NEBRASKA READY TO RENEW FIGHT

Investigation of Anti-Saloon League Slush Fund May Bring Out New Issues During Fall Campaign—Hitchcock and Edwards Delegates Have Understanding

A petition signed by 2,000 odd Nebraska democrats will be filed within the next few days for Governor Edward I. Edwards of New Jersey as candidate for party preferment in Nebraska as presidential candidate. The statement is made by the committee having the matter in charge that the campaign for Edwards will begin at once and that he will do his best to land the Nebraska delegation, at least as second choice.

It is pretty generally believed that Edwards will make a very strong candidate in this state, because he stands for everything that is popular with democratic voters of Nebraska. By those who have kept their ear to the ground it is thought William J. Bryan will get the licking of his life at the coming primary election and that he has no show of being elected a delegate to the democratic national convention in California.

Senator Hitchcock's keynote statement, which indicates the democrats will make the wet and dry issue a strong one in the coming campaign, gives notice that there will be a fight for a wet plank in the national platform of that party. The democrats will hold their convention before the republicans meet in Chicago. Many believe that both parties will have a liberal plank in their platforms.

The issue is really the biggest thing before the American people today despite the attempts of prohibitionists to shelve it this fall on the grounds that it has been settled already. It is thought the saloon as it formerly existed is a thing of the past but the feeling that millions have been robbed summarily of their personal liberty by the eighteenth amendment is almost universal. The wing of the democratic party that is supporting Governor Edwards for president is putting out the wet issue as one of the foremost of any that is before the people today.

By those democrats who have been keeping their eye on Bryan in this state it is believed he may attempt to file some dry democrat to oppose both Hitchcock and Edwards before the time for filing is up. It is said Bryan and his friends have kept their movements pretty quiet and that they may spring a surprise at the last moment.

DOMINICK M'CAFFREY MEMORIES REVIVED BY VISIT OF HIS BROTHER

How Once Famous Prize Ring Artist Was Cheated Out of Decision in Match With John L. Sullivan in Cincinnati—Referee Bribed With $600

Joseph McCaffrey of O'Neill was in the city this week, in the interest of his new improved steel rim for auto truck wheels and, incidentally, met a lot of his old friends. Mr. McCaffrey is a rancher near O'Neill and his experience with the moving of trucks in sandy and muddy places got him to thinking about some improvement on truck wheel surfaces which would make them move easier in bad weather and over bad roads. This new truck wheel rim is the result. It is his own patent.

Incidentally, McCaffrey is a brother of the famous Dominick McCaffrey, who once fought John L. Sullivan six and a half rounds in Cincinnati and chased the big fellow from the ring. Dominick has been dead for some time. The writer witnessed the Cincinnati affair and it was interesting to have a talk with Joe, the brother, who is now promoting auto wheel rims.

The Cincinnati affair was held in 1886, when both Sullivan and McCaffrey were at the height of their popularity. Sullivan had always been trained to just one style of fighting, that is standing toe to toe with his adversary and pounding away. McCaffrey introduced a new style, later developed greatly by James J. Corbett. When he met Sullivan he introduced foot work and thus avoided the heavy right swings for which Sullivan was then famous. McCaffrey was some hitter himself and managed to land five or six stinging smashes on Sullivan, the last of which came in the middle of the sixth round, and Sullivan jumped over the ropes and left the ring.

The referee did not give his decision until the next day because he was afraid of the crowd. When he was well into the clear he awarded the fight to Sullivan on points, for which it is said he received $600. It was a clear victory for McCaffrey, but Sullivan's popularity at that time made it a crime to decide a fight against him until Corbett actually laid him out for a count of ten.

Later McCaffrey had some "affairs" of his own and retired from the prize ring. He was finally induced by his brother Joe to go to the latter's ranch in Holt county, where he remained until he died a few months ago.

Joe McCaffrey has been a live wire in Nebraska. He has always been interested in big sports events and took considerable part in promoting his brother's prize ring interests. He was in Chicago the day Dominick met Sullivan and did not have an opportunity to witness the match.

When Joe reached town recently he heard of the ring events to be pulled off at Fort Omaha and managed to secure a ticket for the affair. "When I got out there," he said, "I found Sandy Griswold sitting right in front of me. Sandy and myself always have a seance when I come to town. He was on the job at Cincinnati when Dominick and Sullivan fought. He has always given Dominick credit for winning that fight."

Mr. McCaffrey is giving most of his time to his new auto truck invention, which he expects will revolutionize the moving of trucks over bad or heavy roads. The rim can be attached to any solid tire truck wheel and can be put on or taken off very quickly, only one bolt being used in the operation. They are specially recommended for country roads.

GEORGE COLLINS FILES AS CANDIDATE OLD JOB

Popular Justice of Peace Will Again Be in Running for That Office.

Judge George S. Collins, the only justice of the peace of whom Douglas county boasts, will be a candidate for re-election. He has already filed for the democratic nomination and expects to have a run away in the primary election. Several candidates are expected to file for the republican nomination but George feels big enough to defeat them all.

Collins has been a popular judge of the court over which he presides, and which has become an important tribunal since the number of these courts was reduced to one. It is a busy place and operates on regular schedule, with two clerks always on the job to take care of the clerical department. Collins' conception of justice has been popular with attorneys and litigants, without respect to his decisions, which have always been considered just by winners and losers alike.

Collins, before entering the law practice, was a grocery clerk and was a strong union man. He was a member for many years of the Retail Clerks local union and took part in its deliberations.

"I expect to win because I have made no enemies and added many new friends to my list," the judge says. And that is a truthful statement.

DUDLEY CHANGES HIS MIND ABOUT LEAVING

Jay Jay Dudley, whose girations have given him much publicity, has changed his mind about resigning his position as harness copper. Dudley flags the crossing at Sixteenth and Farnam streets and is considered one of the most conscientious officers on the force.

Recently Dudley decided that it would be impossible for him to keep out of the clutches of the shylocks if he did not get a higher priced job and handed in his resignation. He was given a ten days' vacation to think it over. Then it was that he changed his mind. Now he is back on the old job and says he intends to stick to it.

HUNTLEY ANNOUNCES HE WILL FILE ONCE MORE

Edwin L. Huntley, editor of The Mediator, will again file for the nomination of legislator on the democratic ticket. He believes he can run The Mediator and serve as a legislator at the same time if elected.

Two years ago Huntley was a candidate and went down to defeat with most of the other democrats. This year he will stand for a modification of the present dry law and proposes legislation defining intoxicating liquors which will not include light wines and 2.75 per cent beer.

"Red" Donahue Slips One Across

Somebody slipped one across when they secured a pardon from Governor McKelvie without him consulting our county attorney. Without discussing the merits of this pardon, it is apparent that "Red" Donahue had a good lawyer and a lot of friends. Although the charge against him was of a very serious nature and the trial lasted three days, Donahue was convicted only of assault and battery, which is not a serious crime within the meaning of criminal law. He received a sixty-day sentence and had served twenty-four days of it when his pardon was granted.

The county attorney and Judge Troup are quoted as delivering themselves of some sarcastic remarks, but as a whole the pardon may be considered as a victory for a faithful wife and a good attorney. Probation Officer Andreason investigated the case and made recommendation for a pardon, which Mrs. Donahue presented to the governor and he issued it. That is about all there is to it.

The county attorney complains that he was not consulted. As a general proposition, however, a probation officer is better fitted to give reliable reports on such cases than is the county attorney, who usually is prejudiced in such affairs. A woman's appeal usually brings more than that of anybody else and from all appearances Governor McKelvie did what he believed to be the proper thing when he pardoned Donahue.

Meanwhile, our old friend Eugene O'Sullivan, who is about the best defense lawyer in Omaha, may again congratulate himself on another of those fine victories for which he is so popular.

ROAD PAVING BATTLE BRINGS COURT FIGHT

Both Sides Await Action on Temporary Injunction Proceedings on File.

COUNTY BOARD SCORED FOR HASTE

Taxpayers Given No Opportunity to Select Substitute for Brick When Price Found Prohibitive—Bitulithic Composition Undesirable—Most Big Cities Bar It

The battle over Douglas county paving is still waging, with contractors and tax payers keeping vigil over the new developments as they appear. The latest of these is an injunction proceeding brought by John Paul Breen for a client to stop the paving as proposed by the board of county commissioners, which will be heard next week.

The interests that have been opposing the letting of these paving contracts are not letting up to any degree and are inclined to go the limit in forcing the county board to keep their word with the public. One of the leaders of this opposition, who has long been a good roads booster, had this to say about the letting of these contracts:

"We have been double-crossed. I was one of the men who signed up to pay the expenses of the special bond election in the event of the bonds not carrying. Many of the commercial and other bodies who were interested in better roads believed Douglas county would soon have 115 miles of brick paving. When the commissioners learned that brick had advanced in price they took arbitrary action without taking the people into their confidence.

"We had a right to make some suggestions about this matter. There was absolutely no competition in the bidding, despite anything these commissioners may say to the contrary. Here is the whole thing in a nut shell:

The excuse of the county board for not keeping faith with the people is that the price of brick made that kind of paving prohibitive. Now, when they learned of this condition why did they not take our people into their confidence and explain to them what they believed was an unspeakable condition. Why did they not give the newspapers and the people an opportunity to talk this matter over and decide what they wanted? WHY, WHY, WHY?

"I believe The Mediator's story last week is the answer. Instead of doing so they let this contract arbitrarily for a material that has a royalty on it that taxpayers should not be asked to pay. It is a material that is inferior at best and the contract was let at a price that is far above the value actually placed on it by men who know what it really is.

"Of course the agreement signed by the commissioners was only what might be termed a 'gentlemen's agreement,' but before being violated (Continued on Page Two.)

LEGISLATION AGAINST FAKING SPORTS PROMOTERS IS PROPOSED

Something About Marin Plestina, Whose Backers Have Offered $25,000 to Any Man Who Will Beat Him—Much Feeling Against Promoters of Fakes

Legislation against promoters and participants in fake sports matches is being proposed by lovers of honest sport in Nebraska.

With the numerous "wrestling exhibitions" being given in the eastern cities these times readers of sports columns might be led to believe that they meant nothing. As a matter of truth, however, they are just what they are styled, that is "exhibitions." The coterie of fakers and four-flushers who are putting these exhibitions across, however, very carefully avoid anything that might be called championship matches.

If these matches were in earnest or if the promoters and "wrestlers" were really interested in championship matches or were willing to take a chance on a really big affair they would undertake to get hold of $25,000 now on deposit in New York by the world's real champion, Marin Plestina. Tutored and trained by Farmer Burns, acknowledged master of every department of the mat game, he has that much money on deposit to back him against any man for the wrestling championship of the world. The money was deposited by Bernarr McFadden and is ready for any man who will beat Plestina.

Such men as Stecher, Caddock and others who lay claim to championship honors can get their hands on this money just as easy as falling off a log if they defeat Plestina. Farmer Burns says Plestina is the greatest wrestler in the world, and is ready to back the big fellow for any amount.

Burns picked up Frank Gotch, farmer boy, and made of him an undefeated champion. Gotch licked them all in regular fashion and made a mint of money out of the game. When he retired from the game, undefeated champion, Burns took on Plestina and made of him a successor to Gotch. Plestina is now ready to meet any man in the world and McFadden's $25,000 is on tap for the man who beats him.

As a matter of fact every wrestler who lays any claim to being a big wrestler is afraid of this man Plestina and they all consistently refuse to meet him because they are afraid to go it on the square. Most of these fellows belong to the coterie that are holding up the patrons of this sport and never make any pretense at giving them a run for their money. The possibilities of faking in this game are so great and have been the source of so much financial gain, as against the square game of wrestling, that this bunch of fakers refuse to take any chances on actual "rassling."

Plestina is on the card for a number of matches this month and during April. He has not been defeated and he looks so good to the men who have put him out that they are willing to back him for any amount. The flukes that they have seen on the wrestling mat during the last two years have all but disgusted enthusiastic followers of the sport and legislation against the promoters of this class of matches is being planned by lovers of honest sports. It is expected that the matter will be laid before the coming Nebraska legislature and that men who participate in "fixed" wrestling matches will be barred from matches any place in Nebraska.

HITCHCOCK AND BRYAN.

Nebraskans who have read Mr. Bryan's little announcement in his personal organ, "The Commoner," will have a good laugh. The Commoner once circulated quite generally but in recent years it comes to life only occasionally, when Mr. Bryan has something personal to say.

The letter Mr. Bryan wrote for the Commoner would not have been seen by many people had not the editor seen to it that it was given to regular newspapers well in advance of its publication in Bryan's "personal organ." But, at that it does not amount to much. This paper does not believe in Hitchcock for a presidential candidate, but it ranks him much higher than it does William J. Bryan. Hitchcock has been a progressive citizen, has attained high rank in the councils of his party and in the United States senate. Bryan is simply a has been, who has put things across on the good people for the last time in his existence.

Bryan says he will not obey instructions if Nebraska democrats send a Hitchcock delegation to the democratic national convention. Nobody expects him to obey instructions of his party. He never was guilty of such an honest thing in his life. Truth is, the democratic party is about to rid itself of Bryan and he is fully cognizant of that fact. His only asset left is his ability to break into print. Whatever may be said of our senator, one thing is true and that is that, as a Nebraskan, he stands head and shoulders over Bryan. Hitchcock has been a builder and Bryan a grafter. Hitchcock has built up a big Nebraska institution. Bryan has done nothing but tear them down.

From all appearances the country has heard about the last yelp from this four-flusher so far as influence in this state is concerned. If any other state feels it wishes to take him on it is a safe bet that 90 per cent of the Nebraska people, without respect to political affiliation, will make no protest when he seeks a new home.

SEVEN REPUBLICAN CANDIDATES.

The republican party is not going to have any trouble finding somebody to accept the presidential nomination on their ticket. No less than seven avowed candidates are putting out their literature and have friends working for their nomination. These are General Leonard Wood, General John J. Pershing, Nicholas Murray Butler, Governor Hiram Johnson, Senator W. G. Harding, Senator Miles Poindexter and Governor Frank O. Lowden.

This is some real array of talent and everyone of them is considered capable for the job he seeks. One of the latest to join this big field is Senator Poindexter of Washington. Nicholas Murray Butler is New York's choice up to the present time, it is said. He has not been much talked about, but his friends look for him to be right in the running when the race gets good. Senator Poindexter is now maintaining headquarters in Washington, D. C., from which emanates the statement that he wants to let foreign countries take care of their own affairs for a while and his country take upon itself the job of adjusting its own domestic affairs.

Senator Harding is Ohio's choice. That state has been the home of several presidents and the citizens of Ohio are anxious to again send a favorite son to the White House. Senator Harding is a man of wealth, in money, brains and experience and has a big following within his own party ranks.

Governor Hiram Johnson of California is one of the live wires who is figured on to make himself known pretty thoroughly at the Chicago convention. He is the one republican candidate who stands against prohibition. Governor Lowden of Illinois has been making a strong fight but is not taken very seriously by anybody except his inner circle of friends.

Perhaps the most interesting race is between Generals Wood and Pershing. Both being major generals in the standing army, with Pershing ranking the highest, interest in their campaigns is intense. When the Chicago convention meets next summer the people will know pretty generally whether or not the country is in a mood to take on an army man for president. Outside the circle of promoters and personal friends of these two men, and there are a host of these, there is a pretty general feeling that the country will not stand for an army man for president. Friends of both these generals, however, believe this feeling can be overcome before the national convention is held. Then, in that event, it will be a struggle in the convention to see who can win out. Neither of them has shown any great strength outside their own inner circle thus far, but the campaign of both men is gathering considerable momentum in their respective spheres.

At any rate the republican party is not going to be lacking in timber and there is little internal strife within the ranks. The fireworks will all be pulled off in San Francisco when the democrats meet in national assembly.

BONUS FOR OUR SOLDIERS.

The question of whether or not our returned soldiers and sailors shall be paid a bonus of $240 each is being debated pro and con these days and the merits of the proposition are being heard from every angle. Some four million of the boys spent three months to two years in the army, having enlisted to serve their country in time of need. When they returned it was to learn that those who had been exempted had gained much that they did not themselves receive. There was no particular complaint on this account but they doubtless are in a receptive mood as a general thing so far as this bonus proposition is concerned.

In former wars returned soldiers have received a reward of some sort and it is expected that a bounty will be furnished in this instance. The country no longer has farms to give away and for that reason this cash bonus of $240 is being considered. As a general thing the young soldier will prefer the cash.

Our country has made loans of ten millions to foreign countries, much of which it will never get back. Hundreds of millions have been subscribed to relieve distress in European countries. There is no reason why a reasonable amount can not be appropriated to in some degree compensate the returned soldiers for their loss of time during the war.

There are arguments being heard against the bonus but most of these arguments come from persons not affected by the draft and who had no close relatives concerned in the result of the war.

TONY ZIMMERLY PAYS

VISIT TO HIS FRIENDS

Tony Zimmerly, well known road builder and authority on a lot of other things, dropped into our fair city the other day to call on some of his friends. Tony has been road supervisor at Waterloo but says he is through with the job. He expects to get to work on several sub-contracts he has recently taken for grading roads in his part of the county.

PETITION IS READY TO FILE IN LINCOLN

prohibition has made him very popular in Nebraska, despite the fact that the people voted out the saloon by a 26,000 majority a few years ago. When the state went dry it was the result of misstatements and misunderstandings and there is an apparent reversal of sentiment which it is believed will come to the front at the coming election.

Incidentally, it is said the manner in which the Anti-Saloon league has been working and the immense amounts of money it has expended may be brought out in the coming campaign. It is known that this institution used millions of dollars in its campaign and it is not at all unlikely that the leaders will be called upon to explain what became of the big slush fund placed at their disposal all over the country.

There is now before the New York legislature a resolution demanding that such an investigation be made. Should this work be undertaken it will furnish plenty of food for political promoters and will probably show up men within both of the dominant parties who have been using this money to force leaders to support the dry tails of their political kites. The Anti-Saloon league has worked along nonpartisan lines and has spread its propaganda into the ranks of all parties. To accomplish this immense amounts of money have been expended.

The New York legislature will look into this business, it is said, and Governor Edwards is one of the supporters of that movement. Edwards' followers are said to be intensely interested in the movement and should such an investigation be started there will be plenty of campaign material for the use of the wets this fall.

The Edwards movement in Nebraska has been quietly promoted but it has the backing of well known men within the party who have been leaders in all big movements. It is believed the Edwards petition will be filed the middle of next week.

the people most affected by such action should have been consulted. If they could not have brick they had a right to make some suggestions about what they were to buy as a substitute. The whole business looks awfully rotten to the men who have been making a fight for more good roads, and is an insult to the taxpayers of the county."

Mr. Towl, head of the Allied Contractors, is quoted as saying his company has already spent $60,000 for equipment to build these roads. If that statement is true an insight may be had into the profits his concern expects to reap. It is a new venture for this concern, recently incorporated. From all indications there has been some very questionable inside work done in connection with the letting of these contracts.

This "bitulithic" pavement in the patent of an eastern man, who takes a royalty on every yard of it that is laid. This patented pavement is not a desirable one except under the most favorable conditions, and has been barred from most of the large cities of the country. It comes in two grades and there is nothing in the specifications that is going to prevent the contractor from putting down the very cheapest material he can buy for this work.

Although the temporary injunction will be heard early next week it is not believed it will get very far unless some other line of action is taken. It will give politicians plenty of campaign material, however, and at least two members of the county board who are candidates for reelection will probably have plenty of opportunity to explain their actions in connection with the letting of these contracts during the coming campaign.

New Parisian Fad.

There is a new fad over in Paris—that of the carrying of charming French dolls instead of dogs. At the Claridge recently was a very attractive doll, dressed exactly like the girl who was carrying it. All the women were in ecstasies over it. There is also a new bracelet quite popular in Paris, of tortoise, inlaid with pearl, and really quite beautiful. Ankle bracelets are seen now and then, and one also sees a watch in the same place once in awhile.

Painter's Fame Came Slowly.
August Renoir, seventy-eight years old, the famous French impressionist, died recently at Cagnes, France, on the day that his picture of the Pont Neff fetched 100,000 francs at an art sale. In his youth he often paid for his dinner with a picture. Renoir was one of the first of the impressionists. He worked to the last, and died with his palette in his hands. "I feel I am just beginning to know my trade," he said when he was well over seventy.

FRANK FUNNY FINNEY. AT THE GAYETY

That famous organization, "The Bostonians," come to the Gayety theater tomorrow matinee for a week's engagement, prepared to offer something unusually attractive in the way of diversion. The vehicle which will be presented was written by the comedian-star of the company, Frank Finney, and is entitled "From Here to Shanghai." It is characterized as a "Musical Chop Suey," and consists of two acts with a prologue and is in six scenes. The prologue shows the rear end of an observation car on its way from Washington. Three secret service men are versing about the government's efforts to stamp out the opium traffic, an effort in which they are engaged. The conversation shows that they suspect a woman on board the train to know something about the whereabouts of a plate taken from China upon which is engraved the secret formula for making opium. They believe that the only way to effectually stamp out the traffic is by destroying the plate and their efforts are to obtain possession of it. The plate proves most elusive and many complications are encountered before the secret service men get any definite idea of its whereabouts. The scene finally shifts to China where the principal comedians are shown landing from an aeroplane in a Chinese graveyard. They destroy tombstones of some of the ancestors which angers the Chinese who rise up against the foreign devils. In the end all the characters escape from their plight, the plate is found and the various complications straightened out. The book is strong in comedy and Mr. Finney, who has the chief comedy role, is supported by Phil Ott, a former co-worker of past seasons; Jack Witts, a good character man; Don Trent, juvenile; Nettie Nelson, leading woman; Boots Carlyle and Lulu Beeson, both of whom are on the prima donna order, and Flo Radcliff, an ingenue soubrette. The music for the production was written by Harry L. Alford and there is a beauty chorus of class and ability to interpret the many fine numbers. Ladies' dime matinee daily all week, starting Monday. The Sunday matinee begins at 3:00.

AT THE BRANDEIS.

"The Children of the Sun."

What is said to be the best all colored theatrical organization now touring the country is "The Smarter Set," and headed by the well known comedians, Salem Tutt Whitney and J. Homer Tutt, comes to the Brandeis Friday, Saturday, Sunday and Monday, with matinees Saturday and Sunday. It presents a new and original musical comedy entitled "The Children of the Sun," adapted from the historical book of the same title by George Wells Parker. These Afro-American thespians succeed the "Smarter Set," which has played here annually for the past ten seasons, and, if one is to judge by the favorable press notices given this organization throughout the country, there can be no doubt as to the character of the entertainment that will be furnished by "The Smarter Set."

Salem Tutt Whitney and J. Homer Tutt, who head the company, are ably assisted by a cast of colored players who form a distinctive set, comprising singers, dancers and comedians. This year's company is a decided improvement over "The Smarter Set," which held first place among the colored traveling troupes of this country.

"Tiger! Tiger!"

So many unusual features are attendant upon the engagement of Frances Starr at the Brandeis, for two nights, Tuesday and Wednesday, March 17 and 18, as to make it the most notable dramatic event David Belasco has sent to Omaha in a very long time.

Miss Starr's remarkable play, "Tiger! Tiger!" seen here for the first time, comes to Omaha following its triumphant run all last season at the Belasco theater, New York, where its sensational success made it the most talked about play in recent years. "Tiger! Tiger!" was written by Captain Edward Knoblock while he was fighting the cause of the allies in the trenches in France. He is the author of many successful plays, including "Kismet" for Otis Skinner, "The Faun" for William Faversham, and "Marie-Odile," Miss Starr's former success, and "Milestones."

Miss Starr's leading players include such established artists as Lionel Atwill, Frederick Lloyd, Wallace Erskine, Whitford Kane, Edwin Denison, Thomas Loudon, Mary Moore, Daisy Belmore and Helen Andrews. A holiday matinee will be given St. Patrick's Day, Wednesday.

EMPRESS ATTRACTIONS

Tom Brown's Musical Highlanders, one of the leading Scotch musical acts, now appearing in vaudeville, produced and presented by Tom Brown, originator of "The Six Brown Brothers," now a feature in Fred Stone's "Jack O'Lantern," comes as the stellar attraction of the show opening at the Empress Sunday. The personnel of the company consists of three men and three women, thorough musicians, singers and dancers. They play over a score of brass, reed and stringed instruments, in which they feature a sextette of saxophones, a bagpipe, band, piano and violin solos and brass ensemble numbers.

One of the important attractions on the forthcoming bill will be the ludicrous farce comedy, "What Happened to Ruth," a satire in one act by George M. Resener. The supporting company is able, while the play itself is chock full of witty lines and excruciating situations, and is characterized by the rapidity with which one surprise is piled on top of another.

Roth, Mitchell and Roth promise fun and all fun in a rapid fire farce comedy, "The Wop, the Cop and the Nurse," which portrays three live characters of our everyday life. The plot is quite original and has been handled in a workmanship-like manner by the able author, Irving Roth.

The Newton Twins, graceful, sinuous and finished dancers, have an act of unusual merit. The team has fitted up the act with elaborate costumes and settings and has reaped whirlwinds of success over the circuit.

The photoplay attraction for the first half of the week will be "Shod With Fire," featuring William Russell. The story is an adaption of Harold Titus, "Bruce of Circle A," and is a charmingly romantic love song of the plains.

ORPHEUM OFFERINGS.

One of the stellar acts at the Orpheum next week is to be supplied by the Four Mortons. The other headline offering will be Homer B. Mason and Marguerite Keeler in the one-act play, "Married."

The Mortons are a famous theatrical family. Originally it was made up of Sam, Kitty, Paul and Clara. The last two named are no longer in the quartet of entertainers, but their brother and sister are now coming with Sam and Kitty in an offering called "Then and Now."

It is a smart farce that is to be presented by Mr. Mason and Miss Keeler. Their comedy was written for them by Porter Emerson Browne, one of the best known playwrights. He is best known for his extremely popular play, "A Fool There Was." His "Married" is given a very amusing presentation.

Ruth Budd, known in vaudeville as "the girl with the smile," is to contribute one of the unusual acts. She is an aerialist of the most graceful type. Her hazardous feats aloft are as pleasing to the eye as they are skillfully performed.

Florence Tempest will appear to advantage in the skit, "Tumble in Love." Formerly she was seen in a musical offering presented with a cast of ten people. Assisted by Alton and Allen, with George Harriss at the piano, she presents a series of carefully staged songs and dances.

Introducing their own exclusive compositions, Lyons and Yocco are to offer a pleasing musical act. Their harp, their violin and their singing voice make a charming combination.

Prevost and Goulet are to offer a vaudeville melange. Their act is made up of theatrical bits entertainingly blended. It is a diverting skit cleverly presented.

Gertrude Clegg is recognized as the champion cyclist of the world. She is to appear with Mortimer MacRae in an exhibition that includes daring feats as well as much grace and comedy.

Once more interesting and humorous paragraphs taken from the newspapers will be shown as a screen feature in "Topics of the Day." Kinograms will picture the latest and most conspicuous news events.
