JAMES H. HANLEY
FOR CONGRESSMANWell-Known Omaha Attorney After Democratic Nomination

MITHEN CIRCULATES THE PETITION

Is Splendidly Equipped by Rich Experience to Represent This District—Is Native Nebraskan—Has an En enviable Reputation as Lawyer and Man of Integrity—Plans Whirlwind Campaign.

In this issue of the Mediator you will find a striking likeness of James H. Hanley, who it may be safely predicted will be the next congressman from the second district. Petitions were recently circulated in his behalf by friends that know his sterling character and splendid worth. "Jim", as he is familiarly called by his close personal friends, has every qualification a congressman should have in addition has had long experience in congressional affairs as private secretary to former Congressman Lobeck for eight years.

That Mr. Hanley should win both the nomination and election in a walk is a patent fact as he is one of the most popular attorneys that ever practiced law in the state. He is a law partner of Mr. Hopkins, city commissioner, and enjoys an immense personal following. Hanley was born on the fourth of July about one hundred and five years after the Declaration of Independence was signed. He very early in life caught the spirit of that famous document and is known today for his many patriotic speeches as well as for his many other laudable attributes.

Now that Mr. Hanley is in the race for the nomination he will make a whirlwind campaign and as he never does anything by halves he is sure to put every ounce of energy into the work of being nominated and elected. The democratic candidate in a letter to Mr. Mithen outlined his platform as follows:

"There is an opportunity for service in Washington looking to a more frugal and simplified government; a reduction of the inequalities and burdens of taxation; the supplying of a more ready market for our surplus manufactured and agricultural products; the creation of a bank of nations; the connecting of the unemployed with needed employment; a more equitable administration of the federal reserve and farm loan acts; the enactment of substantial bonus legislation for the men who served the country in the world war; the establishing of more amicable relations and co-operation between capital and labor by means of active governmental mediation; prompt, efficient and active representation of the people of this district before the departments, bureaus and commissions of the federal government, and other important subjects that will come up from time to time. Therefore, the petitions are acceptable to me and will so notify the secretary of state.

"Thanking you and the other signers for the confidence imposed. Sincerely yours,
"JAMES H. HANLEY."

In transmitting petitions generally from all counties in the district Mr. Mithen who has been active in Mr. Hanley's behalf said in part:

"A man has to learn to be a representative to be of usefulness to his district and to his country in connection with the petitions."

OMAHA SOCIETY FOLKS CAUGHT
BY DEPUTIES IN BOOZE RAIDFive of Mike Clarke's Deputies Raid the Old Grover Farm House—
Whiskey, Highballs and Beer in Evidence—Girls Make Wild Scramble in Effort to Get Away.

Do Omaha society folk still like their drinks? Apparently yes, if the scores of young dames that were technically arrested last Saturday night by a bunch of Mike Clarke's deputies, who pounced upon the booze emporium owned and operated by Norman Cahow at Sixtieth and Grover streets, South Side.

Norman had planned and put into execution a grand opening party for his more or less famous road house, formerly known as the Old Grover farm, and had invited some of Omaha's best known citizens who responded with a right good will and were having the time of their young lives until the law descended and put a quietus on the wild jamboree.

Among those present were several telephone girls who were out only for the good time they had anticipated from dancing in the hayloft of the old barn which stands near by the house. When the deputies started proceedings the hello girls in common with several other women of higher social strata made a wild scramble for the available exits but all in vain, as the sleuths had out their mud hooks ready to take everything in sight.

One society jane from a very respectable family and who because of her family connections, we will not mention in person said to one of the arresting officers: "I can't be arrested in such a place as this"—but Mike's hired man thought differently and told her she must go to jail with the rest of the bunch.

When the deputies arrived at the joint they found several couples seated about the bar drinking high balls, whiskey and beer. Some of them were pretty well soaked up, while others who had arrived later in the evening were just beginning to feel their oats.

One young man who absolutely refused to give his name or address and who made a quick shot for the elevator as soon as he had told his story went into some details in describing the affair to a representative of the Mediator. He stressed the fact that one girl, who he described as rather tall, in her early twenties, with dark brown hair, beautiful, passionate eyes and a low sweet voice, was out to the party for strictly business purposes.

According to his statement the girl would dance a round or two with a "prospect", whisper sweet nothings into his ear, then put her arm about him and lead him to a quiet little knoll about a hundred feet from the barn where she would part him from a considerable bank roll for value supposed to be received.

After the law had descended upon the house and had corralled the hayloft revelers, they allowed the dance to go on as it was apparent that several of the couples were unaware of the fact that booze was being sold in the house. The arresting officers were not mean about it but stated they just wanted to give "representatives" of some of the best families in Omaha

BUY A POPPY SATURDAY

IF YOU ARE PATRIOTIC

Omaha has had its full share of tag days and in nearly every instance has responded nicely to the various appeals. Saturday the Veterans of Foreign Wars with the noble assistance of nearly fifteen hundred of Omaha's prominent matrons and young society girls, are to ask the good people of this city to buy poppies, all the proceeds of which are to go to care for disabled veterans and for other charitable purposes.

It is the plain duty of every man and woman in the city to buy one or several poppies and thus help the Veterans of Foreign Wars to help others in need. Start the day off right.

LEGION JAMBOREE PROVES TO BE GREAT SUCCESS

Slippery Gulch, that wicked western village which was transplanted to the Auditorium for seven days lived up to its reputation and among other things netted the Legion a neat sum of money which will go a long ways in relieving the sick and destitute among the ex-service men.

Mary Marston Kinsey was elected mayoress after a close race with Miss Hanna. Jay Dudley is the new sheriff and the bad eggs had better look out as Jay is a go-getter.

Several million dollars in Slippery

Gulch money was won and lost at the roulette tables, the crap games, and the other gamblin' games, the average loss to each player being about four bits in honest to goodness money. The Legion always meets with success in every undertaking, their latest effort being no exception.

WOODMAN CIRCLE ENTERTAINS
SCORES OF FIELD WORKERS

The annual spring council of the Woodman Circle closed last Monday after several days of interesting sessions out of which much good came for this splendid organization. Eight officers of the Supreme Executive Council were present as well as fifty field workers from all parts of the country.

At the same time the executive officers and local camps entertained more than one hundred women from all parts of the country who had been leaders in their various lodges in selling Woodman Circle insurance, during a late drive. More than six million dollars worth was sold in less than six months.

It was a busy week for the field work committee composed of Mrs. Mary E. LaRocca, Mrs. Dora Alexander Talley and Mrs. Mary Taylor, who with other officers and members royally entertained the out of town visiting members of the order.

Doings In Omaha Fifty Years Ago

Various railroads had been investigating in their own quiet way the hootch joint owned by one Grady and his wife who run the place as a restaurant at Sixteenth and Nicholas. Railroad officials said it was bad enough for their men to drink any of the stuff but if they had to drink they were at a loss to know why the men should go up against the rotten stuff that Grady peddled. Grady boasts that he has never been picked up and quietly says that he is not going to be.

The Hon. "Chick" Sullivan, Omaha's Poet Laureate and sweet singer of Jefferson Square, could be heard any balmy evening singing to the squirrels the following refrain:
Bootlegger, bootlegger how do you do,
Give me a drink of your old home brew
If I should die before I wake,
I hope the devil your soul to take.

The village constables were having a heck of a time fifty years ago today. Frank Williams and his squadron of moral sleuths would no more knock one boot limber over than another would pop up in a new place. Firminstance, there was that nice young man that had just opened up at Chris Rockholm's old place but he only sold pop and such if one was to believe everything he hears and pays no attention to what he sees.

My gosh, the town was gettin' wicked and wicked all the time.

Bad wimmin with banks in the top of their long sox were seducin' all our best business and professional men and leadin' them straight to the devil and through the lobbies of our second class hotels. The wiseacres did say that the tile floor of the Edwards was gittin' all wore out from sich, but maybe the roof just leaked and rotted the floor out.

Allen Fisher, who had always been considered the best attorney in the sand hills, had written the Mediator of a recent affliction from which he was slowly recovering. He also enclosed one of those "pay to the order of" affairs which every editor appreciates.

Judge Foster had used his hammer to hit the nail on the head when he drove home the facts concerning the selling of confiscated guns by the police department to the public, the "public" usually consisted of a bunch of hock shop owners who resold the rods to a bunch of stick-up men.

Several hundred backers of the "Fightin' Fool", Schlaifer were keeping their duckets buried deep down in their jeans as the spiritualists were all giving out the dope that a black cloud was about to cross the hebrew's path in the form of one Dennis O'Keefe.

WORLD WAR VETS
TO STAGE THE BOUTSchlaifer-O'Keefe Scrap to Feature the Big Bout

FLYNN-ANDERSON ARE THE HEAVIES

Bernie Boyle, Popular Promoter, Stages Wonderful Boxing
Carnival—Earl Puryear to Meet Joey Schwartz—Leo Shea to Be Third Man in Ring—A Few Good Seats Left.

Tonight is the night. It is the night of all nights so far as local boxing is concerned. The greatest crowd that ever jammed into the fight shed is sure to be on hand this evening to watch Jim Flynn, the Pueblo fireman, bore a hole into the map of Ole Anderson about the size of a five-ounce glove.

And that "ain't" all, not by a quart bottle full. There is the main bout between Morrie Schlaifer, local favorite, and the hard punching Dennis O'Keefe of Chicago, the Irish-American who has knocked some of the best of them for a goul. As it has been several moons since the local Hebrew has starred at the Auditorium, local fight fans are anxious to, again see him in action.

Here is a boxing card, ladies and gentlemen, that has no preliminaries, in fact, unless you insist on calling the first fight of the evening by that name. It is an all-star-card with Earl Puryear and Joey Schwartz lining out the fight menu.

Omaha has been treated to some mighty good and we might add some mighty rotten fight programs during the past year, but good or bad they will all fade away in the misty haze of lost memories after local fight followers lamp tonight's fistic carnival.

This card has been arranged by no other than Bernie Boyle, fistic generalismo for the World War Veterans, who up to date has never staged a boxing match or other sporting event that has not proven a decided winner both from the box office standpoint and from the spectators' viewpoint. In this connection it is only fair to the fight fans of the state to say that if the governor would appoint some such man as Bernie Boyle on the boxing commission the game would not only be elevated to a higher plane but would command the respect of every clean sport loving fan in this great commonwealth.

The writer was closeted with Jim Flynn for half an hour Tuesday afternoon in Mr. Harrington's office where the winner of more than three hundred fisticuff battles proved as good a story teller as he has proved a boxer in the squared arena. Jim, one of the few old timers who is not decorated with a cauliflower ear, told us of the time he knocked Jack Dempsey out for the count. When asked just how the trick was turned he said: "Well, Huntley, it's a short story, I just busted him in the midriff, then sent that right (feel it) into his jaw, that was all, Jack took the powder pill and the count." He later added that he expected to bump off this Anderson person in somewhat similar fashion. Jim is under the impression that he

GEORGE STERLING, LIBERAL CANDIDATE, FILES FOR GOVERNOR

If Elected He Would Retire Gus Hyers and His Booze Hounds,
Placing Law Enforcement in Hands of City and County
Officials, Statement Says.

Omaha is going to have at least two candidates for the nomination for governor this summer, one republican and one democrat. The republican is no other than George Sterling who is out with a tentative program and a platform that will appeal to a great many voters throughout the state. Butler is the democratic candidate.

Concerning Sterling, he is a man of high character and not afraid to express his own views in his own way even if they are not pleasing to some of our citizens. He is liberal in his views and out of sympathy with prohibition as it is being administered, or rather as it is not administered.

He should poll a very large vote especially here in Douglas county where a great majority of voters feel as he does about the mis-administration of the prohibition laws. A vote for Sterling is a protest against an obnoxious law and should be given him that the state and nation will know that Nebraska after giving prohibition a trial for five years, has come to the conclusion that they would have no more of it if it is in their power to change or help change the prohibition law or that part of it known as the Volstead act.

Sterling has no big organization to fight his battles and is a poor man who can not dump a barrel of dough to swing the nomination. As the people of the city and state become more and better acquainted with him he is sure to receive a large share of their support. Here is his platform and slogan: "To establish a debt paying system for Nebraska instead of a debt creating system."

If elected I will ask the legislature for the following:

1. Abolishment of the McKelvie code bill.
2. Retirement of Gus Hyers and his gang of booze hounds, placing the law enforcement wholly in the hands of county and city officials.
3. Adequate marketing facilities and rural credits system to provide encouragement for the small farmer and limitations on home rentals.
4. Public ownership and development of unused Nebraska waterpower for the benefit of the people.
5. Favor of enactment of welfare legislation to protect the child life of the state.
6. The encouragement of co-operative movement to end profiteering and domination by privileged classes.
7. Prices for farm products must not be permitted to go below cost of production plus a reasonable profit.
8. Wages must not be permitted to go below the cost of living at American standard with a margin for old age.
9. Immediate and drastic cuts in expenditures and taxes.

If nominated and elected, I will remain in office and attend the wants and needs of the people and not run all over the nation making chautauqua speeches at the expense of the taxpayers.

When is a mushroom a toadstool? Larry Dwyer had been asking after he had taken an armload of the "vegetables" kindly donated by his best friend Frank Riley and thrown them to the rats. East Omaha was getting a reputation for its Toadstool farms.

TRYING TO MAKE CITIES LIABLE

If Douglas County should happen to lose a suit in which it was made a party by the ruling of a judge in the Douglas County district court recently it will have its hands full for many a moon to come. Elmer Thomas in prosecuting a liquor case for one of his clients brought forth an old state law that went into effect before national prohibition became a fact. That law makes a city, village or county liable to damage resulting from the sale of liquor by an individual.

While the state law is plain enough it is doubtful if it can be put into effect as the national law comes first and no doubt the question of whether state or national control shall be applied to any specific case would have to be threshed out in the courts before any definite action could or would be taken under section 53 of chapter 187 of the session laws of 1917 which reads in part:

"Every person, married woman, minor or other person under legal disability, who shall be injured in his, her or their property, person or support in consequence, in whole or in part, of the intoxication of any person shall be able to prove that the mayor of the city... were not endeavoring to enforce the liquor laws of the state... shall have a right of action against such city or place."

It is easy enough to cite the law but to prove that any city or village official has knowledge of a violation of the law is another thing. Bootleggers will be more careful in the future.

WETS ARE FAST GAINING GROUND

During the past month The Association Against the Prohibition Amendment has been attracting nation-wide attention, and has aroused the anxiety of the leaders of the Anti-Saloon League. With the backing of millions of voters who at this time are anxious to record their vote in protest of the Volstead act, the Association has met with warm encouragement and expect to make a splendid showing at the coming primaries and in the fall election.

The big fight is for the nomination and election of congressmen and senators who are committed to an amendment of the Volstead act redefining intoxicating beverages in such manner as to authorize the manufacture of beer of 2.75 per cent alcoholic content and of wine of somewhat higher percentage.

The primaries so far held indicate that many new faces will be seen in the next congress who will be in favor of a modification of the obnoxious act. Recently a dry congressman was defeated in Peoria by a former distiller while a democratic candidate was nominated for congress on a wet ticket in Indianapolis. In a very large number of cities where the ill effect of prohibition in its present form has been most apparent evidence has been given that a large majority of people are for the legalization of light wine and beers.

Only in rural districts have the dries held their own and in many of these communities there is a disposition to go back to a sane light wine and beer diet.

The Veterans of Foreign Wars for the first time in Omaha are going to put on a public poppy day Saturday and are sure to have the backing of every worth while man, woman, boy and girl in the city. The funds derived from this most worthy object will go exclusively to the needy and disabled members of this splendid organization.

There will be on the streets tomorrow more than fifteen hundred of the finest and fairest matrons and young ladies from the best families in this prosperous city who have volunteered to help the overseas veterans to raise money that those who were wounded while fighting for their country may now have a chance to fight for their own life.

They have fifty-five thousand poppies to sell and if the good citizens of Omaha do their part they will all be sold before noon. Readers of the Mediator, let us say to you that all past tag days have resulted in untold good, but never has an organization asked for your support that has better deserved it than the one you are asked to contribute to tomorrow. Give them a dollar if you can spare it, four bits, two bits or even a dime, but give them your needed support.

gress, just as he must learn to be a carpenter, a farmer, an engineer, a lawyer or a doctor. From 1911 to 1919 you were in Washington as secretary to Congressman Lobeck. Eight years of intimacy with the various congressional committees, the treasury and other executive departments of the government; eight years of acquaintanceship with the rules and procedure of the house, the varied and various subject matters of legislation, the history and legal effect, as construed by the courts of laws which are sought to be amended or repealed, has equipped you with a knowledge and an experience that will enable you to render a more satisfactory service to your district and your country than any other applicant now known to us.

"I hope you will not consider it an invidious aspersion if I say you have but fair capacity. But you have most certainly, in full, heaping measure, industry, honesty, energy, sobriety, and courage, and topping all these, you have youth—youth, grace and agility. At 40 years of age, you have, for a man of ten years to come, a period big with potentialities for service.

"So, do not, I entreat you, defer this ambition, if I have awakened it, to a time some years later, when age will have withered and custom staled a virility and experience that, if now offered, will be received, I believe, with appreciation and endorsement at the election in November.

"If you accept this proffer of our assistance and enter the contest, let us know at your earliest opportunity, what, under your leadership, will be your policy, your program, your aspirations, that we, your friends, may deign to follow you and aid you in the ways you may designate."

a scare for going to such a place. This was the opening night for Cahow who claims it was the first time he had ever attempted to peddle booze at the place and may be his last attempt at least until "the trouble blows over."

One of the really funny incidents connected with the affair happened when a callow youth called up the South Side police thinking the place was really being hijacked but he was soon convinced otherwise. The dancers were not arrested but the chances are that most of them paid the penalty through the fear and fright they experienced.

WOMAN MEETS SUCCESS IN BUSINESS WORLD

There are scores of women in Omaha who have made an unqualified success in their chosen field of endeavor but none have proven more competent than Mrs. Willis, who took over the business of her husband after his death about two years ago.

Mrs. Willis conducts the pharmacy at Twenty-second and Cumings streets and by close application to business has built up a splendid trade.

Park Commissioner Hummel has obtained that the public bath house in Jefferson Square must go, which is ordaining in the right direction. THEATRICALS

AT THE BRANDEIS

George White's "Scandals"

The third and latest edition of George White's "Scandals" is to be shown at the Brandeis theatre May 29th and 30th. This engagement will mark the first one here of any of Mr. White's famous revues, under his own direction. He is bringing to this city the original New York cast, which is headed by Ann Pennington, who has never appeared here. In addition to Miss Pennington, the long list of entertainers will include Mr. White (himself), Lou Holtz, Charles Howard, Maxie and George, the world's greatest dancers, Olive Vaughn, George Bickel, Victoria Herbert, Wade Booth, James Miller, Sam Bedner, Edwin McGrath, Helen LeVonne, Jocelyn Leigh, Ruth Savoy, Anna Buckley and many others—all the original Broadway beauties.

From John L. Peltret, Representing William Harris, Jr.

One of the most auspicious events, theatrically and socially, of the current season will take place at the Brandeis theatre, three days beginning Thursday, June 1st, when William Harris, Jr., presents John Drinkwater's play "Abraham Lincoln" with Frank McGlynn. During the first three years "Abraham Lincoln" was played in few places except New York, Boston, Chicago and Philadelphia. It is one of the great plays, one of the great entertainments of the present decade. Mr. Harris now has "Abraham Lincoln" on a long tour and as there is only one company appearing in it the present engagement will probably be the only time local playgoers may enjoy the play for a long period.

BLUE AND GOLD REVUE

AT BRANDEIS SATURDAY

The Blue and Gold Revue to be presented by the pupils of the High Schools under the auspices of the Order of De Molay at the Brandeis Saturday afternoon and night promises much in the way of high class entertainment.

One half of the proceeds will go to the Masonic Home for Boys as that body gives the De Molay its moral support. This organization by the way is to give the boy between the age of 16 and 21 a chance to start in life on the right path.

Particular attention is called to one act that will be presented during the evening in which Miss Alice Humbert, Leon Connell and James B. Boyie are starred. The title of this dramatic playlet is "The Finger of God," a wonderful act which has been drilled by Lena May Williams, dramatic art instructor at Central High.

Mack Ohman closes the Revue in one of the principal acts to be presented.

EMPRESS OFFERINGS

THIS HORSE REEL ACTOR

Equine Supports May McAvoy in "Through a Glass Window"

There's a horse in "Through a Glass Window," May McAvoy's new Realart picture which comes to the Empress Theatre next Sunday; that shows almost human intelligence in the range of tricks he is able to do.

That the film should have such a talented equine is easily explained when one learns that Maurice Campbell, the director, is not only a screen expert, but is internationally known for his knowledge of horses. During the war, as a major, he had charge of thousands of horses used by the Army of Occupation on their advance into Germany.

The "trick" horse adds much to the human interest of this great heart appeal story. It was written by Olga Printzlau and Raymond McKee heads the supporting cast.

ORPHEUM PLAYERS

Present "Smilin' Through", the Play Beautiful, Week of June 4th

The American stage has never in all its history produced a more beautiful play in thought and content than this exquisite gem, "Smilin' Through." Omaha theatre goers have never seen a better performance than the Orpheum players will give of this same play. Miss Amos will establish herself more firmly in the hearts of our patrons. Mr. De Stefani and Mr. Buchanan will also have opportunities to display their dramatic worth.

W. H. SMITH JOINS FORCES

WITH NATHAN WATTS

Mr. W. H. Smith, for many years a leading real estate man with headquarters at Elkhorn, has recently joined forces with N. Watts, one of the oldest "bargain" men in the city.

Mr. Smith is an up-to-date farm exchange man and salesman, having an extensive acquaintance in the eastern part of Nebraska and western Iowa. Their office is located in the Paxton Block, room 538, where they are doing a very large volume of business and turning many bargain sales and exchanges every week.

LOCAL GREEK COLONY

BECOME AMBITIOUS

With the opening of the new and beautiful restaurant at 1417 Farnam street attention is once more called to the activities of the local Greek colony. The Greeks in this country are beginning to establish themselves in the good will of native Americans, especially those in business, one of the principal reasons being the fact that the better element among them insist on having and conducting their business in an exceptionally clean and sanitary manner.

Not long ago one prominent son of Greece took over the Virginia restaurant on Douglas street and has made of it a cafe de luxe with all the quiet environment that epicures so much desire. Visitors and patrons to the Greek candy shops and restaurants in the city never fail to comment on the attractiveness and cleanliness of the various places of business.

It of course is only business acumen on their part to make their places of business as attractive as possible, as native Americans in similar lines of business set so fast a pace in that direction.

WORLD WAR VETERANS

TO STAGE THE BOUT

whipped Ole Anderson about six years ago in Tacoma, but he has had so many encounters that it has been a hard matter for him to keep exact tally of them. Flynn, in a reminiscent mood told of how Mr. Franke, at that time manager of the Krug theatre, took him under his wing for a one-night charity show, the money, $800, all went to relieve tornado sufferers. His wife, Fannie Vetter, happened to be playing at the Gayety at the time and done her bit toward relieving the suffering during those terrible days by selling newspapers on the streets.

Inquiry at baseball headquarters and sportmen's cigar store as late as Thursday morning concerning what the fans with dough thought of the outcome of tonight's fight between Schlaifer and O'Keefe would be, resulted unsatisfactory so far as any advance dope on the scrap is concerned. Several died-in-the-wool Schlaifer followers it is said on good authority are willing to place two to one that the local favorite gets the decision. A small amount of coin has changed hands on the Puryear-Schwartz contest with the former the favorite. As Anderson is not well known hereabouts it is doubtful if much mazuma will be wagered on the outcome of the heavy-weight scrap.

This much is certain concerning tonight's fistic card, it is going to be the biggest fight event since boxing was legalized in Nebraska, the greatest crowd ever gathered in the big brick shed will be on hand, all three ten-round events are sure to be hummers and it will surprise no one if at least two sleep pills are administered during the festivities.
