'TINY' HERMAN TO BOX JACK RENAULT

Omaha Heavyweight Has Everything at Stake In His Coming Battle

RENAULT A TOUGH PROPOSITION

AMERICAN LEGION SHOW AT AUDITORIUM ON SEPTEMBER 20 A MAJOR LEAGUE AFFAIR—SCHLAIFER TO FIGHT LONG IF BAN LIFTED—THIRTY ROUNDS OF FAST MILLING—HERMAN FAST CLIMBING FISTIC LADDER.

"Tiny" Herman, the popular young heavyweight who hasn't lost a boxing bout since he came to Omaha a year ago, faces the most important contest in his career next Thursday.

Herman is slated to meet Jack Renault of New York in the 10-round main event of Douglas County Post, American Legion's, boxing show at the Auditorium the night of September 20.

For Herman, a victory means fame and fortune. Defeat means that he must start all over again in his upward climb.

Jim Marples, Farmer Lodge, Emil Engberg, Andre Andersen and Bob Roper all tried to check Herman's march to success in Omaha, and every one failed.

Then Tex Rickard sent for Herman, and the big Omaha successively defeated Al Reich and Cliff Kramer on Rickard's shows in New York.

Now the American Legion of Omaha has succeeded in grabbing off the Renault match, which Rickard had planned as part of his elimination series to determine the next opponent for Dempsey.

Renault is one of the real top-notchers in the heavyweight division. He has defeated Billy Miske, Fred Fulton, Bob Roper, Charlie Weinert, George Godfrey, and scads of others. Renault holds the Canadian heavyweight championship, and is generally considered to rank closely behind Dempsey and Gibbons for American honors.

Herman has already received an offer of $15,000 to fight Luis Firpo in Buenos Aires. Jack Lewis, Herman's popular manager, says he'll accept if the purse and all expense money are deposited in an American bank to his credit, and Herman is allowed some say in the choice of referee. Jack doesn't want to walk home from Buenos Aires, in case he defeats the Argentine in his own bailiwick.

The Firpo offer isn't conditioned on a victory over Renault, either.

But if Herman is able to defeat Renault, as he feels confident of doing, he won't need to go to Buenos Aires to get $15,000 purses. A victory over the big Canuck will put "Tiny" right at the top of the heap and he'll be in line for big contests in New York and other places where the purses range in five figures.

The American Legion is planning on Morrie Schlaifer and Charley Long for its semi-windup, ten rounds, in case Schlaifer's suspension is lifted, as seems likely at this time. Long has been hankering for a crack at Schlaifer for quite a while, and there is considerable sentiment in favor of his defeating Morrie over the ten-round route.

Despite the high caliber of the attraction, Legion officials are offering this boxing show at popular prices of $3, $2 and $1, tax free.

Fans who want to see a real show are urged to get their tickets early. Tickets are now on sale and selling like hot cakes at the Auditorium, Merritt's Drug Store, Paxton Billiard Parlors, the Baseball Headquarters, The Sportsman, and Fleming's Cigar Store on Twenty-fourth and Farnam streets.

RACES AT AK-SAR-BEN FIELD ATTRACTING GREAT CROWDS

BANGTAILS TO HAVE CLEAR FIELD AFTER SATURDAY—AUTO RACES COMING SUNDAY AROUSE GREAT INTEREST—UNION PACIFIC SAFETY RALLY SEPTEMBER 15—KING AK'S BIGGEST PROGRAM.

The first four days of running and trotting races at Ak-Sar-Ben track is history and local track history has been made. However, the people of Omaha, Nebraska and western Iowa have only had their racing appetite whetted for what is to come beginning Saturday, after which time the bangtails will have the field all to themselves.

Saturday, the 15th, sees the last of the trotters, which is to bring out some of the best harness races of the meet. The big feature with harness devotees will be the three-quarter mile 2:13 pace (with horses that have raced on a one-mile track prior to September 10, 1923, barred). Some of the best horses in the land have been entered for this star event which carries a purse of $1,000.

Race track followers will anticipate a real treat after reading the entries for the day. For instance, Dorothy Bingen, by Bingerarias, will be on deck in a try for supremacy. She will compete with such well known pacers as Billie Earl, who is owned by M. C. Meeks of Omaha; Tramptrue, another Omaha owned pacer, and Lady Guadalupe, still another Nebraska owned mare. Aside from these that will probably enter the race are such well known step-pers as Allurve Bilodeau, by Allurve, who hails from Hamline, Minn., Ordelia Patch, by the famous Dan Patch, owned by Willis Beezley of Syracuse, Neb., and Betty Lou, daughter of Rustic Patenter. Then Helen, by Treadway, and Ben Kitchen, by Direct, who is sure to be a favorite, are also entered for the final harness race of the meet.

After the harness horses are stabled on Saturday there will be five running races featured by the Omaha Bee 5½ furlong handicap. This, the final race of the day, carries a $1,000 purse and will bring out some of the best talent stabled at the field. Aside from this splendid program there will be two, five and two six furlong races with purses of $500 each.

Beginning Monday, September 17, and continuing through to and including September 29, the bangtails will have it all their own way, with scores of America's best runners on the ground ready to grab off their share of the magnificent purses that have been hung up for the numerous races.

The Ak-Sar-Ben people, by the way, have arranged a program this year that is sure to far outdo any previous effort. Saturday, September 15, the great Union Pacific system will give a safety rally on the streets, in which thousands of employees will march. Many unique floats will be in line. This will be one of the big educational features of the fall festival.

Sunday, the 16th, auto enthusiasts have their inning. On that day Ak-Sar-Ben has provided spectacular auto races at the track that is sure to be a record breaker, both in attendance and in the quality as well as the speed of the races.

Bath House Dan and The Ku Klux Man (Contributed)

Said Ku Klux Elmer to Bath House Dan,
Why don't you join the Ku Klux Klan?
I'll have Doctor Jennie and all her crew
Come out to the polls and vote for you.
Just put a giant cracker on your porch,
Then send someone out to apply the torch;
Break a window and smash a door,
Spread the alarm and say no more.
The Omaha papers will spread your fame
And the "Old Gray Wolf" will get the blame.

Said Bath House Dan to the Ku Klux Man;
Now, Elmer Dear, I like Your plan:
These Catholics, Jews and negroes too
Will never vote for me and you.
I'll send my cops out to their church
Their persons, cars and kids I'll search.
I'll throw the rascals in my jail,
And hold them without bond or bail.
Tell the "Old Gray Wolf" and all his pack,
On Election Day, I'll break his back.

Oh, Bath House Dan if you only knew
What that "Old Gray Wolf" has in store for you
You'd have to explain before you begin,
Just how you made away with that stolen gin,
Your trip to Chicago and the Atlas Grill
And how you drank to your stomach's fill.
Why you danced the shimmy with grace and charm,
And hugged wild women on a near by farm,
You'll hang your head with sin and shame,
When the "Old Gray Wolf" gets on your frame.

BUTLER NOW USING BURN'S OPERATIVES

Dan Butler has practically admitted the inefficiency of his own department by bringing to this city certain operatives of the Burns National Detective Agency. One of these operatives has been seen lately working in the open, and there are doubtless more of them working under cover. This is the same agency which sent detectives to Omaha some time ago in an effort to secure the necessary dope to send our city officials, including Mr. Butler, to the penitentiary. That agency resorted to every unprofessional trick at that time to destroy the men in charge of our city government.

It is generally believed that Mr. Butler has these men in town to check up on members of his own and the sheriff's office.

KING AK HAS MOST OF HIS STREETS LIGHTED

King Ak is getting ready for business. This week his electricians have been busy stringing the light wires, to which are attached many lamps. These will be lighted up Sunday night, when the city will become a flood of light for two weeks in the downtown district. Particular attention is being given to this feature of the carnival season. Every man on the job is an expert and the lights are being tested out as fast as strong. Here is where old man Davidson shines, his electric plant doing extra duty during the carnival. He has been at it so long that he has it almost perfected now.

WANT TO DATE UP, GIRLS?

Do you want to make an off hand date, girls? Won't be a bit hard if you stand on a corner and wait for Bob, who has a hobby for picking up any one that wears skirts. It is said that Bob is being sued for divorce but what kind of ice does that cut? Now girls don't all speak for him at once as he is pretty busy these days, even though he is not at this time trotting around with Celia.

WELL TOM, EVERYBODY'S DOING IT NOW

Everyone knows that Tom McVittie handles the best candies made but he has a half pound box displayed in the window at Fifteenth and Harney that must have a brick in it. Leastwise it is addressed to Dan Butler with the compliments of the editor of the Mediator. It's all right Tom, if the brick is hard enough.

A Ponderous Query.

Another problem is whether an elephant takes the peanut on his own account or just to please the child.

MIGOSH ITS TOUGH WHEN YOUR SWEETIE IS AWAY

Migosh it's awful to be lonesome. If you don't think so ask Frank, the bachelor printer. He keeps busy these days giving the printers devil, the devil for "pieing" up things. But the school teacher will return within a few days if she has not already done so. After she has rested up from her vacation she can sit down next week or perhaps two weeks from now and get plenty of kick out of reading the Mediator.

PEOPLE SORE AT COUNCIL INACTION

WOULD LIKE TO SEE PEACE RESTORED BY REMOVAL OF POLICE COMMISSIONER

The people of this community have been saying everything they can think of against Dan Butler for the miserable way he has handled our police department. They now seem to be going further in their efforts by panning the rest of the council because they have not as yet either taken him off the commission altogether or switched him to some other department.

However the people should not rush to such conclusions too quickly. The other members of the council have been very patient and have done everything under the sun to give Mr. Butler a chance to make good. The trial they have given him has been a long one and they have no doubt come to the conclusion that as head of the police department he will not do. Butler has been playing for relief and it is predicted that he will soon get it. Street talk in some quarters is to the effect that the axe will fall next week.

HAVEN'T FORGOTTEN THE BLUFFS POLITICIAN

No, we have not forgotten the Council Bluffs office holder who plays the fair sex game both ends from the middle. Neither have we forgotten our reading public in this and many other matters that have been "hanging fire" the past few weeks. To the latter, we want to say that within a very short time we aim to more than double the size of the paper after which we will be able to handle not only this but scores of other red hot stories that have been accumulating.

Mile-High Dancing.

In Colorado's pioneer days Creede, with its gold prospectors and dancing senoritas, outdid the present endurance dancers. They worked as danced for days at a time, giving rise to the phrase: "It's day all day in the day-time and there is no night in Creede."

COUNCIL GIVES THE AIR TO THE OMAHA MORALS SQUAD

End of Unlawful Search and Seizure in Sight When Officers Punished

POLICE COMMISSIONER EXPECTED TO SOON REPEAT WITH WOOLSEY; FAREWELL A LAST FAREWELL, I HAVE WONDERED ON A SEA OF TROUBLE AND SWAM BEYOND MY DEPTH.

Mister Shakespeare, a well known gazeek that flourished a few hundred years ago in England, picked out Cardinal Woolsey as one of his principal characters in "Henry the Eighth." The Cardinal had plenty of troubles in the play, at the end of which the hard of Avonshire put these words into his mouth: "Farewell, a last farewell. Like a little wanton boy, I have wandered on a sea of trouble and swam beyond my depth."

A few hundred years later, September 12, 1923, to be exact, Mr. Butler, a fairly well known gazeek that flourished in Omaha, state of Nebraska, county of Douglas, United States of America, came before the Tribunal, sometimes called the Council of Seven, to represent, to defend, to protect, a few of his more or less faithful slaves. Yclept the good book, had their names recorded, Fee, (perhaps not meaning a fee that is to be collected before a Fee leaves a home which he had entered without proper warrant of law), Paulson, Searle and Heller, all soldiers in the camp of Czar Butler.

Like the Cardinal of old, the Czar of the tribe of the Omahas had plenty of troubles which he had wished on himself. Among the many was the keeping of his morals squad marching to his martial chin music. The Czar was a bum musician, he played so many tunes, out of tune, that his slaves knew not which way to step to his music. He would play in A-flat so rotten that the squad, misunderstanding, would oftentimes tread in B-flat, a situation that finally ended in their undoing.

And so they were brought before the tribal judges, who in their flowing, picturesque robes sat in judgment. The "court" came to order. Witnesses were brought forth, they did swear to the facts as they understood them. The evidence was preponderous against the slaves. They were found guilty, but the jury, like Portia, an old pal of Shylock, decreed that they should not be made to pay the pound of flesh. A few ounces would do to meet the ends of justice. So four of the burden bearers were given sixty days in which to think it all over, while the fifth was let down with thirty days.

Thus did the small fish pay the penalty of swimming beyond their depth. The decision was fair, it was just, it was legal, but it did not reach to the middle of the ocean where the big whale wanders.

Out there in the middle of the deep swims the whale, the Judas of all the Leviathan fishes. His great jaws extended, he awaits his prey and crushes them, whether they be catholic, negro, foreign or jewfish.

And up to now the goodly people of this mighty city sit and suffer, but not in silence. Their council has suffered with them because they have hesitated to undo what has been done. It has not been because they "have feared to rush in where angels fear to tread," but because they have wanted Bath House Dan to have free reign as long as possible, that the people of the realm may know full well whether he was able to handle the government of the police department, of which he has so often boasted he was past master.

The people have long been convinced that Butler, the sage of meddlers, has been a miserable failure. They have suffered all too long from his bungling. Back of their hope, they now demand relief and will expect to get it.

The public prayer is that soon, Butler, like the old cardinal will wail: Farewell, a last farewell. Like a little wanton boy, I have wandered on a sea of trouble and swam beyond my depth.

BUTLER DOUBLES MORAL SQUAD WHILE THE PUBLIC PAYS BILLS

SAYS HE DOUBLED SQUAD BECAUSE MAYOR DAHLMAN THOUGHT FOUR TOO MANY—MAKES GRAND STAND PLAY BY KEEPING NAMES OF MEN SECRET—WHAT WILL THE HARVEST BE?

Perhaps we have some bananas but we have no morals squad. None that we know the names of, at this time. After the council fired Fee and company Mr. Butler put on a new squad under cover of darkness as it were. Instead of the usual four we now have eight according to a statement given out by the police commissioner.

Butler avers that he has to keep the names of the men secret so that they will not lose their jobs. How kind of him. "The reason I doubled the squad was because Mayor Dahlman seemed to think four men to many for such work at the hearing Wednesday", said Dan. The public can judge the man from the foregoing statement. Because the Mayor, who has guided the destiny of the city for so many years, believes that four men are more than enough to do morals squad duty, the present one-cylinder police commissioner immediately doubles the force.

No matter what the council wishes or believes, Butler runs counter to that wish or belief. Does any one wonder why the police situation is in such a muddle. Here is one man attempting to undo the work of six that were elected by the people largely because they were tired of fake reformers a stunt "Bath House Dan" is now attempting.

Does any one doubt that if Butler would, like his predecessor, Dunn, work in harmony with the council and spend his time doing his sworn duty rather than spreading a lot of Bull Durham over the premises, could have had his department so organized that the bandits who robbed the water works would have been in the toils long before this. It is even doubtful if that bunch would have been able to stage, much less get away with the pay roll robbery.

While the failure of the police to catch the Water Works bandits is the biggest outstanding piece of bungling of the Butler resume, it is but one of the many for which the people have to pay.

However the dirtiest of all his work has been his ordering of the search, seizure and arrest of men and women without due process of the law.

The daily press has been very good to Butler up to the time they had to give up hope that he would eventually make good. If they are panning him now, he has only his tongue and lack of brains to answer for it.

In commenting on unlawful search and seizure the World-Herald editorially raps the present Omaha modus vivendi by saying:

"The right on the people to be secure in their persons, houses, papers and effects from unreasonable searches and seizures is so fundamental a necessity of human lib-

WHAT KEARNS THOUGHT

When subscribers read these lines, the Firpo-Dempsey battle will have been history. After reading of the battle it will be interesting to read what Dempsey's manager Kerns had to say shortly before the battle. A correspondent for the Milwaukee News sends the following to his paper:

Jack Dempsey will dispose of Luis Angel Firpo in six rounds or less, according to his manager, Jack Kerns, who is here today to linger around until the last wallop is landed and the final dime in the box office is counted.

Kearns made his prediction during a gabfest in his suite at the Hotel Belmont, which hostelry will house the champion upon his arrival here Thursday from camp. The Belmont already shelters a host of sport writers and fistic celebrities, among whom is James W. Coffroth, the Tia Juana race track promoter, who is seeking a Dempsey-Wills on December 1 and is willing to consider a January date, as suggested by Kearns, who hesitates about grabbing too many $500,000 purses in the year 1923 because of certain inquisitive persons from the internal revenue collector's office who will want to know all about the 1923 income.

"What's your private opinion, publicly expressed, of Firpo?" we asked him. "You have seen him fight, Dempsey hasn't. What about it?"

"Firpo is a big yokel," said the manager of the champion. "Big enough, strong enough, and wild enough to scare most any one. The only tough part is he's up against a guy this time who doesn't scare worth a darn."

"That being the case, how far do you think the fight will go?" "Dempsey can't help but lick him inside of six rounds," said Kearns.

"Will Dempsey try to slug with him if Firpo comes tearing in, swinging?"

"Maybe he will. Tell you what I'll do. I'll bet you that if they do start walloping away, Dempsey will finish Firpo so fast you'll get dizzy trying to find out whether Looie lit on his neck or his ear when he humped the canvas."

SHE'S REAL TELEPHONE BABY

Willa Florence Krause
A telephone baby—11-months-old Willa Florence Krause, of Omaha, whose father, mother, grandfather, grandmother and an aunt are or have been Bell telephone employees. Her father, A. H. Krause, is an employee of the American Telephone Company; her mother was an employee of the same company before her marriage; her grandfather, the late Allen S. Romano, was a telephone pioneer with more than twenty years service with the telephone company, and her grandmother is at present matron at the Harney central office in Omaha. To date Willa is more interested in kittens than telephones, but she has already developed the telephone smile.

There were 14,050,565 Bell-owned and connected telephones in the Bell System at the end of the year 1922, an increase of nearly 700,000 during the year. The number of connections made daily was more than 50,000,000. Miles of wire connecting the Bell-owned stations increased to more than 30,000,000.

The walnut in Bulgaria is almost indispensable to the housewife. The nut is eaten in the raw state and used for producing a cooking oil. TELEPHONE AIDS CUPID IN UNIVERSITY TOWNS

Telephone calls in university and college towns in Nebraska and South Dakota increase through the school year proportionally as the students become better acquainted, until by spring an increased number of operators is necessary during the "date-making" hours.

The chief operator at Vermillion, S. D., where the University of South Dakota is located, and the telephone people at Lincoln, Nebraska, the home of the University of Nebraska, report that the number of calls increases decidedly in the spring. The favorite hours for "date-making" calls are from 12 noon to 2 p. m. and from 6 to 7:30 p. m., and the busy days are Wednesday, Friday and Saturday.

3 OPERATORS GRADUATES OF SAME HIGH SCHOOL

Among the pretty high school graduates in Nebraska and South Dakota who became telephone operators after commencement this year were these three Grand Island, Nebr., girls. They are Marie Wynn and Margaret Rue, left to right, in the top row, and the insert is Frances Wynn, sister of Marie. The end of high school days for these girls meant the beginning of telephone school days, as every operator is carefully trained before she begins actually serving the public at the switchboard.

COVERING RAVAGES OF WAR

Belgians Have Accomplished Wonders in Restoring Devastated Areas—Public Edifices Rebuilt.

By the end of the year, if building goes on with the speed it has now attained, the war wilderness of Flanders not only will have resumed its prewar aspect in point of housing accommodation, but will have modern improvements unknown in 1914.

Motoring through the historic battleground today one is impressed by the capacity of production of the Belgian people. Shell-choked wastes have given place to productive pastures and extensive vegetable gardens. Shattered walls have been replaced by comfortable farm houses. Men and women are gathering sustenance from fields which were the theater of armies.

Almost 75,000 private dwellings out of 100,000 destroyed or damaged have been built, and most of these are occupied by their former inhabitants. Only ninety of the destroyed or damaged public buildings of Flanders remain unrepaired. The reconstruction of private houses has entailed an expense of 885,000,000 francs. The public edifices have cost 125,000,000 francs to rebuild. Most of this work has been done by the government through its special reconstruction department, the Devastated Regions of Flanders.

MRS. RODOLPH VALENTINO
HEADLINER AT ORPHEUM

Conspiring to make good in its pledge to give Omaha the cream of Chicago and New York vaudeville successes, the Orpheum has the adorable Mrs. Rodolph Valentino, the first, as its headline attraction for the coming week, starting with Sunday matinee.

Supporting Mrs. Valentino, the girl whose charms first captivated the screen's great lover, are six stellar acts, presenting a variety of entertainment that presages one of the best bills that has been staged this season.

Mrs. Valentino, who prior to her marriage to "The Shiek," was Miss Jean Acker, appears in a new one-act comedy playlet, entitled a "Regular Girl," which abounds in ludicrous situations and is resplendent in its elaborate settings.

Mrs. Valentino, whose romance—one of the great tragedies of the studios, lends her a certain glamor,—appears in her very element in this mirth-provoking play, and her gorgeous gowns, designed by the renowned Bobe, will be a revelation to Omaha femininity.

Local music lovers will welcome the announcement that the world renowned violinist, Fredric Fradkin, has again deserted the concert hall for a limited vaudeville tour and will appear on the coming weeks' bill.

Another featured act presents Miss Venita Gould, the clever mimic, who has risen to conspicuous stardom in vaudeville, having headlined some of the biggest bills booked in the east. She comes to the Orpheum with a number of impressions of present-day theatrical celebrities and in her colorful impression of Miss Leonora Ulric in "Kiki," uses a full stage set to represent the scene from the Belasco production.

Gus Fowler, the original "watch king," who has mystified and amused the world with his unique style of conjury, will make his debut in Omaha.

Syncopation and grand opera are supposed to be enemies, but Eva Shirley, in "Songs of the Moment, from Syncopation to Grand Opera," brings them together in perfect harmony. The distinguished singing comedienne is assisted by Oscar Adler's orchestra, a jazz band and symphony orchestra in one, and Al Roth, the clever dancer.

"Tunes, Tinkles and Taps" is the ticket on which the two top-notch comedians, Will Burns and Ed Lynn are touring the Orpheum circuit this season, after a couple of years' absence from the two-a-day.

Stock Gambling
Brings Ruin to
Two Wives

HOW FAMILIES ARE AFFECTED BY VICE SHOWN IN "THE SILENT PARTNER."

Two devoted wives of gamblers are found in the gripping Paramount drama of New York financial and domestic life, "The Silent Partner," a Charles Maigne production, which will be the feature at the Rialto theater for seven days beginning next Sunday. Only one has the strength of character to plan and carry through the reform of her speculator husband. Another succumbs and is carried down to poverty; the third is ignorant of what her husband has done till too late. Leatrice Joy, Owen Moore and Robert Edeson are featured.

Leatrice Joy is cast as the wife of a stock broker's clerk, played by Owen Moore. When he risks their modest fortune on the market, she prepares for the crash which she feels will ultimately come. From loving, domestic helpmeet, her character changes to that of a hard woman, secretive and cold, hoarding all her husband's wealth she can manage to lay her hands on, against possible financial ruin. Not until he has lost all does she become her affectionate self again.

Robert Edeson is the broker who employs Moore as clerk, and afterward accomplishes his downfall in Wall Street. It is the wife of another of his clerks, played by Patterson Dial, who is too luxury-loving and weak to demand of her husband that he show her sufficient consideration to assure a definite income. Like the other couple, their wealth skyrockets. But when the bottom drops out, neither has saved, and both are forced into the slums.

Playing in the support are Robert Schable, Patterson Dial, E. H. Calvert, Maude Wayne, Bess Flowers, Lara Anson, eBrt Woodruff and Robert Grey. This picture was directed by Charles Maigne and is said to be one of the best shown at this theatre in many weeks. The picture will be on view until September 22.

Hang Bluebeard's
Seven Wives? Nix;
Wax Models Used

DIRECTOR SAM WOOD OVER-COMES GREAT DIFFICULTY IN MAKING BLUEBEARD'S
8TH WIFE."

Hanging the seven wives of Bluebeard for scenes in "Bluebeard's 8th Wife" proved to be a costly operation for the Paramount West Coast studio.

Conceded to be one of the most remarkable scenes in the picture is that when Gloria Swanson, the star, dreams the fable that has lived for ages, of Bluebeard, who took his wife to a dark chamber, where he hanged them, one by one.

Seven of the most beautiful girls in Hollywood are seen as the seven wives in the modernized version of the ancient fable, which was adapted to the screen by Sada Cowan from the play by Alfred Savoir, and which comes to the Strand theater next Sunday for one week.

When it was necessary to make the scenes of the seven wives hanging by their necks, Director Sam Wood became thoughtful. Hanging even girls is a ticklish affair, for a slip might mean serious injury to one of them.

Not desiring to risk the lives of the girls, Mr. Wood engaged Milba K. Lloyd, celebrated English sculptress, who made a wax model of each. These models were used in the hanging scenes, but were so like the originals that the difference could not be distinguished and—since it was a vision Miss Swanson was having—they did as well as the originals would have done.

MIDNITE SHOW AT THE GAYETY

Jimmie Cooper's Big Prismatic Boom
Will Stand Omaha on Tip-Toe.

Wide variety of entertainment with the amusement making cast in two colors is the schedule for next week's show at the popular Gayety theatre, starting Saturday matinee, September 15. This attraction is "Jimmie Cooper's Revue," with irreplaceable Jimmie as chief entertainer of the big aggregation of 70 people. Cooper is a whole show in himself, for few, if any men on the stage are as full of pep as this indomitable worker. He is here, there, everywhere every moment that the curtain is up, urging the members of his company from top notch principal to the least important chorus girl on to greater effort.

The Cooper revue is divided into two parts, the first being given over to white actors exclusively and the second to colored ones. After the intermission the blacks give their own show, which is said to be one of the liveliest and most tuneful combination of jazz, harmony and "blues" singing seen and heard in many a day.

In the colored half of the company are Julian Arthur's Ten Red Hot Syncopaters; Bessie DeSota, a colored dancing marvel from Plantation Days; Snow Fisher and others.

In the white portion of the show, Mr. Cooper has again secured a chorus composed of the very prettiest girls found in burlesque. He has trained them to work with all the finish of principals and has clothed them in a bewildering array of exquisite costumes. And as Cooper himself works with the chorus filling them with speed and enthusiasm, this ensemble of girls can be truthfully described as one of the peppiest and best working outfits of the year. Sunday's matinee starts at 3:00. There will be an extra midnite show starting at 11:30 p. m. Thursday, half an hour after the regular 8:30 performance is over.

PETE CARR COMES TO OMAHA FOR RACE MEET

Peter Carr, who for twenty-five years was a member of the Denver police force, and who is now a pensioner from there, is in Omaha for the Ak-Sar-Ben races. He is a regular thing at the races here, where he is employed in a police capacity. Carr knows the faces of more pickpockets than any man in the country, and he is a terror to them wherever he appears. He will be at the race track during the entire meet, where he will also meet any of the select crowd of pickpockets that may appear.

Carr is given credit for being the shrewdest man in the country on this class of pickpockets. He doubtless was hired by the race management who did not care to take any chances on the local force. He has been calling on old friends this week.

Aside from his wife, mother, brother and other relatives he leaves hundreds of sincere friends, made during his long residence in this city.
