CITIZENS TAUGHT MANY LESSONS DURING "KNOW OMAHA WEEK"

Splendid Publicity Given City By The Press, Pulpit And General Public This Week

PEOPLE LEARN TO KNOW THEIR CITY

Statistics Prepared By Chamber Of Commerce Show Nebraska Metropolis In Lime Light—Business Men Get Together To Boost City—Prospects For Present Year Most Encouraging—Recent Business Failures No Criterion.

Time in closing in on "Know Omaha" week which has resulted in our citizens learning to know and to love Omaha, our home city. Wonderful co-operation has been given the Chamber of Commerce by the press, pulpit and the general public. One of the features of the present educational campaign was a little pamphlet gotten out by the publicity department of the commerce bureau. It gives a splendid idea of just what Omaha is and what it hopes to be in the not far distant future. The booklet points out 101 salient facts from which we quote the following:

Omaha's population, as shown by the federal estimate of July, 1924, is 208,025, an increase of 16,424 over the federal census of 1920.

Omaha is nearer than any other large city to the geographical center of the United States.

Omaha is 1,123 feet above sea level.

Omaha's average annual rainfall is 29.35 inches.

Omaha's average annual temperature is 50 degrees.

Seventy-six per cent of Omaha's population is native born white; 18.4 per cent are foreign born white, and 5.6 per cent, colored.

Omaha is fourth railroad center in the United States, the hub of ten trunk railroad lines with a total of 68,000 miles of rails radiating in all directions. More than 100 mail trains enter Omaha daily.

Omaha is the headquarters of the Union Pacific Railroad System and of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy and Chicago & North Western railroads west of the Missouri river.

Omaha is located on fifteen national and interstate highways and is the meeting place of three great national highways.

Omaha is second largest live stock packing center in the United States. Omaha's packing plants produce more than $540,000 worth of products a day. They employ 14,000 persons and in 1924 consumed more than 5,500,000 head of livestock, or 65 per cent of the Omaha market's receipts.

Omaha is the second largest live stock market in the United States, 8,697,690 head of live stock being received in 1924—nearly 24,000 head a day.

The Omaha live stock market pays more than $600,000 a day for live stock received.

More than 25 states ship to the Omaha live stock market.

Live stock receipts of the Omaha market have grown nearly 30 per cent in the past ten years.

More than 76,000,000 bushels of grain were received in Omaha in 1924, an average of more than 200,000 bushels a day.

Omaha is the largest primary grain market in the United States and the third corn market.

The Omaha Grain Exchange has more than a score of terminal elevators with a total capacity of more than 11,000,000 bushels.

Omaha is twenty-first city in bank clearings although thirty-fourth in population.

Omaha has twenty-four banks and trusts companies and twelve building and loan associations.

Omaha has one of the largest building and loan associations in the United States.

SCHAEFER'S GREAT CUE VICTORY THE LEADING SPORT EVENT OF THE WEEK

Famous Son Of A Famous Father Eliminates All Competition—Hoppe's Marital Troubles Has Been Against Him—Buffaloes In South Preparing For Coming Baseball Campaign—Coffman's Defeat A Sad Blow To Boys Ambitions.

Nurmi has proven himself the champion of champions so far as running races are concerned. He has the fastest set of legs in the world. At that his performance pales into insignificance when one considers the newest of champions in an altogether different field.

We refer to young Jake Schaefer who this week wrestled the world's 18-2 balk line billiard championship from the perennial champion, Willie Hoppe and beat Horenans who has gained a reputation as being the greatest masseur of all time.

Jake who is greater even than his father with the ivory set several worlds records during the tournament just closed. The most outstanding being his high run of 295 in one inning. Another unparalleled cue feat was the remarkable average of 57.14 for the tournament. A record which may never again be duplicated.

The defeat of Hoppe was almost as sad as was the victory of Schaefer glorious. Willie who started playing billiards at the age of six when his dad had to furnish him a high chair in order to reach the cushions became worlds champion long before he could vote. He seems to have lost his velvety touch when his wife started on a rampage which eventually ended in divorce. His condition however has nothing to do with the glorious record established by the young Chicago wizard as Jake beat them all to a frazzle including the great Horenans.

The winter stove league will soon be disbanded and the members will then be out on Barney Burch's lot whooping it up for "our people". Recruits are already down in Nacogdoches, Texas getting the kinks out of their system that may show their stuff in order to get a regular berth on the Red's 1925.

Within the next two weeks the regulars will be on the job in an attempt to keep their old positions. This is going to be some job this year as Barney has much promising material this year among the rookies that may develop to such an extent that they will replace some of the regulars.

It looks like Burch has made a ten strike in picking up Art Swartz and taking him south with the idea of making him a regular catcher. The Lord knows the Buffaloes need one more good receiver and every mother's son in Omaha believes that Art will make good as he has all the earmarks of a real comer.

It was a sad day for Loyal Coffman when the tough and hard hitting Dale of Grand Island knocked the local hero for the count and then some at the Athletic club show the other night. It was Loyal's first defeat and while it set him back a bit he lost little if any of his popularity among Omaha fight fans or promoters and the youngster may rest rest assured he will be welcome in any fight here he may wish to enter.

Hurrah for Ken Sciple, king pin of the king pinners. Ken didn't do a thing but roll a perfect score last Tuesday night at the Recreation alleys. This is the third time this most accurate "shooter" has made a perfect bowling score but it is first time he has ever bowled 300 in a league game. Boys their is a mark to shoot at. Go to it and work fast as the season will soon be at an end.

Omaha has more than 600 factories producing $328,000,000 worth of products annually—more than $1,000,000 a day. They employ 34,420 persons, and paid $54,584,000 in wages in 1924.

THAT "LAST CHANCE."

The "last chance" is the nickname given a place near Twenty-fourth and Davenport streets, operated by a woman named Helen. It is the "last chance" for young girls who have got it wrong. The woman who operates the joint calls it a "home for girls" at so much the girl.

On the side she operates a high-class bootlegging joint, where the girls play regularly and meet their friends. Helen is said to be one of the gentlest women, so interested in Omaha's welfare, referred to recently in a communication to The Mediator as "that noble woman."

In the very near future full publicity will be given to this wonderful girl's home, with all details and names. It sure will make wonderful reading.

BUCKNER WOULD CLOSE N. Y. CAFES

Now comes a sort of lunatic from the wilds of Nebraska who busts into New York as United States attorney and claims he is going to close all the leading cafes of that great city because he has heard that some of the people who patronize the various high class restaurants and cabarets are wont to take a drink on divers occasions.

A press dispatch from the metropolis carries this interesting item:

Mr. Buckner's drive is the most drastic in the history of the city, and if successful, will considerably dim the luster of the lights of New York's great white way. The fashionable and expensive supper clubs and night life resorts against which he already has sought padlock injunctions are the Beaux Arts restaurant, Club Moritz, Club Borga, Club Mirador, Club Desauville, Colony restaurant, El Fey Club, Lido-Venice, Meadowbrook restaurant, Monte Carlo, Mouquin's restaurant, Piping Rock restaurant, Restaurant Crillon and the Restaurant L'Aiglon.

This is fair sample of what this country is coming to under the Eighteenth Amendment.

SCHOOL BOARD MAKES SPLENDID DECISION

Every once in a while the board of education does something worth while. This was exemplified last Monday night when they made that veteran, Harry Lawler, architect in chief for the new school building program. The group architect plan appears to be ideal and will no doubt work out to the great advantage of Omaha.

While the original suggestion that John Latenser have charge of the entire program was not particularly a bad one as he is very efficient, the new arrangement is the better and gives different firms an opportunity to get a part of the business which legitimately belongs to them.

THE BYRNE-HAMMER PURCHASE OF M. E. SMITH CO. MAY BE BLESSING IN DISGUISE

Able To Compete With Chicago And Other Centers.

Will Result In Adding New Trade Territory To Omaha—Most Employees To Be Retained.

A great deal of comment, favorable and unfavorable concerning the sale of the M. E. Smith Dry Goods Company to the Byrne-Hammer interests has been noted since the sale was finally consummated. Both sides to the arguments have their good points to present the public.

The Mediator has taken more than usual interest in the sale and after considerable thought believes that in this particular instance the Omaha Bee is not altogether right in its contentions, though we feel they are generally right about 99 per cent of the time.

This is an age of big business, of consolidations, of the elimination of competition if you please. In spite of all that is said and done the American public in general is more prosperous than ever and we believe because of the fact that big business has grown bigger through combinations and united efforts. Recognizing the fact that a certain amount of competition is necessary to the welfare of any community there are other conditions that overcome any argument that may be brought to bear on the subject.

First of all the Byrne-Hammer interests are loyal to Omaha and believe that they can serve the trade territory better than all other competitors. To add

TOM QUINLAN who leaves the retail game to enter the real estate field.

JUDGE NEBLE JR. TELLS ITALIANS WHERE TO GET OFF

A reporter for a local paper tells an interesting story concerning a lecture and jail sentence imposed by Judge Sophus Neble, Jr. on Yano Salerno a prominent member of the Little Italy colony. Quoting the judge as gleaned from the writers article, the jurist said:

"Since when have you people become so frightened when you hear of a stool pigeon being in the neighborhood that you must assault them?" exclaimed the judge. "Are you afraid of stool pigeons? It's high time the courts take a stand and show you who is running the laws of this country."

"Any man has a right to go into your neighborhood, or any other neighborhood without having to give an account of himself to people who are afraid of stool pigeons."

In sentencing Salerno to jail Judge Neble added, "and I hope you stay there."

Salerno had only started to tell the court he suspected Delamere of being a prowler when the judge halted him. "Stop!" interposed Judge Neble. "I'm not going to listen to any testimony. This man tells a straight forward story. He appears to be a respectable citizen and was working in a civic cause."

"Even if he was a stool pigeon, what are you afraid of?" demanded the judge, turning to Salerno. "Are you bootlegging?"

BANDITS GETTING BOLD

Young hootch ridden bandits are getting bolder and bolder every day. Just last night two young would be bad men held up Harry White and Edward at the point of their gun and stole their car though they did not take their wallet. The gun men very deliberately drove off assuring the victims they would find their car two or three hundred miles from Omaha.

Bakery products manufactured in Omaha in a year are valued at more than $3,000,000.

Popular Tom Quinlan Accepts New Position

After 30 Years As Merchandise Man Enters The Real Estate Field.

When Tom Quinlan resigned from the general management of the Brandeis store early this week thousands of present and former employees of that great institution felt that they had lost one of the best friends in the world.

Tom has a method of making everlasting friends that should be copyrighted as there is no one else or if any, they are scarce and far between, who have the knack of cementing friendships that nothing can separate.

Mr. Quinlan without doubt has a wider personal acquaintance than any other man in the city. He was for many years connected with Hayden Brothers and during that time made close friendship with the Haydens, especially Joseph, which only ended with the death of that princely man.

Later Mr. Quinlan became associated with the Brandeis interests and for the past twelve years has been their general manager. Tom during all these long years had a knack of smoothing the ruffled ire of patron and clerk alike. When some argument arose between employee and patron he found a way to satisfy both and usually to show them that their differences were of very minor importance and that both were right.

His new connection with the Metcalf company, realtors, as vice president means a great deal to himself as well as to the company. 209 thousand Omahans wish him every success in the world.

INTERESTING LETTER COMES ABOUT GRADY

A writer in no uncertain manner defends a man who has become famous as bootlegger at Sixteenth and Nicholas street. The letter written in a precarious hand, without regard for grammar or spelling, and is a gem of the literary art. It follows:

"In regards to Mr. Grady I am not a interested party—But I have been eating in this place for five years and I have never seen him sell whiskey. But he sure appreciate your efforts and kindness to him in advertising his business With he tells he had a gain of 75%, he hopes you will continue add. He said to me that you was a wonderful man to help him in his business.

He has giving the help more money so that is nice of you. I sure believe in good adds.

Yours truly,
If this party will call he will sure be accommodated with an offer by The Mediator. His letter is interesting, if true, to say the least.

MOVIE STARS MOVE ON TO DES MOINES IN BARRELS

It was tough that the movie star colony had to leave Omaha with a sour taste in their stomach and nothing but a powder puff in their pocket book as a substitute for mazzinas. They fared no worse here than in other places. It was simply a misguided venture. At that several hundred boys and girls got a thrill out of dancing with their screen heroes and heroines.

MABEL REFLOW, Gayety Star

AT LAST WE ARE TO HAVE A REAL VICE PRESIDENT

At last we have a vice president who will be long remembered after he is out of office. Charley Dawes our new Senate head is going to stir things up in that staid body in such manner that the country as well as the senate is sure to take notice.

If he follows the program of Hell and Maria that he has already started there is little doubt that he will be our next president. He is made out of the right stuff and may be depended on to start a heap 'o things during the next session of congress that will be of material benefit to the country.

COURT SAYS OFFICERS MAY NOW SEARCH WITHOUT WARRANT

Chief Justice Holds That Federal Dicks May Search Autos and Sieze Occupants on Suspicion

PEDESTRIANS MAY SOON BE SEARCHED

Anti-Saloon League Agents In Outragious Effort To Completely Nullify Fourth Amendment—Sure To Make A Test Case Of Right To Search Pedestrians Soon—Well Informed Men Say All Personal Liberty Lost To Individuals.

The United States supreme court has ruled that it is perfectly lawful for any enforcement agent of the government to hold up an automobile or any other vehicle at the point of a gun if necessary and search the occupants for liquor. Such a decision is sure to bring about another one which will permit any such agent to stop a pedestrian on the street and search him at any time or at any place without a warrant.

The ruling of the supreme court simply means that any agent or alleged agent of the government may stop on the street at any time without the slightest reason (if they should happen to have it in for you) and search your person without a comeback on your part. It is evident from the ruling that the last vestige of personal rights and personal protection has been taken away from the individual and turned over to the government.

Citizens of Omaha and elsewhere may as well make up their minds that they no longer be safe on the streets from search and seizure for just as sure as day follows the ruling of judge Taft and his associates will soon be construed to mean that the pedestrian is no more free from such procedure than is the autoist.

If it means anything it means that any enforcement officer may with impunity stop any man or woman on the street, search them and in case of a lady, may if they deem it expedient, look for liquor even if they have to go to the extent of taking off their outer clothing and prowl their persons. As most enforcement officers are little if any better than the average man of the street it is easily conjectured that such men will take advantage of their official position to force their welcome, unmanly and lustful will on many innocent feminine victims which will result in rape and other crimes and the perpetrators be fully protected by the law.

This paper, week in and week out, year in and year out, has preached the gospel, that if the Anti-saloon league grafters were allowed full sway they would eventually insist that every single constitutional rights of American citizens be taken away from them. Such has been proven beyond the pre-adventure of a doubt, by the latest ruling of the supreme court.

The recent ruling was the final judgement of the supreme law of the land. The following results can not help but prevail if the government hirelings wish to enforce the law to the letter:

You can with impunity be held up by an officer of the law exactly as a holdup man would stop you. If they find no incriminating evidence it makes no difference, they are protected by the new ruling and may go scott free. You have no come back and in the case of grafting evidence men of which there are all too many, you may be assured that you and your family are in for a penitentiary sentence unless you are willing to bribe them for an offense which you no doubt never committed.

Take for a single instance the work of a few of the well known government and county grafters who live by their wits, as smart cheaters. How easy it would be for them to "lawfully" plant a bottle of hootch in your car or on your person, then have you arrested with only their dirty unprincipled testimony for co-oberation.

It is commonly asserted that certain county officials and is even alleged that minor government evidence men have stooped so low as to "frame" on certain men by the uncouth, the unchristian and the unmanly method of awaiting their capture. (Continued on page 3)

COOLIDGE, NOW PRESIDENT IN OWN RIGHT TO INSIST ON ECONOMY PROGRAM

Elaborate Ceremonies Marked By Coolidge Simplicity—New President's Regime To Be Marked By Four Years Of Prosperity According To Most Business Men—Substantial Reduction In Taxes Seen—May Prove A Real Leader.

Calvin Coolidge is now president in his own right after the rather simple inauguration ceremonies of last Wednesday. The American people were most impressed by the fact that the president actually carried into execution his promise of strict economy in his own eventful inauguration. The more or less simple ceremonies that marked the all important event proved to thinking people that Coolidge meant just what he said when he told congress they must have straight to the line of constructive economy.

While the president was taking the affair as a matter of course and making no undue display, the public in general was celebrating the event with such a lavish display of outlandish expenditure of money that the economy of the president was altogether overshadowed and discounted by those who saw or read of the inauguration.

Coolidge was elected by the greatest majority ever given a presidential candidate and largely because of his promise to pursue a line of economy and a tax reduction program. Up to date he has given no reason to the public for losing faith in his solemn pre-election promises. But he can not carry out the program he has outlined unless he has the undivided support of congress and the American public.

It is apparent that the general public is not so anxious for strict economy as is the president. They, the public, as represented by the dignitaries who attended the inaugural spent hundreds of thousands of dollars against the wishes of the president. Among others present were governors and their coterie of friends including Governor and Mrs. McMullen of Nebraska who took a prominent part in the social affairs of the day including the inaugural ball.

Coolidge comes into the presidency in his own right under most auspicious circumstances. First, the only period of real prosperity the country has known since 1918 is slowly dawning on the horizon and bids fair to be in full bloom before the end of the year and to continue for several years to come.

Added to the general feeling that business men, farmers and public in general are to share in an area of unequalled prosperity is the thought that if the president's policies are carried out to the letter that taxes will be materially reduced all along the line. If by example the administration is able to convince state and city governments the thing to do from an economy standpoint is to follow suit, we are sure to be in for four years of healthy prosperity.

The actually swearing in of the president was one of the most solemn in the nation's history made doubly so by the fact that his aged father had brought the old family bible, rusty with age, which was used by the chief justice of the United States in administering the oath of office.

Being made the chief executive of the United States is an honor far greater than that ever bestowed on the mightiest potentate of any foreign land, so it is with little wonder that our presidents feel the burden of office.

WISE FARMERS NOW CASHING IN ON THEIR "HOLD OUT" HOGS

Wise farmers who had the good judgement to hold their hogs for the March market are cashing in on their good judgement. Thursday the lucky ones received $13.30 top for their porkers. Ham and eggs will be higher now but who cares so long as the producer is finally coming into his own.

CONCERNING THE TWENTIETH AMENDMENT

Women backing the twentieth amendment to the constitution, removing inequalities which are statutory in some of the states, are ready for an active campaign to get the amendment out of congress under Republican control.

We are trying in this state to get a law limiting the hours of work for women. The effort is not to get a federal law, but to give the women of this state a protection which many citizens believe is socially needed. The state could not have such a law if the twentieth amendment were a part of the federal constitution. It would recognize an inequality between men and women.

There is an inequality. It is in the life of the family. Laws or rules may recognize it, but cannot change it. Corporations, this one included, make provisions for the woman employee who is to become a mother. Child bearing is not allowed to be a bar to the woman's work in helping support the family if there is need of it. She is granted the time which motherhood requires and liberal employers give this time with pay. Such laws as the forty-eight hour law for women consider the child bearing function of women and in that respect are protective for the good of the state.

There are states which are well advanced along the social theory. There are others which retain laws reflecting old ideas of inferiority and dependence. Women resent statutes which deal with them as if they were incompetents and as if marriage gave property rights over them.

Backward states are fairly certain to make corrections of these antiquated laws. Women are voters in all the states and they have the political remedy at home. They can use their votes to eliminate laws which are inequitable and they will not thus close the way to discriminating laws which, for the good of women, of the family, and of the state, recognize that there are differences and inequalities and that men and women do not stand on equal footing in the stress and necessities of life.

PAT CROWE IS "DOWN AND OUT"

Pat Crowe sought the country over twenty-five years ago for kidnapping Eddie Cudahy, Jr., son of the Omaha millionaire meat packer, is 'down and out,' living in a rescue home in Newark, N. J., the victim of strong drink which he says downed him after an evangelist's career.

Crowe was lodged in jail Sunday night, on the charge of failing to pay a printer for 3 thousand copies of a pamphlet, giving history of his life. He was released when George A. Simons, superintendent of a rescue home, paid the $72 bill and Crowe gave him a sixty-day note for the amount.

A museum and art gallery is maintained on one floor of the public library, and a new $3,000,000 museum and arts building is promised for the near future.

Omaha is one of the first four cities in the United States in home ownership.

Omaha spent nearly $13,000,000 in 1924 for new homes and buildings. There were 1,741 new homes built in Omaha in 1924.

Omaha has 183 churches and missions with a membership of 85,000 people and 27,000 children enrolled in bible schools.

MABEL'S RAIN SHED

A trick umbrella which is the proud possession of Mabel Reflow, the leading woman with Harry Stepp, the leading man with Harry Stepp, at the popular Gayety theatre next week brought about considerable discussion when the hollow handle gave forth a variety of women's fixings from a vanity case to a shoe buttoner, and lead some of the show people to comment on the many uses an umbrella can be put to. One of the visitors remarked that she found an umbrella to be one of the handiest clothes-horses that has ever been invented.

Another one said the best use she found was to scare the rain away, for every time that she carried one, Old Jupiter Pluvius hid his head in shame. Another of the show girls told of a sight she had seen out West where one of these water sheds has been opened up, planted in the mud and used as a trellis to train morning glories on. "There is still another use for an umbrella," commented Miss Reflow, who said that she had heard that they are excellent means to guide erring husbands who once in a while need a whack over the head, "but," she added "it has never been my privilege to try out any umbrella of mine in this direction".

THE SQUARE DEAL

GIVE us a "Square Deal" used to be the cry of one class alone—the employee. Now it is the cry of the entire American public, the great mass of people that constitute the most democratic of commonwealths in the world. The clerk, the employer, the tradesman, the trainman, the banker, the blacksmith, the manufacturer and the merchant are all joined in the common cause. The entire American people want a Square Deal and they are entitled to it.

It is good to look at the Square Deal, to see just what it is. To begin, it is nothing new. The principle of the Square Deal was taught ages ago by the Savior in His words, "do unto others as you would that they should do unto you." All religion, however different in doctrine, rest upon that principle. All right, all human behavior is judged by it as a standard. The Square Deal is no idle dream—it is the foundation of solid granite upon which our national life must be built.

Employers are not hard, as a class; employees are not unreasonable, as a class. It is the agitator, the troublemaker who incites jealousy, envy and lust, and the Square Deal is forgotten. Labor should not forget that the agitator owes his living to the false circumstances he can bring about. His is a business of trouble-making—the more trouble he stirs up, the greater his pay.

It is good to remember that we are all men created in the image of God. To some is vouchsafed more ability than to others, more of skill than to others, more of thrift than to others.

Inequalities can be provided for to the end that all are adequately remunerated for the labor they perform. The Square Deal is the remedy—but, first, as it takes two to make a bargain so does it takes two to make the Square Deal. Mutual appreciation between employer and employee is entirely possible if both parties observe the Square Deal and do to the other fellow as he wishes the other fellow to do unto him. When this is done we shall have the Square Deal—not before.

portunity to place a bottle of alleged hooch or alcohol in a car in order to get a conviction they, the perpetrators of the deed would be glorified and eventually paid by those in authority for the dastardly act.

While there is no ruling to the effect that officers may search pedestrians without warrant at this time there can be no doubt that the "auto seizure" case will be cited by some one who will have brought a "pedestrian seizure" case before the supreme court.

Meanwhile the man or woman using his legs as a method of locomotion is free from search for the time being but how long this last liberty of mankind will prevail no one knows.

BEBE DANIELS MOBBED BY CROWD IN THE ARGENTINE - FOR MOVIES

Featured With Ricardo Cortez In Allan Dwan-Paramount Production, "Argentine Love," By Blasco Ibanez.

Bebe Daniels knows now what it feels like to be captured and roughly handled by a mob, and she doesn't like it.

In her latest Paramount picture, "Argentine Love," made under Allan Dwan's direction, Miss Daniels is set upon by an infuriated mob, led and incited by a jealous rival and the father of a boy who had been killed in aquarrel over Bebe's love.

The scenes depicting the rising fury of the angry, threatening mob were rehearsed thoroughly during an entire morning, until the eager extras imagined they had an actual grievance against Miss Daniels. As the noon hour approached, and the hard-working extras began to feel the pangs of hunger, they began to warm to their jobs and handled the little star with effective violence. She was rushed off her feet repeatedly, her arms were bruised and scratched, her clothes gradually gave way under the onslaught and she was altogether in a sorry state.

However, the action reaches its climax in a scene where she is dragged through the town square, tied to a cart and flogged, this being a form of punishment meted out, according to an old Spanish custom. There was sufficient realism put into this episode to please even the exacting Allan Dwan.

An index of Miss Daniels' battle scars when the scenes were completed, included rope-burned wrists, welts on her back, and a miscellaneous collection of black and blue marks, scratches and bruises. Her costume was a total wreck.

—and yet they say the life of a movie star is the biggest cinch ever. Just let Bebe hear you say that!

"Argentine Love," adapted for the screen by John Russell from the original story by Vincent Blasco Ibanez, opens a seven days' run next Sunday at the Strand theatre. It includes in a very capable cast James Rennie, Mario Majeroni, Aurelio Coccia, Russ Whitall, Alice Chaplin, Julia Hurley and Mark Gonzales. Gerald Duffy wrote the scenario.

HARRY STEPPE, "THE BOY ACTOR"

Who is known far and near as "The Banana King." His fun making methods are not unlike those of the beloved Ben Welch when he was at his best. Harry is bringing his own big show to the popular Gayety for two daily frolics all week starting with Sunday's matinee at 3:00.

In a novel comedy act called "Friday the 13th." In this laughable interlude a bride and groom find Friday the 13th a great day for heated arguments.

There is plenty of opportunity for for laughter in the act to be offered by Harry and Harriet Seebach called "Fun in a Gym". Harry Seebach is the holder of the Richard K. Fox medal as champion bag puncher of the world but this element is only one of the many surprises introduced.

Sam Armstrong and Mabel Blondell call their act "From Hollywood" in which song and shatter is combined with piano and banjo numbers. In "Hoops My Dear" the 4 Nelsons offer a fast and snappy routine of novelty juggling. It is an act somewhat different than the average attraction of this sort.

Arthur Hays introduces another organ originality. Viola Dana in "The Beauty Prize" is the photoplay feature.

SOUTHERN PINE GROWING SCARGER EACH YEAR

Secretary-Manager H. C. Berckes of the Southern Pine Association, has just issued the following statement concerning the assured perpetual supply of Southern pine, based upon a lumber production and timber surmaded during the past year by the Association:

"In an effort to determine accurately the extent of remaining timber stands in the Southern pine producing territory, from North Carolina to Texas, the Southern Pine Association undertook, about a year ago, a detailed survey of the field, the second it has made in the last five years.

"The results of this 'census of the trees' have now been tabulated with sufficient completeness to enable us to announce the general conclusions arrived at, not only with regard to the present forest area, but also the volume of lumber production that may be expected from this territory in future years.

Miss Lamar answers questions of all sorts with an ease and rapidity that will cause much comment. She invites people to bring their questions sealed to the theatre so as to preclude the possibility of any trickery.

The mentalist is said to give a most entertaining performance combining mystery with sensationalism and laughter.

Much interest is attached to the appearance here of the Maryon Vadie Dancers, the cast with but one exception being all Nebraska girls. Two of the young women, Katherine Gallagher and Katherine Benson, are well known Omaha girls, former students of Tech. High School.

The Misses Knox, Baker and Scribner are Betty Scribner and Marie Kay is de-famous from Lincoln. The act which features a series of dance poems.

The offering is making a nation wide tour and has been acclaimed by critics as one of the most beautiful acts of its kind in vaudeville.

Joe Kennedy and Ray Martin impersonate a colored boy and his girl.

These questions have been asked so many times that it seems only fair they should be answered by an authority.

As to the first, the answer has probably been guessed already. But if it should happen that the reader is not one of the 56,000,000 mentioned above why—he is none other than Harold Bell Wright.

It is only fair that the other questions should be answered by the highest authority and none could be higher than a blood relation. Hildegard Hawthorne is such and of Harold Bell Wright, whose book, "The Re-creation of Brian Kent," has just been translated to the screen by Principal Pictures Corporation and will be seen at the Rialto theatre, starting Sunday for a run of seven days, she has this to say:

"A real man, a hard worker, a man of intense convictions and of a compelling humanity. A man who has known the hard and lonely ways of life and come thru them sound to the core. A man capable of stirring and lasting friendships, loving the beauty of nature under her wildest and sternest aspects, an out-door man.

"Those who meet Harold Bell Wright today see a man who has regained physical vigor and who is happy in his work and in his play. Tall and slender, he moves with an unusual grace and sureness, and no cowboy sits on his horse with a more consummate ease, nor takes his mount over wilder country with completer disregard of trails or possibility.

"About his eyes are wrinkles of the outdoor man, the man who lives in the vast places of nature, whether of sea or desert or mountain. They are dark, brilliant eyes that meet your own squarely, set in a long, slender face under a fine forehead. The dark hair is thick and but slightly touched with gray, the mouth sensitive and humorous.

"There is something keen and alert to the whole man, a quickness of response, a quality of aliveness. His hands are the hands of an artist and his delight in beauty, whether in nature or art, is the artist's delight. He has distinction.

"Wright is temperamentally a silent man, but he can talk when something rouses him with no little eloquence. He enjoys his friends with a great and wholesouled affection, a something boylike on his fresh charm and there is no more delightful host."

NOTED WRITER PRAISES WRIGHT

Hildegard Hawthorne Tells Of Author of "The Re-creation Of Brian Kent."

Who is this writer who has a following of over 56,000,000 readers? What is the appearance of this author whose books have a circulation so great the Literary Digest takes occasion to mention that they are unsurpassed by that of any works except the Bible? How is it that this author is able to hold such phenomenal reader interest?

WATCH YOUR (HARRY) STEPPE

He Comes To The Gayety Sunday With Wonderful Entertainment—Methods Resemble Ben Welch's.

Bubbling and buoyant comedy, a host of pretty girls and elaborate scenic effects are features of excellence that will be found in the presentation of Harry Steppe and His Big Show which comes to the popular Gayety theatre starting Sunday matinee. This will be a typical Columbia Burlesque.

Eleven changes of scenery are offered by this magnificent production which has been staged by Cain & Devenport, each unfolding novel mechanical as well as artistic effects. Added to this is a bewildering array of special costumes to enhance the beauty of every set. Sixteen musical numbers, each specially written by foremost composers of harmony and lyrics and staged with an eye and ear to tunefulness and grace offer an inspiring background for a talented company of principals and choristers.

Harry Steppe heads the pretentious array of funmakers. He is too well known as a delightful delineator of Hebrew comedy roles to need further comment here. His chief assistant in laugh getting is Harry O'Neil, seen prominently in big time vaudeville. Still another comic is Vic Casmore in French and Italian character roles. Others who will do their part in provoking the merriment are Rube Wall-man, the whistler; George Rose, a jaunty juvenile and Solly Hite, dancer and character man of great versatility.

Mabel Reflow, who adds her own special touch to the ingenue parts and is a dancer with few equals has been accorded the place as woman principal, while running her a close second for the honors comes Lola Pierce who makes a specialty of singing "the blues" and jazzy jazz numbers. Others who make a delightful impression are Rose Duffin, Dorothy Golden and the Carmen Sisters, to say nothing of the especially chosen chorus of eighteen, all of whom have been specially costumed and trained to the minute in the song and numbers which they execute.

George McClennan, a dusky warbler on the clarinet and a dancer with a pair of nimble feet, deserves special mention. He was one of the featured turns on the Keith vaudeville bills last season. The Steppe Show was staged under the direction of Harry O'Neil, who with Harry Steppe is responsible for the authorship.

A brand new, long laugh will be supplied Tuesday — "Surprise Nite" Friday will be "Hosiery Nite"—dozens of pairs of fine silk hose being given free to feminine patrons. Matinee at 2:15 daily.
