percentage alcoholic concoctions should be labelled "poison."

A. Mitchell Palmer may be given considerable credit in bringing about the nomination of Governor Cox. Palmer, himself a candidate for the place, used good judgment and real horse sense by getting off the ticket when he saw his chances were blown up. Most of his supporters joined the Cox ranks and that settled the business so far as the "crown prince" was concerned. There has been some speculation as to whether President Wilson will permit Palmer to retain his job as the boss government lawyer, in view of his supporters throwing down Mr. McAdoo, but neither Palmer nor his friends appear to care a tinker's darn whether he retains his place in the cabinet.

The Nebraskans did what they were told to do, by giving their first ballots to Senator Hitchcock. Incidentally, the Cox nomination was in keeping with the things that Hitchcock has been supporting, and there is going to be democratic harmony within the party councils this year. Bryan has been relegated to the Chautauqua circuit, unless the republicans decide to let him into their campaign work. He has been doing some work for the republicans and it has been suggested that they may now put him on the payroll permanently.

There was a general feeling that the nomination of Cox was not only the very proper thing, but that he was the one man who has a chance to carry states like Ohio, New York, Pennsylvania and California. Mrs. Mahoney, the governor's daughter, figures out that her daddy will be able to land in the White house. She says she will continue right on the job. Down in Ohio, she says, her father has shown where he stands and the people have renewed their confidence in him three different times by keeping him in the state house six years.

Becoming more earnest, Mrs. Mahoney discussed conditions generally, and especially as they concerned political affairs. "The republicans, kept out of office so long, have become desperate," said Mrs. Mahoney. "The war, of course, furnished plenty of campaign material for them and they took advantage of that fact two years ago, when the democrats lost control of congress. Everything that has gone wrong since Mr. Wilson has been in office has occurred since that republican congress came into power. "It is a fact that the democrats have accomplished more in their eight years of government control, handled greater problems than any administration that ever existed, won a world's war, forced an honorable settlement and made the whole world better, and still they are the objects of more abuse than any administration that has ever been in power.

"When you get right down to brass tacks the democrats do not have to apologize for a single thing. They have no embalmed beef, no Sampson-Schley disgrace nor any highway robberies to explain, although the Spanish-American war was a simple friendly tussle compared with what we went through with in Europe. This war was financed without any disgraceful cornering of money markets and never in the history of the world was there a people more prosperous than Americans are at this time. All this, despite the high cost of living, which will continue indefinitely whether either Cox or Harding is elected."

San Francisco is a royal entertainer. The country is "dry" of course, but there was little evidence of the fact out here. Those who felt inclined to have a drink had no trouble being accommodated and the stuff was of pretty good quality, too. Taken all the way around, this convention sure was a huge success.

BRYAN'S FLORIDA FRIENDS HAND HIM SOME HOT SHOT

That William Jennings Bryan is no more popular in his adopted state of Florida than in his former home state of Nebraska is attested by a telegram sent him Wednesday by five Gainesville, Fla., democrats. Their names are Elmer McCreary, T. B. Ellis Jr., J. J. Bates, Thomas Fielding and J. C. McGraw, and their telegram was as follows:

"We have noticed that your heart is in the grave and we are sincerely sorry that your body is not there also."

The telegram greeted Mr. Bryan on his arrival at his Lincoln home, and is significant of the "high esteem" in which he is held by some of the Florida democrats.

"HANK" DUNN DOES NOT WANT HIS NAME CONFUSED

Henry W. Dunn, former chief of police of the city of Omaha, but now a leading insurance man, says his name is being confused with that of John Dunn, suspended chief of detectives. The former chief of police is a candidate for police judge and he is somewhat peeved to have his personality mixed up with that of John Dunn, suspended chief of detectives. They are in no way related. Incidentally, Henry W. Dunn is built right for the office he seeks. Few men have had more experience with police affairs than Henry W. Dunn and it is a cinch that he will be elected to the place he is seeking. He has the ability that is necessary to deal out justice without fear or favor, and at the same time protect the interests of Omaha citizens in a manner that will prove his efficiency as a police judge.

AL HASTINGS MAKING GOOD AT NORTH PLATTE

Al Hastings, for years a neighbor of Charles Wooster, "sage of Silver Creek," writes from North Platte, where he located some time ago in the real estate business. He is head of the Platte Valley Land company and is making good in his new location.

Hastings is one of the real live ones wherever he lands. At Silver Creek he always "horned in" on everything that went to push business and what North Platte gains Silver Creek loses by him changing locations. As is his habit, Hastings enclosed a check in order, as he puts it, to not miss a copy of this great religious weekly newspaper.

Hastings spent much of his young life in Omaha and asks The Mediator to remember him to all of his old friends.

PROPOSAL THAT TENANTS OPERATE APARTMENTS HEARD

Talk of tenants of apartment houses operating them on a 6 per cent basis is being heard these days and some of the owners are credited with saying they are willing to turn over their property on that basis.

Of course this is all talk. It is going to be pretty hard to make anybody believe that owners are not receiving that much on their investment. Sooner or later, when conditions become normal, rents will be much lower, although the cost of upkeep will not be greatly changed. There will, of course, be a considerable depreciation in values from the present estimates placed on these structures.

If owners are now receiving less than 6 per cent on investments, they will soon be greatly in debt when they get back to normal. Some people can be awful funny.

DUBLIN INN LATEST OF OMAHA'S BRIGHT SPOTS

Dublin Inn, Sixty-fifth and Center streets, is the latest real bright spot to be opened in the vicinity of this city. Earl O'Brien and Dick Ward have recently opened this amusement resort and it already boasts a big patronage. While chicken dinners are the specialties in the way of eats in this new place, a very complete line of all edibles, including steaks, are served. The building is constructed with a view to securing excellent ventilation. It is forty by eighty feet in size and has an excellent dancing floor. Every night hundreds of Omahans visit the place to spend an hour or two of real amusement. Excellent music is provided for the dancers.

Dublin Inn is located just across Center street from Ak-Sar-Ben field and only a short distance from the Ashmussen airdrome.

CROSBY RECEIVES NEW JOLT FROM THE COURT

Once more Willis Crosby has been notified to move his undertaking establishment. This time he has been enjoined from doing business near Twentieth and California, on the grounds that residents of that neighborhood are unable to sleep if he runs his undertaking establishment in that vicinity.

Crosby was recently chased off of Wirt street for the same reason. Perhaps an undertaker is not the most desirable business man in the residence neighborhood, but Crosby appears to be the only man that is suffering by reason of kicks from his neighbors. Several other undertaking establishments are similarly located.

NORGAARD RECEIVES TEN DAYS SUSPENSION ONLY

Mr. Ringer and Mr. Eberstein, his office boy, did not take the job pulled off by Police Chefneur Russell Norgaard very seriously and he only received a suspension of ten days. Norgaard showed his bravery and gallantry by knocking down a man three times with his club when he was surrounded by a score of harness bulls and his victim was helpless.

Verily this Norgaard fellow is a great man.

Inequalities. "Do you believe in the absolute equality of men?" "I do not," replied the aged sport. "If I did I wouldn't be able to see the sense in any friendly contest, from a prize fight to a checker game."

KRUG PARK BUSY PLACE
Krug park continued to draw the usual big crowds. During the last week cooler weather has filled the dancing floor of the big Krug park pavillion to capacity every evening. The excellent music being provided for the dancers has added considerable interest to the place and hundreds of young couples flocked there to enjoy their favorite pastime.

Other attractions at the park had their usual capacity crowds, the big swimming pool being one of the favorite sports. Favorite lounging spots at the park were filled the entire week with thousands who sought this place of recreation for an evening away from the heated city.

The kiddies were there every day during the week, thousands of them, and they did not overlook any bets. This well known summer park has become a real resort for the youngsters and they may be seen every day on the slides, in the swings and other places of amusement.

The refreshment booths this year offer many new lines of drinks and eats at popular prices. The management has insisted on this part of the big park being handled in ship-shape with the result that visitors may find it easy to secure their soft drinks and sandwiches at prices in keeping with the old "Coney Island" system and without being robbed.

EMPRESS ATTRACTIONS

Topping the variety bill at the popular Empress for the first half of the week is "Rising Generation," one of the greatest juvenile acts in vaudeville. This act is composed of thirteen kiddies, who are all wonderful actors. This act is well known to the public of Omaha, because it made such a hit last season when it appeared at this theatre. The act has been changed this season, so that it is even bigger and better than before. These kiddies carry their own tutors, maids and valets, and study when they are not appearing on the stage.

Rago & Company will present a novelty escape act, full of thrills and wonderment. Escape is made by a young woman from a large box which has only one opening, and this facing the public.

Jermon and Mack will offer "A Breath of Variety," a comedy singing, talking and juggling act which is full of merit. This duo of young people are very clever in their particular line of stunts and are sure to please.

Fredericks, Ellsworth and Thomas, harmonious funsters, will offer comedy songs and dances, which will win approval.

The photoplay attraction for the first half of the week is "The Lure of Ambition," featuring Theda Bara. This picture is a super-production, and full of heart-thrills and interest. It is the story of a young woman's ambition, and how she gained fame. An added movie attraction which is sure to please is the Harold Lloyd comedy, "Haunted Spooks," which is also full of genuine mirth and sure to keep the audience in convulsions of laughter.

kind. I was here first, my property is paid for and I don't owe anybody a nickel. I have been about as big an asset to Omaha's "Prettiest Mile" as a lot of other people who live around here that I could mention, and am paying about as much taxes as a lot of the others here; more than some of them. If they chase me out, they will have to give a better reason than any they have mentioned up to this time."

Miss Buckwalter is a striking brunette. Despite her former line of business, she still retains her buxom form and her "sweet" disposition. Besides her home on Florence boulevard she owns a ten-acre farm out at Ponca hill and sports a fine Cadillac car, in which she drives around the city during her leisure hours.

Miss Buckwalter makes no bones about the fact that she formerly ran a sporting house. She says she is trying to forget that business, but that, despite all her efforts along that line, some of her neighbors are trying to make it as unpleasant for her as possible.

Judge Holmes has occupied a seat on the bench of the municipal court since that branch of law jurisdiction took the place of a coterie of justices of the peace. Sometimes he is called upon to preside on the police court bench, where he has usually been a satisfactory substitute for any regular judge who might be absent from any force of circumstances.

Miss Buckwalter says she has not told all she knows by any means, but she is willing to do so if called upon in that capacity. She feels that she has a right to protect her home and intimates that she has some things up her sleeve that would not look well in print were she to tell all she knows about conditions in her neighborhood. She declares it is nobody's business who the man is who occupies her home and takes care of her Ponca Hill farm.

"I am here to stay," says Miss Buckwalter. "I have as good a home here as anybody who lives on this boulevard, and I am attending strictly to my own business. You may say all you want to about the language that is passed around in sporting houses, but I have never heard anything in any of them that could equal some that has come to my ears around these boulevard diggings. This is my home, it is paid for, and I am going to stay here as long as I want to. I am a better citizen than some of those who are boasting so much about themselves. There are a lot of people living up and down this boulevard that might be proud to own as fine a home as I am living in."

There is a lot of truth in LaRanee's statement. She has a home well furnished and decorated with classics in pictures and hand-painted China that would do credit to any Dundee home, to say nothing of the house full of fine upholstered and antique furniture. She is rated as being possessed of a considerable sum of money and does not kick about her taxes.

GAS LEMON HAS ANOTHER WHEN ASSESSED FOR TAX

Another echo of the gas lemon the Omaha taxpayers have just taken on is being heard in the tax assessment fixed upon by the county commissioners. It has been decided that the gas company, for which Omaha has just paid $5,000,000, shall be assessed only $215,000. The city will receive something like $5,000 taxes on this amount. In other words, Omaha has been trimmed up for $40,000 or more.

It would be interesting to know who collected the commission on the purchase of the gas plant and also to know just who engineered the deal.

DR. Brown is Senior Surgeon to the Central London Throat and Ear Hospital. He declares himself in a recent medical journal in emphatic terms as follows: "The vapor of Menthol checks in a manner hardly less than marvelous, acute Colds in the head. For all forms of nasal diseases, causing obstruction to the natural breathing, I prescribe Cushman's Menthol Inhaler to the extent of hundreds per annum."

Public Singers and Speakers use it and find it the greatest aid in strengthening the throat.

SEA-SICKNESS! Dr. Besley Thorn, in communication in the London Lancet, says: "I have found Cushman's Menthol Inhaler exercises a marked beneficial effect in Sea Sickness and especially in the headache and vertigo, which remains after the actual vomiting and retching ceased off."
