

PREACHER FALLS FROM GRACE

CARNIVAL ECLIPSES ALL FORMER DOINGS

Estimated Quarter Million Persons Witness Samson's Great Parades.

RENZE OUTDOES HIMSELF THIS YEAR

Indians Add Touch of Real Thing to Big Daylight Pageant and Historical Floats Make Big Hit With Crowds—Civic and Military Bodies Join Paraders.

Eclipsing anything of the kind ever before attempted, King Samson this year put on two of the classiest parades ever seen on Omaha streets. And both of them went off like clockwork in every respect. The huge size of the parade Thursday afternoon made it a trifle unwieldy, but it was a success from start to finish. Rain accompanied the tail end of both parades, but did not interfere with them to any serious extent.

The afternoon parade was really a masterpiece in the art of creating this sort of cavalcades, due to the untiring efforts of Gus Renze. Heretofore there has been considerable sameness to these affairs, which made them of comparatively little interest to Omaha people, but this year was an exception. In addition to the long list of fine floats, several military and civic bodies and a dozen bands gave a touch of up-to-dateness to every division, and the whole thing moved along in fine style.

Those who had expected to see Miss Louise Dinning posed on the "Goddess of Liberty" float were surprised to see Miss Regina Connell sitting in the high seat reserved for the goddess. Miss Dinning, at the last moment, decided to get married to Allan Tukey, and her wedding was occurring at the very time she was presumed to pose as the "Goddess of Liberty" on the fine big float prepared for her.

There were a lot of real Indians, in their native costumes, in the big parade, which added some excitement to the doings. These "wild" Indians had come in from Nebraska headquarters. They were all dressed up in the utmost styles, with a full array of Indian paint and long feathers. Some of the big chiefs were on the job and the "squaws" made a very serious business of it all. These Indians all had automobiles and the squaws did the driving in some instances. One old chief, painted up for a fare-you-well, sat in the rear seat of a big Cadillac car and never even acknowledged the numerous salutes handed him from the thousands of visitors who were lined up along the curbs. He had seated beside him a big fat squaw who appeared to enjoy the whole business immensely. She was chewing peanuts and from time to time took a swig out of a big water decanter that had been placed in the car.

The crowds were the largest that have witnessed Ak-Sar-Ben parades and it has been estimated that 250,000 persons were on hand for Thursday's day parade. The carnival grounds have been a busy place and the admissions

SAMARDICK LEADS RAIDERS AND SMASHES SOFT DRINK DISPENSER

Foreigner Who Cannot Be Understood Without Interpreter Does Some Rotten Work on Job Entrusted to Him by Uncle Sam and Fails to Prosecute.

Last Wednesday government agents, accompanied by state agents and city detectives, made the rounds of the city looking for violators of the prohibition law. The raids were numerous and were made, it is stated, at the instigation of State Agent Hyers, who, although his own skirts might be cleaner on the liquor subject, has been charging everything but murder to Omaha.

Among the soft drink and lunch places visited was one at Sixteenth and Cuming streets. This place was visited by Robert Samardick, formerly an Omaha police officer, and Detective Summitt and one other detective. Samardick led the squad and rushed behind the counter where Jim Griffin was tending bar. Although Samardick thought liquor was being dispensed, he found absolutely nothing of the kind at the place. He smashed Griffin in the face, an act entirely uncalled for, and rushed him off to the city jail, from which he was later released on bond.

When Griffin appeared for trial the following morning Samardick did not appear against him. Detective Summitt, however, was there and stated to the court that nothing was found and that there was no cause for Griffin's arrest, adding that Samardick was responsible for it.

It developed that this man Samardick has been harassing about everybody in town that has been trying to do a legitimate business. He is a foreigner by birth, it is said, and to understand him well nigh requires the assistance of an interpreter. His language is badly broken and he has no conception of real Americanism. Just how he ever got onto the government force after his checkered career as a city officer is not plain to those who have been watching him in action.

Samardick has been hanging around downtown hotels and other places for two weeks. He has been seen prancing around in the neighborhood of Fourteenth and Farnam for several days, but has made no arrests in that vicinity. Incidentally, there are several men in business in that part of town whose language is more familiar to him than the American language, which may be one of the reasons for sticking around that end of town.

Samardick's action in striking Griffin is absolutely inexcusable. To on-lookers it gave every evidence that Samardick was attempting to get Griffin to strike back, in the hope of charging him with resisting an officer. As a matter of fact, Griffin could knock Samardick silly in a minute if the latter took off his star, but he is not of the sort that is looking for trouble.

Griffin's trial was put over until next Wednesday, in order that Samardick may have an opportunity to appear. It is said there will be plenty of witnesses on hand to testify for Griffin at that time.

The action of Samardick was about as wicked as could happen, and was something entirely unworthy a government officer. Mr. Hanley might do well to look into this fellow's record. At least the public is entitled to Americans as employes on this corps of government forces.

ATTRACTIVE CIGAR GIRL KEEPS PINE STREET BUSY

A bit of "society" gossip going the rounds these days says an attractive cigar girl at the Rome hotel stand is keeping some of the fast boys guessing these days. Out on Pine street resides a big blond fellow with a Dodge roadster that has been keeping the gossips busy. Before Wifflie returned from the country in her Davis coupe these two ambitious youngsters were often seen on Omaha streets. The cigar girl, it appears, is engaged to another fellow, but she is crazy about the married blond.

Friends of the blond say the big brown-eyed wife is on the lookout and predict lots of fun when she spies the pair "doing Omaha" some afternoon or catches them lunching in some of the down town cafes. George and Jack are mentioned as parties to the big doings.

DEVELOPMENTS COME FAST IN BIG HI JACKING CASE

Developments have followed each other rapidly in the big hijacking case that was mentioned last week, with more in sight. It appears that some of the victims are now out for war and have retained a well known Omaha firm of attorneys to get busy. Just where it will all end is still an unknown part of the business, but it is said complaints and other papers have been drawn up this week which may make their appearance at any time.

Should this affair really break loose it is expected to stir up a bigger police mess than has been heard of for a long time. It is said several business men have interested themselves in the matter. Incidentally, several queries have come to this paper about the matter. It is sufficient to say that it will be time to listen to the story when it actually comes out.

This bit of hijacking, according to reports, was one of the biggest that has occurred in recent months.

TRIMBLE BROS. SOON TO BE IN NEW WAREHOUSE

Trimble Bros., Omaha's leading fruit and vegetable wholesalers, are soon to be in their new building at Eighth and Jones streets. The offices and big wholesale business will be located in the new building but the Trimbles will retain their city business at their present location at Eleventh and Howard streets.

The Trimbles have built up one of the largest businesses of the kind west of Chicago. Most of their success is attributed to their individual hard work and constant application to business. Charles and Robert Trimble, are still comparatively young men but they have one of the liveliest wholesale houses in the city, which has become what it is by individual effort of the Trimbles and their big staff of hard working employes.

Doings In Omaha Fifty Years Ago

Bill Bailey was spending the carnival season visiting Omaha friends and was helpful in maintaining order in many parts of the city.

The bottoms, residential district for elite dispensers and law breakers, was again in the public eye.

Dan Whitney was a quiet fellow during the fall festivities, for which a lot of fellows were handing him their congratulations. But nobody ever knew when Dan might break loose.

Hugh Murphy, jr., stood it in Fremont as long as possible and ran into town to get acquainted with his family (and some other people) again. He said there were worse places than Fremont, but not many.

George Scheschey wanted the map of Omaha changed. He said there was no truth in the report that West Center street was the biggest place in Douglas county.

A cigar girl at one of our leading Sixteenth street hostilities was getting into the limelight because of a well known Pine street blond.

George Cackley and Charlie Trimble declared the report that hijackers had gone out of business was untrue. Some of their friends said these boys ought to know.

One of our well known towline promoters said business was getting very bum. The carnival overshadowed it and at last reports it was drooping fast.

Blow at Union Labor in New Constitution

The adoption in its entirety of the new state constitution last Tuesday is considered by many to be a real blow at union labor, which was particularly active in its opposition to amendments Nos. 1, 5 and 38, all of which were adopted, despite this opposition.

Amendment No. 1 makes it possible for five-sixths of a jury to prevail in civil cases. Heretofore one man could hang a jury in any case and the new amendment is considered an important one. Union labor opposed this amendment very strongly, but it carried. The jury system has not been all that could be asked for, but by many the new amendment is considered as being a radical departure from the long custom of requiring unanimous agreement of twelve men in all court cases. Union labor believed it would receive the worst of decisions of the five-sixths majority juries.

The big fight, however, was on amendment No. 38, which provides for an industrial commission before which will come disputes between capital and labor. This amendment is admittedly a capitalistic victory, and union labor put in its big knocks on this amendment. The unionists took the stand, very properly, that this was bad legislation for them. They charged openly that it was an attempt to take from them the right to strike, and it is pretty generally admitted that in some respects the adoption of this amendment will have that effect. The amendment was adopted, however, and will hereafter be part of the state constitution. What effect it will have on industrial conditions remains to be seen.

The proposition to increase the size of the state senate, amendment No. 5, also carried, but it will affect principally the country districts.

Taken altogether, the new constitution appears to have been a pretty well engineered movement, and the country crowd voted solidly for it. While it will bring our state laws up to date, in many respects it will have some bad effects, and these are expected to appear in the near future when the acid test shall come to organized labor.

DR. JENKINSON HAS LANDED BEHIND BARS

Shale Products Promoter Gets in Bad All Over Worthless Check.

PROMOTER OF MANY YOUNG WOMEN

Preached Christianity on Sunday and Shale Products on Week Days and Took Young Men Down Line to Tune of $40 Every Month.

Reports gathered this week from church circles give unusual publicity to the doings of "Rev." R. E. Jenkinson, preacher and promoter, who is making an indefinite stop at the Denver county jail. Jenkinson was picked up in that city when he arrived with a recently married bride. They were touring the country in an automobile he had secured on a bad check and he is held in Denver for securing money under false pretenses.

Jenkinson was full of pep and bad vinegar and he pulled off some pretty big jobs in Omaha, where he was head of the Y. M. B. A., known locally as the "Young Men's Business Association." He was an "oil promoter," too, to say nothing of being a woman promoter. The young man did a land office business in all the lines in which he was engaged and wound up the affair by getting his newly made bride, whose parents live in a country town, into a peck of trouble. She says he is all right, however, and that she will stick to him all the way through.

A lot of young Omahans fell for Jenkinson and his scheme. They thought they were all going to be millionaires in the near future and that in the meantime it was pretty soft for them to secure board for $25 per month while they were amassing fortunes.

As usual, the church was used to cover up the delinquences of this robber of morals and money and his connection with the Presbyterian body made it pretty easy for him to make a lot of people believe he was on the square. Young and handsome, he also found it easy to make the young girls fall for him. Since he arrived in Denver and made "an open statement to the whole world," those who knew him in Omaha are wondering whether he is simply a lunatic or whether he went blindly into the mess that has caused his downfall. Like others who have used the church as their alibi, Jenkinson worked early and late. His big misfortune seems to have been that he did not get away with the things he went after, at least to the extent that some of our "church workers" have been able to get away with it.

Jenkinson started a boarding house, among other things, for young men and had his office there. He managed to fill the place with youngsters who received board and room for $65 per month. In addition to the board and room they received credit for $40 each month, which was to be invested in United Shale Products company stock, which was considered a neat bonus. Jenkinson preached shale to the boys and called them members of the Young Men's Business association, initials for which fit well in with the Y. M. C. A.

Miss Martha Peterson, Havelock, Neb., girl in her teens, was Jenkinson's stenographer and later married him. It was she who was jailed with him when they arrived in Denver. In order to make everything appear well Jenkinson preached sermons on Sunday (Continued on Page Two.)

BOTTOMS POPULATION AGOG OVER IZARD STREET WHISKY RESORT

Neighbors Complain Bitterly About Conditions Near Eleventh and Izard and Charge Women Insulted by Moonshiner in That End of Town—Many Threats Heard.

East End bottoms are having a neighborhood colloquy these days because of the publicity that corner of the town has been receiving recently. It appears that some of the moonshiners and bootleggers there have been causing a big disturbance and that several of the neighbors have been taking a lively interest in the doings in that neck of the woods. The Mediator has received numerous communications on the subject. It appears that one of the principal bootleggers in that section has headquarters at 1110 Izard street, where he pours out his poison in goodly quantities to neighborhood rowdies and he is coming in for plenty of publicity.

Incidentally, this is headquarters for garbage haulers. One letter says: "This man can not deny he is selling moonshine whisky because I have bought it there myself. Most of his trade is 'niggers,' but he is known as 'king of Izard street,' just the same. I saw him jump onto a woman because you was getting too much publicity. He called her all the dirty names you could think of. She is not guilty and is a woman who attends to her own business. She stays at home and keeps her home clean and does not go from door to door and talk about her neighbors." Incidentally, it appears the folks down in that section of the bottoms are all worked up about conditions there and some of them have threatened to invoke the law in the near future. It is also stated that the government and state agents have been put on the job and are preparing to make a cleaning in that end of town.

It appears that the woman in question is a hard working woman, as is her husband, and that they always pay their debts. The fellow who has the joint at 1110 Izard street has been doing a land office business in bad brands of booze, it is declared, and there has been a general demand that he be cleaned up and that the police and other authorities take action.

The writer of this communication adds: "I am a man of the bottoms and I was at your place last Saturday and bought a bottle of whisky. It was between 3 and 4 o'clock and you won't call me a liar either."

Just how long this condition will be permitted to exist is interesting everybody down there. Several large manufacturing plants are located in the neighborhood and business men also have recently been heard to complain of conditions down there. It appears that the youngsters find it easy to get liquor there and many of them are enticed into games by hangers on in the neighborhood of the places complained of.

HENRY FORD FIRST TO "BEAR" MARKET

Henry Ford is the first of the big fellows to slash prices and he is setting an example that must necessarily be followed by a lot of the big profiteers who have been robbing the people ever since the European war made that action possible.

Henry Ford has announced that prices on all Ford cars are to go back to pre-war prices, and 146,000 vehicles for which his concern already has orders will be included in the reduction. In the case of the ordinary touring cars and runabouts the reduction will amount to 31 per cent. At the same time, Ford announces there will be no reduction in wages at any of the Ford plants.

A lot of people have picked Ford as a leader of lunatics, but thinking persons will give him credit for making a lot of profiteers hard to catch. If Henry Ford can make these reductions everybody else can do the same thing, and that is what the great majority of the people are demanding. Every man who has been robbing the public has put out an alibi that he was forced to do so. Ford's action answers that declaration in a manner that makes it very plain the profiteer is a great big liar.

Every one of the big fellows has been turning heaven and earth in an effort to keep prices up, and it is a big relief to know that someone worthy the name will make a start to getting the country back on the old basis. Ford says: "For the best interests of all, it is time that a real practical effort was made to bring the business of the country and the life of the country down to normal"

Mr. Ford has been a practical man. That is the reason, as much as anything else, that he has been so successful. He has been satisfied with a reasonable margin of profit. He paid higher wages than any manufacturer in the country when the selling price of his cars was lower than that of any other manufacturer. He increased the prices some during the war, but in no such manner as other manufacturers.

It is very much to Henry Ford's credit that he should be the first to inaugurate a movement to get the country back somewhere near what it was before the European war.

In this connection, it may be said, labor will have to meet its share of the new condition at the proper time, but the profiteer is the man who should be the first man squeezed out of the huge graft he has been working on the people, and everybody will hope that Henry Ford's action will have the effect of bringing some of the country's robbers to time.

OPPOSING GOVERNMENT OWNERSHIP

The American public is more intensely opposed to government operation than it was a year ago, according to the newspaper editors of the country. Out of 5,154 editors replying to a questionnaire sent out by the Press Service company of New York, 4,466, or 86 per cent, gave it as their judgment that the people of their communities were overwhelmingly against the government competing in business with its own citizens.

In 1919 the Press Service company conducted a similar canvass of editors on the government operation of railroads. That questionnaire showed that 83 per cent of the editors considered their communities against government operation of public utilities.

Apparently, then, if editors estimate public opinion accurately, that opinion in a year, considered by communities, has swung 3 per cent farther away from socialistic experiments.

The combined circulation of the papers whose editors replied is 11,428,817, which means, according to the usual estimated ratio between circulation and readers, a constituency of at least 44,000,000. And this constituency is pretty evenly scattered throughout the country, no considerable section of any state being unrepresented. The estimate of opinion based on this thoroughly diffused 44 per cent of the country's population may, therefore, be considered a fair representation of the people as a whole.

Another feature of the result is its evident lack of partisan bias. The major political affiliations of the papers represented are fairly evenly divided, being 1,857 republican and 1,350 democratic. There are also 1,485 independent and 462 miscellaneous, including labor organs, etc.

How little the results are affected by the politics of the papers is shown in an analysis by sections. In the southern section, for instance, where replies came from sixty-five republican papers and 389 democratic, the percentage against government operation was 88; in the Great Lakes section, with conditions reversed, 478 republican and 155 democratic, the opposition was 87 per cent.

Replies from the west, middle west and southwest show that it is a mistake to consider those sections vastly more favorable to radical government experiments than the east. The radicals can get little comfort out of the 89 per cent of thumbs down—2 per cent above the average—in the southwest, including Arkansas, Louisiana, Missouri, Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas. Texas, once supposed to be much given to government regulation experiments, returned 92 per cent of unfavorable replies. Out of the 244 editors replying from that state only three edited republican papers. The 82 per cent opposition of the northwest, including Iowa, Minnesota, Montana, Nebraska, North Dakota, South Dakota and Woming, day, both in church and at his boarding house. To one crowd he explained the splendid things in Christianity and to the other he told of the advantages of the Y. M. B. A., and investments in shale products stock.

From all appearances, Jenkinson managed to get a big bundle of money together, but a lot of it got away from him in some manner or another. Just where all this money went to is what is bothering the men who are trying to get the law at work upon Rev. Jenkinson. There are several scores of young men, also, who want to know what became of the $40 per month they have been contributing to the "minister of the gospel" for several months.

Jenkinson made love to his stenographer and to a Denver girl at the same time and had a hard time squaring himself. Finally, he married the Nebraska girl and told the Denver woman the stuff was off with her. The Denver girl, however, thinks she has the best of the bargain, which she probably has.

The shale products company was incorporated in Colorado for $200,000 but there is nothing to show that it has ever done any business to speak of, outside of incorporating. It is said "Jenky" will soon be back in Omaha to face his prosecutors and what he calls "persecutors." He is expected soon to be reciting his drama up at Sheriff Mike Clarke's church where he will have a new class to work upon.

Typhoid Fever Insurance

There is typhoid fever in Omaha. Not an epidemic, but enough to cause concern. No one wants typhoid fever to enter their home. Milk is one of the most common carriers of this disease. You can absolutely insure yourself against getting it through milk by pasteurization.

Pasteurization Kills Typhoid

Pasteurization, a long word with a simple meaning, kills bacteria which may have found their way into this food product which is the emblem of purity. Furthermore, pasteurization does not change the quality of the milk in any way, shape or form, contrary to what the enemies of this modern health measure would like to lead you to believe.

You Can't Afford to Take Chances

The difference in price between Alamito milk and the ordinary milk will only amount to a few cents a day, and no father or mother who will give this milk question the proper consideration will endanger the lives of their dear ones by taking chances on bringing disease into the home through milk when it can be prevented. CHARLIE THOMAS' DEATH TAKES ONE OF REAL BOYS

Veteran Newspaper Man Dies in Harness and his Calling is Felt by All Omaha Newspaper Men.

The death of Charles L. Thomas, news editor of The Omaha Bee, was a big blow to the newspaper world. For more than twenty years he has been in the harness as reporter and editor on Omaha daily newspapers. Thomas always had his ear to the ground. He was a graduate of business. Unassuming and quiet, Thomas always has his ear to the Michigan, where he starred in football, and was well equipped for the work he undertook.

To those who knew Thomas best it was not surprising that he should die in the harness. He was an indefatigable worker and never left a job half done. The editor of The Mediator has been associated with him in many ways on some big news jobs during the last twenty years and has seen Charlie Thomas dig out and take care of some mighty big stories. He always did his work well and had the respect at all times of the many newspaper men whom it was his lot to command.

Mr. Thomas, among other things was an athletic coach and he trained many of the old bicycle riders more than twenty years ago. Billy Pixley and his partner, McCall, were among his bicycle proteges. Thomas helped train them for the famous tandem world's record they still hold against time.

this year exceed those of last year by nearly 50,000. The Kennedy shows have done a thriving business, but there has been an absence of some of the things that are often seen there. None of the "sure thing" joints have been permitted to do business. A big crowd of "flat joint" men have been hanging around two weeks, with the hope of getting busy for at least a short time, but from all appearances they were doomed to disappointment from the start.

A big drove of Boy Scouts were on hand, as usual, to watch the lines and assist police officers in keeping the crowds back of the wires that kept the streets clear of traffic, other than the parade itself.

The scheme of the floats themselves was to show the advance of Americanism during the last 300 years, since the landing of the Pilgrim fathers. The description of these floats had been given to the public well in advance, which was responsible for the immense crowds that gathered to witness the pageant in Omaha streets.

It is said that King Samson has put on his last big doings in the downtown streets. In the future he will pull off his big stunts at Ak-Sar-Ben field, on West Center street, although the big Den out on North Twentieth street will continue to house the Knights and furnish a place for their doings.

The big added feature this year of harness racing helped make the fall festivities differ from those of the past. Business men generally have done fine during the last two weeks but theaters have been losers as a general proposition. Although all the theaters and picture houses were liberal in their advertising, their patronage fell off to a very large degree. This is what they always expect during the carnival season, however, and for that reason were not disappointed.

At the Brandeis theater the attendance was remarkably light, and at Wednesday afternoon's matinee, with a fine attraction, there were but a handful in the pit, with the balconies almost empty.

The Orpheum had the same experience. The Gayety, burlesque house, fared a little better, but as a general proposition theatrical men agree that the carnival season is no money getter for them.

Results of Pressure on Eyeballs.
Pressure on the eyeball has a surprising effect on the functioning of various parts of the body. Among those who have confirmed this are A. and L. Binet, French investigators, who find that such animals as dogs and rabbits are affected, as well as men. The compression of the eye strikingly modifies the action of the heart. It influences respiration, acts upon the blood vessels and even produces disturbance of the muscles. How such reflexes are brought about is not apparent.

Goths Supplanted Finns.
Prof. Paul C. Sinding, in his "History of Scandinavia," says: "On the entrance of the Goths into Scandinavia the land was inhabited by two reciprocally kindred nations, whose present names are the Laplanders and Finns. Both of them had come from the East, but the Laplanders were forced by the Finns up to the remotest parts of Norway and Sweden, where remains of them are yet to be found. The Finns themselves were, after a valiant resistance, forced back by the Goths, and their descendants at present live in Finland."

Mother sent me to get a head of lettuce, and told me the good ones would be solid and hard. I carefully picked out a large solid head, and asked the grocer how much that head of lettuce cost. He answered: "Excuse me, but that is a cabbage."—Exchange.

Stop!

Using Tobacco

Perhaps you've tried to stop using tobacco only to find that the habit has such a hold on you that you gave up trying.

You know, better than anyone else that you ought to stop because, sooner or later, it is bound to undermine your health. Headache, indigestion, dizziness, nervousness, insomnia, poor eyesight—these and many other disorders, can often be traced directly to the use of tobacco. Besides it is an expensive, utterly useless habit.

Habit Banished
In 48 to 72 Hours

No matter how firm a grip tobacco has on you—no matter whether you've been smoking cigars, pipe or cigarettes or chewing plug or fine cut for a month or 60 years—Tobacco Redeemer will positively remove all craving for tobacco in any form in from 48 to 72 hours. It does its work so quickly that all tobacco "hangover" is gone almost before you know it. Your desire for a smoke or a chew begins to decrease after the very first dose.

Tobacco Redeemer contains no habit-forming drugs of any kind—it is in no sense a tobacco substitute. It does not cause the slightest shock to the nervous system; on the contrary, it quiets the nerves and makes you feel better in every way.

SEND Coupon for Proof Get our free booklet. Tells you all about the deadly effects of tobacco and how easy it is now to quit. We will also send you copies of letters from confirmed users telling how this simple, home-treatment freed them absolutely from the habit. Just mail coupon—no postal will do.

PLAYS AND PLAYERS

POPULAR GAYETY

The increase in salaries, railroad transportation, material for costumes and scenery, has made a manager sit up and take notice this season, and it is enough to worry almost any exploiter of amusements. However this or that may be, Barney Gerard still believes there will be theatregoers no matter what happens, and if you give them what they want they will buy your goods. As a matter of fact he has spent more money on his productions this season than in any other since he became a producer, eighteen years ago.

First of all, by paying an almost unheard of salary he succeeded in keeping Jos. K. Watson and Will H. Cohan in burlesque, their contracts having expired last season. They will be so engaged with the "Girls de Looks" at the Gayety for a week beginning with a matinee on Saturday next.

Watson and Cohan appear in their famous characters of "Sliitkin and Slotkin." This season they are seen as bankers and brokers and it is said they are even funnier than they were as "refined lawyers." The theme of the new book is quite timely as it hits at the fly-by-night oil concerns that are ever on the alert to fleece the innocent and unsuspecting investor. The bulls of Wall Street don't do a thing to Sliitkin and Slotkin, but in the long run they learn of the intricate angles of Wal Street and its dare devil investments.

Being from the pens of such capable writers as Aaron Hoffman, author of "Friendly Enemies" and Barney Gerard and Jos. K. Watson the dialogue and situations leave nothing to be desired. A talented cast selected with the usual "Gerard" discretion, is seen in support of Watson and Cohan. An extra added feature is the Hawaiian duo, Kolawa and Kao.

Ladies' Dime Matinee at 2:15 daily all week starting Monday. The Sunday Matinee begins at 3:00.

IF YOU WANT to be on time, have your watch regulated and adjusted by Brodegaard Bros. Co. A trial will convince you. Strictly union shop.—Adv.

ORPHEUM OFFERINGS

For a headline attraction at the Orpheum next week come Frank Dobson and a baker's dozen of alluring girls.

The sirens of old, according to mythologists, were nymphs of the sea, who by their entrancing music lured sailors to destruction. "The Sirens" of the present day in the musical tabloid, in which will be seen Frank Dobson, do something akin to the same deed. By their general attractiveness, the "Sirens" lure spectators, but by no means to destruction. These sirens of the present day cajole spectators into a vein of contentment by excellent entertainment. Frank Dobson is a light comedian who is funny without being forced. His methods are clean cut and unctuous. He sings and dances more than creditably. And the sirens themselves—this time the word being used to imply those young ladies who compose the ensemble—were selected by a beauty expert.

Will Mahoney is to be a special feature. He is the entertaining monologist who inquires in his billing, "Why be serious?" He provides many smiles with his amusing patter. He is one of the most laughable story tellers on the vaudeville stage. His method is distinctly his own, and he is exceptionally funny.

With a new array of songs, dances, sayings and gowns, Elsie Pilcer, with Dudley Douglas, is again bidding for public approval. They are young people full of vim, animation and talent. There is to be one of the featured parts of the bill. Wherever they have been over the Orpheum circuit they have never failed to score a hit.

In "Vaudeville Vagaries" and the amusing burlesque, "Before and After Marriage," John Gardner and Marie Hartman easily win approbation. Their assortment of songs and dances never fails to win decided approval.

The boat is vaudeville and there might be three men in a boat were it not for the fact that one of them is a girl and this makes easy sailing, for the girl is a good skipper. Her name is Elizabeth Nelson and with the Barry Boys she offers a medley of vaudeville bits. These consist of singing, talking, acrobatic dancing and comedy.

Bartholdi's Birds give a performance that is pleasing to everybody, and especially to children. The feathered flock that goes through a great many interesting tricks includes fifty comedy papageys, cockatoos and parrots. Among bird acts this takes rank as the best.

Yayatake Brothers, two of the cleverest Japanese performers on the vaudeville stage, excel in feats of dexterity. They demonstrate their unusual versatility by the great variety of tricks they introduce.

Sayings of the wittiest sort will be displayed on the screen in "Topics of the Day," and Kinograms is to offer full reproduction of important news events.

IF YOUR WATCH don't keep time, bring it to us for correction. We know how. Strictly union shop.—BRODEGAARD BROS.—Adv.

FISKE O'HARA AT BRANDEIS

The favorite actor-singer Fiske O'Hara, in this season being presented by Augustus Pitou, Inc., in a new three act comedy, "Springtime in Mayo," by Anna Nichols Duffy. As the title of the play would indicate, the scenes are laid in Ireland and Mr. O'Hara has the role of a young Irish nobleman.

"Springtime in Mayo," diffuses a cozy warmth. The story is a constant delight, so unusual, so original, because it is a page of bubbling human nature. The lines are bright and sparklingly witty, and there is a sensible, straightforward, appealing love story—just such a love story in which real men and real women figure. It will stir your laughter, warm up your precious heart and make the world seem a very fine place to be in after all.

No actor on the English-speaking stage is happier or more expert in the delineation of romantic roles than Fiske O'Hara, and his charming tenor voice is one of the distinct features of his performance. In "Springtime in Mayo" he has been provided with new songs, expressly written for him, which cannot but add to his fame.

The usual studious attention to the scenic and costumed equipment has been given by Augustus Pitou, Inc., and the varied abilities of some excellent and well liked players, whose names are high in the theatrical firmament, have been called to the support of Mr. O'Hara in "Springtime in Mayo."

ADAM AND EVE ATTRACTION
IN BIG AK-SAR-BEN PARADE
Intense attention was given to the Ak-Sar-Ben electrical parade this year, and there was plenty of reason for it. These floats represented love stories read in the classics, and most of our people have looked over most of these classics in times gone by. They were all on hand to see Gus Renze's depiction of some of these classic love matches.

Adam and Eve, represented by float No. 2, was the real center of attraction. It appeared that everybody was anxious to see the personification of Eve. They all wanted to know who was to be dressed in the Biblical fig leaf. The men that adorned the curbs was composed of an unusual gathering and their remarks as Eve and her consort passed them were significant of this float.

Most of the fellows who had anticipated something out of the ordinary received a shock, because in her modern dress she was something of a surprise to them.

The unusual weather that greeted the paraders made this big pageant a greater success than it has been in years and the crowds exceeded anything ever before seen on down town Omaha streets.

Those who were looking for the Adam and Eve float got an eye-full, but in many respects they were disappointed, because Eve was not up to the expectations of those who had come for the express purpose of seeing the fig leaf decoration.

WHY NOT have your watch repaired right? Brodegaard Bros. will do this for you. They know how. Strictly union shop.—Adv.

Empress Attractions

Every one who loves a motion picture story of the western ranch type written in masterly style, abundantly stocked with new and perilous stunts, developing a plot of unusual strength and detail, and enacted by a sensational star and a fine company in the midst of superb scenic effects, should see Buck Jones, the Fox star, in "Firebrand Trevison," at the Empress theatre Sunday.

This play, directed by Thomas N. Heffron, had its first showing here last night. It is a "corker"—to describe it tersely. No one can go wrong by going to the Empress theatre during its run.
